

MEIER & FRANK COMPANY'S

Great Removal Sale

A HALF MILLION DOLLAR STOCK

To Be CLOSED OUT

As our new building on Fifth and Morrison streets [opposite the post-office] is rapidly nearing completion, and as we intend that only new goods shall be placed upon the shelves in our new quarters, it becomes necessary for us to dispose promptly of our present large stock.

We know that there is but one method of inducing people to buy in advance of immediate needs and that is by offering the goods at prices so much below their actual values that purchasers can save money by buying for future use.

This method we have resolved to adopt and in order to expedite matters we have determined to resort to no half-way measures, but to reduce prices to such an extent as will warrant buyers in taking advantage of the magnificent opportunities offered.

No Such Values Have Ever Before Been Offered to the People of the Northwest

The upper rivers are heavily stationary or are falling slightly. From Umatilla to the Cascades a slight rise is predicted for the next 24 to 48 hours and west of the Cascades the rise will continue for 6 to 72 hours more, when the fall will begin, which will not be rapid. The height at Portland will be from 29 to 31 feet.

The navy of the United States and Spain as published by the New York, Ontario and Western Railway company make a very creditable showing in red, white and blue with the balance of power in favor of Uncle Sam. The little pamphlet, a handsome piece of typographical work, contains much valuable war information and is well worth reading.

Dr. Bartel of this city has perfected an appliance for cases of rupture which not only does away with the necessity of the old aggravating truss. He absolutely guarantees it to hold a rupture, no matter what the location and under all positions of the body however strained or abnormal. Cases where it is in use are without excite in its praise, not a single operation having been raised. It will prove a boon to sufferers from rupture.

John Mathews, one of the best known captains on the lower Columbia, returned Sunday from eastern Maine where he has been visiting for about a month. So first time in thirty years that he has seen his old home. Captain Mathews was the first through passenger by rail from Astoria to the eastern seaboard. He says that he enjoyed the trip very much and felt a few inches taller when he got back to the old stomping ground and could say that he had traveled from the Pacific to the Atlantic by rail.

The Wizard Oil company is giving away some handsome presents every night to purchasers of 15 cent admission tickets. Every person attending receives a coupon for the choice of a lady's or gentleman's bicycle, which will be given away some night during the week. The presents are distributed in a fair manner and are just as represented. They will give a change of program tonight which is worth more than the price of admission, and many people will be made happy by getting one of their costly presents.

The movement to secure proper legislation in Oregon for the propagation of salmon is meeting with the unqualified support of every thinking person in the community. The lower Columbia river district can certainly do nothing better than to foster the Royal Chinook, and it is the opinion of those who are posted in the business and who have at heart the interests of the community, that the entire state should be organized into a salmon propagation association never made a better move and that the representatives and senator from Clatsop county can render no greater service than to carry out that movement for the perpetuation of the Columbia river salmon.

The Rev. Mr. W. N. Short, of Grace church will leave in a few days for a vacation in the east, demanded by the state of his health, which for several months has been very poor. During his absence the Rev. Mr. Isaac Dawson of Grant's will officiate during the months of July and August and the Rev. Mr. Harris, of the Cove, will have charge of the parish in September. October will be provided for later. Last night Mr. Short left for Portland to attend the annual district convention, which meets on Thursday. His lay delegates are Messrs. Harris, Allen, E. C. Lewis and P. Spittle, alternates, K. Z. Ferguson, H. G. Van Ligon and O. I. Peterson. The women's auxiliary will meet Thursday in Portland at St. Mark's church.

The Progressive association has in hand a scheme to run special excursions into Astoria once a week from the country districts and logging camps along the A. & C. R. R. R. line west of Hanter in order to afford the loggers and farmers an opportunity to trade with this city. The project commends itself to the merchants and members of the association who will receive a monthly fund to defray the expense of running the train, so that the visitors will not have to stand the expense. This shows the progressive spirit of Astoria merchants and their determination to cultivate a closer relationship with all outlying districts and expand the business of this city. It is such a splendid idea and one which will bring success to any community. It is understood that the railroad company will meet the merchants half way in this proposition.

Porter's Exchange salaried, near the O. R. & N. dock was interrupted at 9 o'clock last evening by a fire which broke out in a room over a salaried. Officer Thompson, who patrols the beat, noticed yesterday morning about 2:30 o'clock that the blinds were open as usual and on his return, half an hour later, saw that they were closed.

Shanahan Brothers,

580 Commercial Street, Astoria, Oregon

Thinking all was not right, he made an investigation and found the safe open. Everything had been moved from around the safe, which stood at the end of the bar close to the window, but no attempt had been made to open it. The safe is a small one, and it is probable the robbers intended to carry it out of the saloon and lower it into the water. This could not be done, as it is too heavy to be handled by two men. Nothing else was missing from the saloon and it is likely the burglars were scared away by the officer. There is no clue to their identity.

THE MODERN BEAUTY

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health, and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs made in the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

MR. REID ON ASTORIA.

What a Keener in Interior Development. Thanks of the People.

The work being done on the tug Mazzy by one of the iron works is nearing completion and soon the tug will be ready for service. Mr. Reid, who owns the tug, as well as the three-masted schooner-warehouse, has been present during the work, and says that he is very satisfied with the work of the contractor. The schooner, of which much has already been said, will prove especially valuable, from the fact that she will be able to make the harbor along the coast where only the light-draft vessels can navigate. He has up to date, received nothing definite in answer to his proposition to tow the Missouri dredge to the Yukon.

In speaking of Astoria as a lumber point, Mr. Reid says that it ought to be one of the best shipping ports on the coast. Great tracts of valuable timber lie at our very door, and it has scarcely been disturbed by our lumbermen. He predicts that in a few years the output of the Columbia will be something enormous.

Before moving to Oakland, Cal., where he now resides, Mr. Reid was an extensive lumber merchant in Chicago and Nebraska. He went into Nebraska from Chicago at a time when the young state was being crisscrossed with railroads, a period of prosperity like which but few new states has ever experienced. Now, many of them at the present day are again in the same position as to the state of Nebraska, and he has scarcely been disturbed by our lumbermen. He predicts that in a few years the output of the Columbia will be something enormous.

Where flowers their generous fragrance shed.

They seek the silent city's walls, Each finds some spot, with reverent tread, Where sad yet sweet Remembrance calls.

Long since they might not thus pursue In sympathy a common way. For one had sorrowed with the blue, And one had suffered for the gray. But where a new-corded name appears, To tell of triumph and of gloom, Their blossoms, dew-damp with mingled tears, Are tributes on the selfsame tomb.

FAVORITISM DENIED.

"How dare you accuse us of any such injustice and partiality?" inquired the Spanish official.

"To what do you refer?" inquired the terrified citizen.

"You say our government robs the poor man, thereby implying that we are guilty of discrimination. I would have you understand, sir, that however it may be against our feelings, we war poor men much more than children with equal pompousness and precision."

INTERESTED.

"Now that the war is here," said the sidewalk strategist in a vociferous plaint "why don't we do something besides talk about it?"

And his wife looked at him mildly and exclaimed:

"That's what I would have asked you long ago if I hadn't been afraid of hurting your feelings."

NEW CIVIL SERVICE RULE.

United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

On May 11, 1922, the president amended clause 4 of Rule VII, as follows, so that it now reads:

The term of eligibility shall be one year from the date on which the name of the eligible is entered upon the register. Provided, That in case a person whose name is upon any register shall be transferred into the military or naval service of the United States at a time when the United States may be engaged in hostilities with an enemy, the period of eligibility of such persons shall, under such conditions as the civil service commission may prescribe, be considered as suspended during the time such eligible may be serving in the army or navy of the United States.

Persons who may desire to take advantage of this rule should write to the civil service commission.

By direction of the commission, JOHN R. PHOENIX, President.

THE PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

The philharmonic concert which takes place in the city next Friday evening at the First Methodist church, under the management of Mr. H. F. Bartels, promises not only to be an event in musical circles but also one of the most interesting and attractive. The mere fact that Mr. Bartels is the leading spirit will prove it to be the artistic success characteristic of all his concerts. He is not only a successful manager, but also a thorough musician and an able conductor, catering to the public a class of music, classical as well as popular, and of the most refined order. The success of Mr. Bartels' concerts have been largely due to this fact, and in the perfection of all details. The talent that he brings with him, Mr. Emil Thiberson, violin virtuoso, is already well known here, having on previous occasions proven his worth as a master of the violin. Mr. J. Adrian Epping, baritone, another favorite, is well known here, and together with Mrs. T. H. Olson, the well known pianist of this city, the combination cannot fail to please all lovers of music, both in solo and ensemble work.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Mary J. Badollet vs. W. G. Howell et al; motion to strike out part of complaint overruled and defendants allowed until June 23 to answer.

H. A. Smith vs. O. F. Morton et al; default and judgment.

W. P. Mellegor vs. Charles Brinkoff; default.

A DOUBTFUL PROGRAM.

"Thoroughly" said the kind-faced gentleman, "the only proper way to get on in life is to begin at the bottom and try to work up."

"Well," rejoined the member of the Washington ball club, "what that would have been doing all these years?"

SEWING LESSON.

Madam McL. Ross has decided to give sewing lessons three days in each week until further notice—Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. This will give young girls especially an excellent chance during the vacation season to learn the art of the sewing. There will be two classes, one for ages between 8 and 12 and the other from 13 up. Terms reasonable.

For particulars call at 628 Commercial street.
