

WOMAN'S REALM

THE DAUGHTERS OF ASTORIA

Their Faults, and How a Little Home Training Might Do Them Good.

We have been talking a little about boys and some of the ways of handling them, and I was taken to task a little for suggesting that the mothers might assist in the up-building of the greater Astoria by infusing into their sons some of the broad principles of life that would make them better citizens and better business men.

Woman is God's greatest gift to man and the world, Her spouse, as outlined by the great King—the homely one of making home beautiful and attractive for sons, daughters and husband, a place of rest and amusement—more far reaching in its influence than all the powers of all the monarchs combined.

But girls—they are such unknown quantities. Have you ever noticed the young girls of Astoria? Well there are a good many of them to begin with, and on any bright afternoon, whether school is in session or not, they are largely in evidence on the streets.

When you give the daughter the best room in the house, furnish it handsomely and surround her with all the comforts and luxuries of her station, dress her well, send her to the best schools, educate her in music and fashionable accomplishments—all good things in their place—is that daughter also taught that she is God-given, entrusted to be used for the good of herself and future generations?

THE VILLAGE LAD AT PLAY. What matter that his trousers bear a patch on either knee. Since roses in his round cheek glow, While sparkling glance and light laugh show A spirit bright and free?

CONCERNING SKIRTS. How to Cut, Bustle and Finish Them—Checked Mohair Costume. The amplitude of skirt is somewhat modified, and their stiffness very much so. The fullness is all carried around to the back, the front and the sides being smooth, straight and carefully fitted.

THE BLOOD OF ST. JANUARIES. From the Pall Mall Gazette. Naples has a grievance against its patron saint. The blood of St. Januarius has been used to do good for many centuries now. The superstition has, indeed, taken place so regularly as to almost remove the occurrence from the sphere of miracle altogether.

BARKINSTONE'S LACK OF NERVE.

The best thing you can do," said my doctor, "is to take bicycling."

"At present, of course, one bicycles," said the man of the world.

"You're missing the finest possible enjoyment by not bicycling," said my athletic friend.

In fact, wherever I went I was met by bicyclists who longed to make others bicyclists. It was not for health, nor for fashion, nor for exercise that I finally took to the machine; it was simply from the pressure of public opinion.

THE NEW SLEEVE PUFF. And How to Cut and Make It Out of One Piece of Goods. The new sleeve is a coat-sleeve, light fitting to the shoulder. Over it the puffs and trimmings are fastened on.

OUT OF DOOR FASHIONS. Capes shorter than Last Year and More Trimmed. Both jackets and capes are worn. Jackets are very short with close sleeves, only slightly bouffant at the top. The fronts may be slightly bouffant or closed.

GIVE ME THY HAND. Give me thy hand if thou wouldst know the way. Long step and lone, That leads through darkness unto endless day. Walk not alone, And with thy hand thy faith, and fear no more.

A ROYAL ROMANCE. A Princess of Spain Who Wedded a Hiding Man or Her. The sudden death of the Princess Isabella de Bourbon at the age of 76, and her marriage, as generally believed, to a man of the name of a romance which excited universal attention in the year of the Queen's accession and now, curiously enough, seems to be wholly forgotten.

SICK ROOM HINTS. For cramps or pains in the stomach try a few drops of peppermint. For a nervous headache a cup of moderately strong tea, in which two or three slices of lemon have been infused.

ONLY A ROSE. But It Brought Happiness to the Poor Sick Girl. From the Detroit Journal. It was only a faded rose, the bloom long since down from its withered petals. How long it had lain there in the dust of the gutter, no one knew and no one seemed to care.

A KITCHEN TIP. If a pot or pan or any utensil used in the cooking of food is washed as soon as emptied, and while still hot, half the labor and a great deal of time may be saved.

KEEP THE KETTLE CLEAN. Lift the lid and see if there is a coating of slime over the inside. If so the house wife is either negligent or ignorant. She can not know that one of the secrets of good coffee or tea is a clean kettle, and she does not understand that, though only water is cooked in the tea kettle, this very cooking of water is a real science, and tea kettles must be scrupulously clean like other cooking utensils.

ONE OF ASTORIA'S SIGHTS. Something Which Cannot be Duplicated Elsewhere in the World. Here is a pointer for visitors who are in the city sight-seeing. Walk up on the hill any morning, say between the hours of 4 and 8 o'clock.

MUSICAL. The Misses Kate and Nellie Flavel, whose return from Paris I mentioned some time ago, recently gave a recital of song and piano music at Astoria, in aid of charity. The recital was very rapidly and favorably received.
