"Americans," says the Toronto Mail and Empire, "might not have shown such calm faith in Uncle Sam's fighting ability if Englishmen had not done so. In financial matters London is the center of the world, and as the London market gave no tremor, New York soon mastered its first excitement. In this British support of American securities, which insured the United States against a panic, there was something more than faith that the United States would win in the war. There was also desire that it should win. Expensive though the war is, it is probable that American citizens as a whole are increasing their wealth as rapidly as the government is increasing its expenses. Such a thing is phenomenal."

MONEY WELL EXPENDED.

In the war results accomplished thus far two causes have contributed very materially to the American victories—the accurate marksmanship of the American gunners and the wild marksmanship of the enemy. Shortly after war was declared a naval expert, in discussing the relative merits of the two opposing fleets, predicted that the American ships would be victorious because they were better manned. He added that whereas the Spanish gunners were practically without experience in target practice the American navy had burnt more powder in experimental marksmanship than the navies of England, Germany, and Spain combined.

Target practice is expensive. It costs about $250 to fire one of the big guns such as are carried by the Iowa, the Indiana, the Massachusetts and the Oregon; but the actual results proved that money devoted to that purpose is well expended. In a recent interview concerning the battle at Manila Paymaster Lond of the dispatch boat McCulloch said:

At one time I really thought we would be beaten. This was after the fire had been kept up an hour. It looked as if every gun on the Spanish ships had turned loose on us all together and the shore line was a veritable blaze of fire from the batteries. The din was simply indescribable. Tons upon tons of shot fell over our ships. There was steel enough to have sunk our entire fleet. Our salvation was in the bad marksmanship of the Spaniards. They handled their pieces like boys. Nearly all of their shots went wide of the mark.

When Admiral Sampson attacked the fortifications of Santiago last Thursday, his terrific bombardment appears to have laid the forts in ruins, and not an American ship was struck, although the squadron was within 2,000 yards of Morro castle. The Spaniards have believed that the Santiago fortifications were practically impregnable. They were planned by General Ordonez, the most eminent engineer in Spain, and mounted modern guns. But the men behind the guns did not know how to shoot; Sampson's men did.

MILLIONS FOR THE FARMERS.

Chicago Times-Herald:

The year ending with this month will be known in the annals of productive industry as the "farmers' year." Other industrial activities have felt the quickening influence of more favorable economic conditions. All lines of manufacturing and merchandising have received a stimulus from the restoration of business confidence and the absence of currency discussion. But nature as well as economics have been on the side of the American farmer. As if to reward him for his aid in protecting the national credit from the assaults of populism nature has compelled Europe to pay him over $800,000,000 in gold for agricultural products during the fiscal year.

Eight hundred million dollars of European money tells the story of unparalled prosperity for the American farmers. This enormous sum, which represents the dependence of Europe upon American breadstuffs, also accounts for a large portion of the increase in the volume of general business transacted all over the country. No small amount of this foreign bounty to our productiveness has gone to the railways and the manufacturers of agricultural implements. When these two departments of industrial activity prosper all productive endeavor can be adjusted upon a basis of profit, for these agencies are the great distributors of capital.

Government statistics for the fiscal year will show that the farmers of this country have drawn upon other parts of the world for more money than in any year in the history of the country. The high-water mark of our agricultural exports was reached in 1892, when they were valued at $799,328,222. When the reports for May and June are completed it is now estimated that the total for the year will not fall below $825,000,000, and may exceed that amount. The exports will be fully 50 per cent in excess of the total for 1895, and at least $150,000,000 more than the exports of last year. The value of the exports of wheat alone will be more than double the exports of 1897, while flour and corn exports show an increase of 50 per cent.

The most remarkable feature of this remarkable export movement was the sale of corn to European and Asiatic consumers, the total exports for the year having passed the 200,000,000 bushel mark for the first time in our history. In only three preceding years have the exports of corn reached the 100,000,000 bushel mark.

Great Britain is as yet our heaviest customer in corn, wheat, beef and other food products. When the countries which have been suffering from bread riots learn the food value of our Indian corn the exports of 1898 will be a mere bagatelle compared to what the American farmer will be called upon to supply to meet the foreign demand.

PROPHETIC TRUST.

"Did you see the big pictures of the bombardment and naval victory, with thrilling details?" inquired the excited citizen.

"Yes," replied the skeptic. "It was a beautiful vision. I hope it will come true."

DANGEROUS APPARATIONS.

Every once in a while a ghost crops up in the columns of the daily or weekly press. This ghastly spirit sometimes assumes the part of a peripatetic on some lonely road, who terrifies belated travelers out of their wits. Again the visitant from the unseen world hurls furniture about, smashes windows, and indulges in unearthly howlings at unseemly hours. Few persons credit these blood curdling accounts of the doings of his ghostship, but there is a tenement which is unquestionably haunted at times. When a nervous malady attacks the human tenement the manifestations are appalling, and usually most violent and harassing at night. Sleeplessness, if nervousness is disregarded at the outset, becomes chronic, and the entire system suffers in consequence. For disturbance of the nerves Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a thorough remedy, as it also is for malaria, rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness, all of which tend to beget nervousness.

A man can carry a baby in such a fashion that he can even delude its mother into the belief that he is bringing home a package of meat for dinner.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me, I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. I give this certificate without solicitation, simply in appreciation of the gratitude felt for the cure effected.—Respectfully, Mrs. Mary A. Heard, Claremore, Ark. No harm! It leaves the skin soft like a baby's; no alkali in it, nothing but soap. The harm is done by alkali. Still more harm is done by not washing. So, bad soap is better than none.

What is good soap? Pears'.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalid's Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D.: "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at Estes-Conn Drug Co. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

It is certainly a wonderful remedy and we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee. For sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then run his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides; one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer.
