Mr. Frank Woolsey, who is in Astoria on the business of the Bremer, confirms the sad news of the suicide of Mr. W. J. Lehigh, secretary of the Portlane Merchants Exchange, on Thursday of the week. Captain Hanson of the Norwegian steamer Florida, which arrived in yesterday, is an old friend of Mr. William Ford, and while only here an hour or two, took time to call upon Mr. Ford and lay in a few supplies on the steamer. The captain says that he had a good passage from Hong Kong, and will load about half of his cargo in Astoria. His steamer draws 31 feet when loaded. Another steamer, Peter Jensen, also commanded by a Captain Hanson, will arrive here in a few days to load wheat for Europe. Others are coming and it is anticipated that there will be lively times here this summer along the water front...

Much encouragement is being felt among the merchants in the city at the increase in shipping already apparent this season. A number of the more prominent houses were interviewed yesterday by an Astorian representative, and all of them declared in the most emphatic language their belief that there would continue to be a steady increase in the number of vessels doing business at the port, and that next season would be the liveliest and most prosperous era of business in the history of Astoria. In view of the change, which has already commenced to take place, the merchants are preparing themselves to take advantage of the new order of things, and say that they do not intend to be caught napping by outsiders...

During the gale of yesterday several vessels arrived in the harbor from sea, and anchored in the stream near Smith's point. It was with the utmost difficulty that the steamer's beam on the river could row the boats off and getting officials to these ships. One of the first boats to arrive was that of the ship as a woman's life was worth to be sacrificed the trip from the wharf to the boat in such a sea and against the swift current of the Columbia. The steamer to carry every other port where there is so much shipping done as there is in Astoria, the government provides a steam launch for the use of the health officer and customs officials. In view of the fact that Astoria is about to very largely increase its shipping, he thought that it might be made a point of additional attentiveness to have such a launch placed in service here...

NEWS FROM ALASKA.

Mr. Starvation at Dawson, says E. A. Mays—Twenty of Gold Next Spring...

Janosa, Alaska, October 28.—(Editor Astorian).—I arrived in Juneau October 28 by way of Seattle on the steamer City of Seattle after a pleasant voyage of six days. I find Juneau a neat little town of 600 population. Juneau is fenced in on every side by high mountains, except the water front, with very little room to build a town. There are four hotels, ten restaurants, one brewer, a salaried policeman, about fifty stores, including general merchandise and groceries, and one bank...

I met a man by the name of Hinkley, who just came from Dawson City, by way of Duluth trail. He estimates the population of Dawson and the Yukon District at 800. He thinks so one will starve to death there, but says there is a plenty of provisions. If they are divided equally, he estimates the output of gold last spring at $200,000, and next spring at $200,000. The trails are all blocked, still people are trying to get through with cattle, sheep and turkeys, but they all turn back after losing half their stock. No one will get through before the first of February with provisions...

I am working in the Franklin hotel, where I will remain until spring, and then go into business for myself.

A PECULIAR REMEDY.

Something About the New Discovery for Curing Dyspepsia.

The Rev. F. I. Bell, a highly esteemed minister residing in Weedsport, Cayuga Co., N. Y., in a recent letter writes as follows: "There has never been anything that I have taken that has relieved the dyspepsia from which I have suffered for ten years except the new remedy called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Since taking them I have had no distress at all after eating and again after long years can sleep well." Rev. F. I. Bell, Weedsport, N. Y., formerly India, Col. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remarkable remedy, not only because it is a certain cure for all forms of indigestion, but because it seems to act as thoroughly in old chronic cases of dyspepsia as well as in mild attacks of indigestion or biliousness. A person has dyspepsia simply because the stomach is overworked; all it wants is a harmless, vegetable remedy to digest the food and thus give it the much needed rest...

This is the secret of the success of this peculiar remedy. No matter how weak or how much disordered the digestion may be, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. New life and energy is given not only to the stomach but to the entire system and nerve in the body. A trial of this medicinal medicine will convince the most skeptical that dyspepsia and all stomach troubles can be cured. The tablets are prepared by the Stuart Chemical Co., of Marshall, Mich., but so popular has the remedy become that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can now be obtained at any drug store at 50 cents per package. Send for book on stomach diseases free.

The handsome display of new hardware and cutlery in Fisher Bros.' window has caused no little comment among passers-by, and upon inquiry yesterday by a reporter, whether there could be any sale in Astoria for such high class goods, Mr. Fisher said that nothing in the store was so good for Astorians.

Mr. Frank Woolsey, general agent of the Oriental line of steamers is in the city inspecting the Bremer. The Bremer has a full cargo of flour, steel rails, and general merchandise, and is taking on 70 tons of coal at Flavel. This being her first visit here her agents are anxious to secure quick dispatch and make a good record.

No amount of age or storing will make bad whiskey good. It must be good when made and must be stored in wood and not in metal. Cyrus Noble Old Bourbon Whiskey is stored in oak wood barrels. This develops its flavors and tonic properties. These flavors make it delicious in cocktails. It is the only American Whiskey of international reputation.

The second issue of the Skagway News has just been received in Astoria. It seems to be a bright little sheet and in its columns are found advertisements of well-known Astorians. In its editorial columns it calls the government to account for its dilatoriness in establishing a postoffice at that point. It is possible Uncle Sam does not know how rapidly this settlement in his far away domain has grown into a thriving town.

Nothing that during the wet weather, where the large piles of saw dust were made on the streets by the wood-saws, wagons passing over that portion of the street did not sink into the mud, a gentleman who is much interested in Clatsop county roads, suggested that a portion of the tons of sawdust now going to waste at the various mills might be used in filling the various holes on the Nohalem road. The mills would be glad to get rid of the refuse and doubtless many of the farmers would give some of their time in hauling it out to the places where it is needed.

Attorney M. P. Baker, of Seattle, a prominent legal light of that city, is in this city visiting his brother, Dr. W. D. Baker. During a large portion of the past season Mr. Baker has been spending the most of his time in Mt. Minnville. He says the crops this year all through the valley are exceptionally good, and that fall plowing is well under way, with the prospect of a large fall wheat crop being put in the ground. Business in Seattle is booming. There is not a vacant office or store room in the city. There are some idle men, but they are those who come west expecting to go to Alaska, and were unable to get away.
