In his tariff debate with Senator Rawlings, on Wednesday, Senator Mills is reported to have "severely arraigned" a protective tariff as class legislation, designed to build up vast funds for distribution among beneficiaries at the expense of the "forgotten man," the taxators who are obeying the voice of their constituents by voting to put cotton and way. Perhaps they do not know that fered by a Southern senutor. Another thing they say is that they duty on cutton can be of no benefit to the South, since cotton constitutes one of the greatest export products of the country, and, therefore, does not need to be imported. It strikes us as a little singular that neither the great Mills in his grindings the other day, nor the senatorial contordorist Vest has thought to make this powerful sop argument against the Dingley tariff. For the benefit of our Clatsop county solons we have prepared the following little statement of the imports and value of raw cotton brought to this country during the year 1896:

From	Sunntity	Value
United Kingdom	1,255,202 32,362 461,402	$1,673,166 2,425 150,654 1,726 45,359 3,294,522

Other Countries 5,392 21 49,752,411 85,171,09 During the same year the value of manufactured cotton imported into this coun try is shown by the treasury figures to have been $29,115,891. It is the aggregate of these sums; namely, the amount of $31,583,990, which the republicans propose farmers and mechanics. A pretty tidy "sop" for anythody to have around thes days, we think!
