

CHICAGO'S OVER-ZEALOUS POLICE

BYFNOTIC EXHIBITION BROKEN UP AND THE SUBJECT ARRESTED.

But Not Until the "Professor's" Aid Had to Be Solicited to Get Him Awake.

Chicago, August 24.—The Chicago police force has listed its strength against the power of hypnotism, and the result may be termed a draw. Chief Kipley and his men, acting, as they said, in the interests of humanity, sought to prevent an exhibition of a seven days' hypnotic sleep given in a North Side hall, and succeeded, but not until they had called upon the "professor" to release the subject from his mesmeric influence. The subject was Edmund Burg, a young Danish barber. Burg was put to sleep Sunday afternoon with the regulation passes, and it was announced that he would sleep seven days and nights. Chief Kipley sent two detectives to make a report on the exhibition. The sleuths found Burg asleep in the presence of a crowd, which included several physicians, who explained to the detectives that they were studying the effect of the prolonged hypnotic sleep on the subject. The physicians were taking the affair seriously, and said Burg was completely under hypnotic influence. The detectives were skeptical and proceeded to apply such gentle tests as pulling his ears, pinching the cheeks and tugging at his hair. But Burg did not stir. The detectives reported to Chief Kipley, who decided to stop the exhibition and sent a detail of officers for that purpose. Lieutenant Zery, who had charge of the expedition, gave Burg a rap on the sole of the foot with his club, the usual treatment prescribed by patrolmen for sleepers, but it was not at all efficacious to the face of the somnolent subject. Then the lieutenant proceeded to shake Burg and pinch his ears and slap his cheeks, but to no avail. Then he tried the trick that was never known to fail. He thrust his brawny thumb up under the armpit and gave a series of hearty pinches. But the motionless form gave no signs of life. All this time the professor was hovering excitedly about and protesting that the great hypnotic test was being held solely in the interest of science and that its results were being anxiously watched by physicians and psychologists from California to Maine. The lieutenant cut him short by saying: "The chief says this exhibition has got to stop. I can't wake the boy up and you've got to, or I'll have to arrest the whole outfit." Then, with a few mysterious passes and a snap of the fingers, the mesmerist released the subject, and the two proceeded to Chief Kipley's office to protest against the interruption of their exhibition. In speaking of the matter, Chief Kipley said: "After having investigated the case, I considered it my duty to stop the exhibition for the sake of humanity. There is no telling but that the test might have resulted in the boy's death. There is no doubt that the boy was a genuine hypnotic subject. If the boy had died I would have been blamed for allowing the exhibition to take place. In the future no permits for exhibitions of the kind will be granted."

Rev. Benjamin Ackery Dies in Oakland After Years of Service.

Oakland, Cal., August 24.—Rev. Benjamin Ackery, pastor emeritus of St. John's Episcopal church, died at his home in this city this morning of old age. He remained in Milwaukee twelve years, coming to California in 1857. He founded many missions. The church of the Advent, St. Paul's of East Oakland, and the Gray Mission at Temescal were offshoots of St. John's. FOUND TO BE A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT IN PRUSSIA.

Report of Consul Monaghan—Tendency to State and City Ownership of Transportation Lines.

Washington, August 24.—Consul Monaghan, at Chemnitz, Germany, has sent a report to the state department on Prussian railroads. "The state ownership of railroads," he says, "plays an important part in Prussia's finances. Earns enormous sums, serving commerce and manufacturers in times of peace and for all strategic purposes. A times of war, they have more than justified the arguments that urged the government to own them. The liberal policies that have put them down and pushed them out into all parts of the empire." The tendency all over the empire is towards state and city ownership of all kinds of transportation facilities, as well as of telephones and telegraphs and other means of communication.

Mr. Hanrahan said: "I am glad that we have been able to show our appreciation of the cause of the miners by raising money to send to them. We are with them, heart and soul, but I might as well, while I am speaking, explain that there will be no sympathetic strike on the part of the railroad employes in our brotherhood. We have made contracts which we must fulfill."

In another week or so the shares will be listed on the stock exchange and talk of preferred reaching $1.25 and common $1.00 very soon thereafter prevails among the brokers.
