C. team chosen to meet the Oregon Road Club team, after in court, if detained longer than the evening at 7:30, is as follows: Picken, Laws, Wise, Griffin, Bell, Finch, Borthwick and J. B. Higgins. The lady members of the club will be welcome visitors at the match game.

Bishop Foss, of the Methodist Episcopal church, who was the presiding officer of the conference recently in session in Corvallis, Or., has recommended the appointment of Rev. Mr. Walter to his old position of pastor of the M. E. church in this city, and given him the Centenary church of East Portland as his field of labor, having transferred the Rev. Mr. W. B. Hollingshead from the Puget sound conference and made that gentleman pastor of the church in this city. The Rev. Mr. Hollingshead comes with the highest endorsements of his pulpit ability and general fitness for the position. This church has been for years one of the first churches of Astoria. Its work in the last two years has never been equaled in this city. With a membership of only about one hundred available workers, it has raised over $4,000 to pay old debts, that have for years hung like a nightmare over the church.

edence and discouraged its members. An era of great advancement is looked for in this society of self-denying men and women.

In the county court yesterday, in the matter of the estate of John Nelson, order for sale of property was entered. At the meeting last night at the A. F. C. rooms, an intercollegiate football team was organized. Mr. F. P. Kendall was elected manager; Ed Hanson, captain pro tem; C. T. Crosby, chairman; John Young, secretary. The organization will be permanent and the principal object of last night's meeting was to arrange for John Thompson, captain of the Eugene team and the leading player of the state, to act as coach of the Astoria '97 team. There will be another meeting next Thursday night.

There seems to have been some dissatisfaction on account of the reserved seats at the Janson concert not being numbered. In explanation, it is stated that the hall has only recently been arranged for concerts, and that no preparations have been made for numbered seats. At the coming concert there will be 30 of the best seats in the hall put aside as reserved seats. One seat will be as good as another, and there will be enough to accommodate all who hold reserved seat tickets.

A number of the witnesses in the Lindell-Jones slander suit yesterday applied to the county court for their witness fees. It is well to remember that in all civil cases a witness does not have to attend court unless fees for a day and mileage are tendered in advance. Even after court, if detained longer than the time paid for, a witness can leave and so home. The party summoning a witness is responsible for the fees, which are $2 per day and mileage. In criminal cases only the county is responsible for the witness fees.

In the circuit court yesterday in the suit of the State vs. James Ryan, the defendant pleaded not guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon, and the case was set for trial September 30. State vs. A. M. Rowe, defendant pleaded not guilty; set for October 5. Same vs. same, No. 2; same order entered. The grand jury returned one true bill against Matt Furey and Michael Francisovitch, for gambling, and one not true bill against Christina Sing and Leong Sing, who were discharged by the court. Simonds Manufacturing Co. vs. Howell & Ward, default and judgment for plaintiff; Elmors, Sanborn & Co. vs. Astoria Packing Co., judgment for plaintiff; Hixie A. Sutherland vs. Ellen Adair Mendell et al., decree of foreclosure; William Oliver vs. R. R. Marion, tried and submitted to the jury; A. E. Lafourette, executrix, vs. M. Henry et al., sale confirmed; T. Dolg vs. Ellen Hoffrin, same.

The Janson concert, which will be given at Board & Stokes' hall on the 25th of this month, promises to be the greatest treat of the season. Although tieri Janson is a stranger on this coast, he is rapidly making a name for himself. All who have been fortunate enough to hear him play are enthusiastic and credit for him a brilliant future. One of the features which makes Herr Janson's playing so attractive is his thorough understanding of true tone formation and tone production. The full, round, sympathetic tone of his violin can not help but appeal to the hearts of any one who hears him. Hundreds can, by constant training, acquire the technique, but only a few possess the soul of music in which lies the bewitching power of a great artist. Those who are interested in music should avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing him play. No plans have been spared in making the program as complete as possible, none but the best of talent assisting. Tickets now on sale at Griffin & Reed's. It is advisable to secure your tickets early and procure a good seat, as a large attendance is anticipated. Remember the admission will be 50c and reserved seats 75c.
