Even such contemptible and malignant little sheets as the Portland Tribune, after deriding and discouraging in every possible way the purpose of a republican congress to restore prosperity to the country by the adoption of a sound money and protective tariff law, is glibly commending the prospective application of the Dingley discriminating duty to goods brought into this country by foreign shipping.

If Debs lived in Europe he would be gibbeted or exiled from decent society (abhorred or killed from decent society last Tuesday. It is a good thing for the future peace and good order of the country that he was so carried away by the exhilaration of the occasion as to make the infamous threats he did. He will find that the next time he faces the bar of a United States court room he will get something worse than a few days in a luxurious prison, surrounded by boon companions and receiving the laudations of his dupes as a victim of martyrdom.

When it was discovered that the Dingley tariff contained a provision intended to put a stop to the advantage enjoyed by the Canadian Pacific railway over the roads of this country, under the enormous subsidies granted by the Dominion and another country governments, which has been fast building up Canadian ports on both the Atlantic and Pacific by diverting to them business that legitimately belongs to our own coast cities, there was a general and hearty feeling of satisfaction which extended all over the country. This unexpected benefit, great as it is, is not, however, to be compared with the rejoicing occasioned by the news that the discriminating clause of the Dingley act may also operate to shut out goods imported even through our own ports, unless they are brought in by American vessels. The gratification naturally resulting to all patriotic Americans over the pleasing announcement that a principle so long fought for by the friends of the American shipping industry is in no wise lessened by the chagrin manifested by the rank free traders, and their complaint that these beneficial features of the tariff bill were incorporated into that measure without their knowledge or contrary to their understanding of the purport and meaning of the proposed discrimination, is puerile and contemptible. It can well be believed that if the patriotic statesmen who contented themselves with casting a weak and unavailing vote against the tariff bill on its final passage had realized the purpose in view by the republican members of the conference committee when these apparently innocent additions were made to the bill, congress would yet be in session, and the country writhing in the throes of tariff uncertainty, or the special provisions referred to would have been eliminated by the republicans as the price of its passage. As it is, free traders may rail as much as they are free of a mind to about the "trick" played upon them; the business men of like country go on with their preparations to utilize the innumerable benefits thus conferred upon them, with the full assurance that the government is not only in control of a class of men who know how to legislate for the good of the country, but the executive department is in the hands of those who have the courage to carry out to the utmost limit the will of the people as expressed in the enactments put upon the statute books.

SOUND MONEY IN KENTUCKY.

The sound money democrats of Kentucky are preparing to conduct an exceedingly energetic campaign. Their own leaders, Mr. Carlisle, Senator Lindsey, Mr. Waterson, Colonel Breckinridge and others are to take the stump, and, in addition, orators of national reputation from a distance will visit the state. Senator Outrey, ex-Senator Vilas, Patrick A. Collins of Boston, Bourke Cochran and Mr. Blynum have been invited, and will respond. Oratory counts in the Bluegrass country, and such a supply as is here guaranteed ought not only to draw immense audiences, but produce results at the polls.

The field is a little more inviting for discussion than it was at this time last year. Mr. Carlisle's reception at his old home in Covington when he entered the presidential campaign was one of those episodes that linger long in the memory. An organized band of toughs attended the speaker with ostentatious and coarse vituperation, but threw eggs at him. It proved an expensive bombardment for the silver cause. It brought shame upon the city and the state, and unquestionably assisted the cause of sound money. It was not of course repeated at any other point, the silver leaders promptly disavowed responsibility for such an outrage.

But the sensibilities of the people had been so shocked by the one offense, that the matter was brought before the legislature, in a bill making it an offense punishable with fine and imprisonment to interrupt in any way the proceedings at a public meeting. The bill became a law, and now confronts such rowdies as heretofore have been in the habit of yielding too freely and too vicariously to an inclination to rebuke those found to differ with them on political questions.

The Kentucky field is therefore an altogether inviting one this year. Eyes having ceased to be arguments and catcalls having been put under the ban, speakers may feel entirely at ease and at liberty to indulge in their best efforts. The people of the state are responsive to the orator to an unusual degree. The man of fluency and fancy has always flourished here, and the visitor from another state bringing these gifts with him becomes an adopted son of the commonwealth if he does not stay longer than a week.

A TRIED REMEDY FOR BILIOUSNESS.

Those who suffer from disorder or inaction of the liver will never get the upper hand of the unruly organ so long as they use such irrational remedies as blue pill, calomel and podophyllin. But from the tried and popular medicine, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they may expect relief with a certainty of obtaining it. The influence of the Bitters upon the great biliary gland is direct, powerful and speedily felt. The relief afforded is not spasmodic, but complete and permanent. The saltness of the skin, ferret appearance of the tongue, indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, pains through the right side and shoulder, in fact every accompaniment of the obnoxious complaint are entirely and promptly removed by a course of this inestimable medicine, in behalf of which testimony is constantly emanating from every quarter, and from all classes of society.

How easy it is for a man to trump up a story about lurching with another man and how hard to explain matters when the man proves to be an attractive young woman—provided it is to his wife or sweetheart that the explaining has to be done.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Shall, with Meyer Bros. Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co.

The delight of living is never more truly exemplified than in being on board a fine yacht in a broad, smooth bay; but rough weather can alter even that joyous psalm into a dirge for the victim of mal de mer.

"The Foot of a Fly"

It is an eminent English doctor, "will carry enough poison to infect a household." In summer-time, more especially, disease germs fill the air, multitudes are infected, fall ill, die; multitudes escape. These messengers of mischief do not rest at for millions. Why not? Because they are healthy and strong—practiced as a crocodile is against gush-bush. It is the weak, the wasted, the thin-blooded who fall; those who have no resistive power so that a sudden cough or cold develops into graver disease. We hear of catching disease! Why not catch health? We can do it by always maintaining our healthy weight.

Scott's Emulsion.

of Cod-liver Oil, is condensed nourishment; food for the building up of the system to resist the attacks of disease. It should be taken in reasonable doses all summer long by all those whose weight is below the standard of health. If you are losing ground, try a bottle now. For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

AYER'S PILLS CURE CONSTIPATION.

NOT SO GREEN.

The Denver Little Lass Knew the Name and Was a Roster. The other day a Detroit youth who had come home from college for a vacation took his younger sister to see a baseball game. She was a quiet, demure little lass with blue eyes and a timid manner and she slipped into her seat in the grand stand as steadily as if she were entering the family pew at church.

As the game progressed he kindly undertook to explain to her something about its points so she would understand at least a little about it. "Now, the man is about to throw the ball," he said. "He is called a pitcher. The man with the stick in his hand is the batter. He tries to hit the ball, and if he does he will run to that little bag, which is called a base."

The young man's sister seemed to be quite interested, and listened attentively to his explanations. Presently somebody hit out a two-bagger that went clear through the shortstop and lit out for first like a wild turkey. The young man started to explain.

IT SAVES THE CROUPIY CHILDREN.

Seaweed, Va.—We have a splendid sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and our customers coming from far and near speak of it in the highest terms. Many have said that their children would have died of croup if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had not been given—Kellan & Curran, The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co.

IN DISPUTE.

"I see there's a howled law that will make a fellow pay duty on the clothes he buys on the other side, don't you know. They will be taxing us on our very skins next, don't you know?" "No, I think not. Anyway the matter is in dispute."

A CURE FOR BILIOUS COLIC.

Resource, Scriven Co., Ga.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail—G. D. Sharp, For sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co.

To remove paint from window glass take some strong vinegar and heat it very hot. Wet a cloth in the hot liquid and wash the glass with it and the paint will come off quite readily. A strong solution of oxalic acid will also remove dry paint.

Owing to over-crowding and bad ventilation the air of the schoolroom is often close and impure, and teachers and pupils frequently suffer from lung and throat troubles. To all such we would say, try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For coughs, colds, weak lungs and bronchial troubles no other remedy can compare with it. Says A. C. Freed, superintendent of schools, Prairie Depot, O.—"Having some knowledge of the efficacy of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I have no hesitation in recommending it to all who suffer from coughs, lung troubles, etc." For sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co.

One way to brew tea for the 5 o'clock cup is to pulverize the leaves, moisten them in cold water and let them stand twenty minutes, then add a sufficient amount of boiling water and steep one minute. This is called Letch Hare tea.

No appetite? Then do not try to force food down, but use the most scientific means for restoring tone to the stomach. How? Why, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and in a surprisingly short time, your appetite will come again, and come to stay.

The district messenger boys scarcely realize what important roles they play in the love affairs of the human race. Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where, One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. Charles Rogers.

A cluster of purple asters tucked into her white leather belt gives the summer girl an air of dainty distinction.

Take good care of the hair of the head, and when it begins to loosen and fall off or turn gray apply Hall's Hair Renewer, and the result will be pleasing.

Can women be too amiable? Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy always affords prompt relief. For sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co.

THE RETURNED KLONDIKER.

"Yes, George," she said as she fondly gazed upon the bearded face of the wanderer, "we have been very poor since you went away."

"Well, change all that now, little woman," said the smiling miner. "But how, I'm as hungry as a wolf. Where is the dinner?"

"Alas, George," she answered, "I have no money to buy the necessary ingredients."

"No money?" he echoed. "Here, where are the silver?"

With steady fingers he rapidly stripped off his luxuriant beard.

"My darling," he said, "be handed here the whiskey, 'run with these to the nearest bank. Properly washed they ought to clear up a good five hundred in the yellow dust. And—well, my darling—this afternoon I will take a bath, and if the debris doesn't yield a couple of thousand I'm a howling coyote."—Cleveland Plaindealer.

The camel is a beast of great strength and endurance. Nothing hurts it until the proverbial "last straw" is added to its burden. The human digestive system is very much like a camel. It is really astonishing how much abuse it will stand. Sometimes, however, something worse than usual will be eaten, and will go through the stomach into the bowels, and there it will stick—that's constipation. Nine-tenths of all common sickness is due to constipation. Some of the simplest symptoms are coated tongue and foul breath, dizziness, heartburn, flatulence, salowness, distress after eating, headaches and lassitude. A little thing will cause constipation, and a little thing will relieve it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a certain cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, mild and natural in their action. There is nothing injurious about them. Sold by all druggists.

When crowd work is to be washed it is best to make the process as quick as possible to keep the colors of the wool from running. Rinse well and roll in a cloth and wring dry, iron on the wrong side, as soon as dry.

Certainly you don't want to suffer with dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, sallow skin and loss of appetite. You have never tried DeWitt's Little Early Risers for these complaints or you would have been cured. They are small pills but great regulators. Charles Rogers.

A soft cloth wet with milk and rubbed over boots and shoes three or four times a month will improve the appearance of the leather and help to keep it soft, and thus make it last longer.

A dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral taken in time has prevented many a fit of sickness and saved numerous lives. This proves the necessity of keeping this incomparable medicine where it can be readily reached at all hours of the day and night.

It is well to soak underclothes that have become hard from much perspiration in a weak solution of soda and water for half an hour before washing them in the regular manner.

Small precautions often prevent great mischiefs. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very small in size, but are most effective in preventing the most serious forms of stomach and liver troubles. They cure constipation and headaches and regulate the bowels. Charles Rogers.

Home-coming European travelers may endeavor to appear "blacked" but the care they take to show the foreign labels on their luggage deprives their entire indifference.

If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of whooping cough, or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat, you can appreciate the value of One Minute Cough Cure, which gives quick relief. Charles Rogers.

When cream is extremely rich it can be whipped more easily if a little milk is added to it. It will whip more easily if it is well stirred.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years' standing, may be cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It soothes, strengthens and heals. It is the great gile cure. Charles Rogers.

Did you ever see men whom you cannot imagine ever having been either any younger or growing any older?

No man or woman can enjoy life or accomplish much in this world while suffering from a torpid liver. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the pills that cleanse that organ, quickly. Charles Rogers.

The trouble with the average woman is that she doesn't appreciate a man's devotion when she has it.

To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the irritated surfaces, to instantly relieve and to permanently cure is the mission of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Charles Rogers.

The regular old-fashioned leather purse in bag shape is the smartest notion of the present time.

Unless you keep an expense account you will swear daily that you have lost some money.
