AROUND TOWN.

Love which still endureth long. Content to suffer and be strong. That makes all life one song! one song.

ASTORIA'S GREAT CARNIVAL DAY

Pine Weather, Big Crowds, Splendid Races, Special Features. PORTLAND TROPHY CUP WON. Dr. Deplessa the Lucky Single Scull Man—Burrard Inlet Crew Winners of the Barge Race—Decisions not Made in Sailing Races.

THE greatest day ever seen in Astoria closed last night in a blaze of glory on the bay never before equalled on this coast. The '38 regatta is a pronounced success. Ten thousand people witnessed the events on the water yesterday, which crowded one another so closely that it was impossible from any one point of view to keep track of them.

Looks Good.

Meat may look good, but is it? Some people can tell good meat when they see it. They can say whether it is tender by feeling it, but nine people out of ten can't. If your purchase is made of us you may rest assured the meat is all right and if it's not the very best when it's served, it's in the cooking.

At the M. E. church this morning the music will be a special feature of the service. Besides a male quartette of unusual talent, solos will be rendered by Miss Halstead of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Foster of Portland. Mr. W. E. Belcher, Astoria's famous tenor, will also render a solo.

TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM.

Effectually yet gently, when constive or bilious, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds, or fevers, use Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

The surf boat exhibition drill by the Point Adams life saving crew was one of the most interesting features of the regatta yesterday. Thousands of people along the dock and perched on the buildings witnessed the performance of the crew capsizing and righting the life boat. They brought the boat down each time, stepping on the side, turning clear over without stopping.

THE CORONATION.

The queen, Mrs. S. Normie, was escorted to the O. R. & N. dock, where she entered the royal ship, Columbia, and proceeded to the grand stand, being escorted to the throne by the Manila guards. The crowning ceremony was performed by Miss Madge Sovey, after which the queen was presented with the keys and freedom of the city. She then made her reply, thanking her subjects for the honor conferred and promising gaiety and pleasure for one and all. She then issued her proclamation, opening the regatta to the water and the sports on land.

WATER SPORTS.

The water sports in front of the grand stand were pulled off in a lively fashion and kept the interested spectators in a state of excitement all day. The tug race was won by Anthony Brown, Joseph Hobson second, Charles O'Connor third. In the greased pole contest Otto Skioke was first and Tom McHugh second. The magnificent drill of the Point Adams life saving crew was heartily applauded time and time again.

THE EVENING.

The evening entertainments opened with a land parade by the Chinese, which passed through the principal streets densely crowded with people. Following this was the marine parade on the bay, a display of fireworks and destruction of Cervera's fleet. Hundreds were turned away from the water front and could get no view of the interesting features of this part of the carnival. The grand stand was crowded to its limit, and every inch of available space on the docks was occupied. The fireworks were well handled and made a wild and effective sight over the water.

THE RACES.

Up to the hour of going to press this morning the judges had not announced the winners of the various sailing and rowing races. Never before has there been such exciting and closely contested events in Astoria. As the Whitehall fish boats, sloops, yachts, and cut boats got away before a stiff breeze the sport was full of life and interest. The four-oared sculls, single sculls, life boats and warship boats made a magnificent showing.

WEDNESDAY.

Twelve members of the naval battalion were detailed yesterday to receive the Manila guards on board the tug Relief for a trip around the racing course. The plan miscarried, at least so far as the naval reserve was concerned, for they were hopelessly disappointed in attaining their main object. It was thought all the details had been satisfactorily arranged the previous evening when Commodore Edwards, captain Randall and Lieutenant Sherman, but the elusive guards were not to be seen when the appointed hour had come. They were engaged as escort to the queen on board the flagship Columbia, and remained on the boat after the coronation. A great many events were coming off at the same time and it was impossible to carry each one through without some hitch arising. The detail of the reserve remained on the Relief with Captain Randall and enjoyed their trip on the river. They were in command of the quartermaster, who hailed a row boat to take him on board the Columbia, lying at anchor with the Manila guards and several invited guests on board. No other officer of rank being in the detail they were left without a commander and were put ashore soon afterwards by Captain Randall.

THURSDAY.

The Manila guards have come. To the beating of the drum They arrived—keep it num— They are here. And the town is at their feet As they march along the street And the loud huzzas that greet Are sincere. They have come to give us battle, And of broken hearts that rattle After each flirtation, prattle Will be heard. But the cost must not be reckoned When a dainty hand has beckoned For a man who fiddles second Is absurd.

FRIDAY.

A national organization like this representation of the fairest of the nation is immense. If with one you chance to dine Don't forget a little wine Or a crawfish dinner fine Hang expense. The "National" is the place For a quiet lunch in case You desire something at moderate expense. George Bartley is the man to see—and don't forget the number. A LOVELY PRESENT. One of the prettiest features of the carnival was the presentation to the queen yesterday of a beautiful bouquet of flowers. The presentation was made by Mayor Bergman, who was accompanied by Judge C. H. Faye and several distinguished visitors. Mrs. Normie had returned to Mrs. Ross' millinery parlors after the coronation, and was still in her royal robes when the mayor and his friends entered. Mr. Bergman made a short presentation speech to the queen who now rules the city, assuring her of his loyalty and esteem. "Accept, most gracious queen, this
