

THE "MILWAUKEE" ROAD.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, one of the finest properties on the American continent, comprising as it does nearly 2,000 miles of track, with Chicago as the main center, from which main lines reach Kansas City, Omaha, St. Paul, Cincinnati, South Dakota, Fargo, North Dakota, Champion, Minn., with innumerable branches to Milwaukee and other points, are well and favorably known throughout the country.

The head officials of the Milwaukee are Russell Miller, president; A. J. Harding, vice president and general manager; A. J. Bird, traffic manager; Geo. H. Haddock, general passenger agent; J. H. Hiland, general freight agent.

gotic men of this company, U. B. Scott, L. B. Seeley, E. A. Seeley, J. M. Turney and their officials that Astoria has a railroad today.

It would seem that their own interests would have urged them to work in the opposite direction, but in building up the community they were long-headed enough to see that they would create more business for themselves in the future. It is such wise efforts that make any community a power and a success.

The view from Smith's Point, at the western extremity of Astoria, is said by travelers to be one of the finest in Europe or America, and should be seen by every regatta visitor.

THE REGATTA, '97

In this photograph (above), Agent J. H. Hiland is seen in the foreground. Mr. Hiland has been in the service for many years, and has been in the service for many years, and has been in the service for many years. He is well off, owning a handsome home in Chicago, and has a property in Oregon and other states where he has at different times been stationed. That the Milwaukee is in a prosperous condition is shown by its continued increase in business.

The Milwaukee connects with all the transcontinental railroads, both via Omaha and St. Paul, and its service in all departments is most excellent.

The magnificent train run over this road between Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul probably has no equal in the world. The cars were built by the Barney & Smith Car company and are simply palaces on wheels, including dining cars, buffet cars, and smoking cars, compartment drawing-room car, sixteen section sleeping cars, with perfection in everything.

MURRAY HOTEL, F. M. GUNN, Prop.

THE WHITE-COLLAR LINE.

When the history of Oregon is written the White-Collar Line will have an honored place in its pages.

Every official, from President Scott down, and even the deckhands have been ready to do any and everything that would aid in building up the State. Special efforts were made during the past five years to develop the lower Columbia river and particularly Astoria. During the efforts to secure a railroad down the Columbia, and afterward during the construction of that road, party after party of capitalists and investors, railroad officers and engineers from all parts of the country were entertained by the officers of the White-Collar Line, and taken to Astoria to view the situation. Tugs were hired to take them about the harbor and to the mouth of the river—even their hotel bills were paid. No pains or expense were spared to make the proposition a success, and it is largely due to the ener-

MURRAY HOTEL.

The Murray is the name of a new hotel just opened in Astoria by F. M. Gunn, for many years chief clerk at the Occident hotel. The Murray was formerly the Parker house. It has been thoroughly refitted and is now one of the best places in the state. It has 75 sleeping rooms, a large sample room, and a fine bar in connection with the house. The public can depend on getting excellent service from Mr. Gunn. The house is well patronized since it came under the management of Mr. Gunn, and is daily becoming more popular. The traveling public is always courteously treated and the Murray is gaining an excellent reputation among commercial travelers.

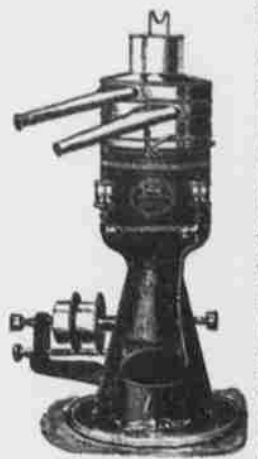

Mr. Gunn was one of the Original promoters of the regatta. As secretary of the Astoria Athletic Club, he is a leader in athletic sports and is known as one of the most genial and progressive of our young men.
