> EPWORTH LEAGUERS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Interesting Meeting at the First Methodist Church Yesterday-Many Delegates in Attendance. Promptly at $120 yesterday morning the Epworth League district convention was pened with devotional exercises. The orenoon was devoted to the routine businoss of the convention, report of the resident and reading of papers. The president reported good interest and activity among leagues during the past year and encouraging prospects for its future growth. A quite lively interes was taken in the reading and discussio of the following papers: "The League as the Pastor Sees it," read by Rev. E. V. Smith, "The Social Work of the League, by Mrs. H. O. Brown; "Hible Study in the longue," by Miss Laura Austin. Immediately following the uevotiona xercises of the afternoon, the following officers were elected: President, T. : McDaniel, of Taylor street church, Port land; first vice-president, A. F. Flagel second vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Wenta third vice-president, J. D. Ashley; fourth vice-president, Miss Kate Stitt; secretary E. O. Miller; treasurer; Miss Nelli Busey

It was voted that the convention of 1889 hould meet at Central church, Portland. The statistical reports showed 22 chapers; $70 active, 190 associate, 204 junior nembers, a total of 1964. In the afternoon addresses were given as follows: C. R. Thoburn, "Temperance." Mrs. G. H. Bennett, "The Still Hour;" A. F. Fingel, "Leadership," At the evening service Chancellor C. R Thoburn, of the consolidated university at Portland, gave an address entitled

'From Youth to Manhood.' The delegates express great appreciation of the hospitality they have received

Councilman Hansen is in serious rouble. He is now under arrest, charged with larceny, and his case will come up n the justice's court tomorrow. His of fense is a serious one, and, although he is now out on ball, he is under police surveillance. Last Thursday August Feldman went hunting and killed "two emale mallard ducks." It was his intention to present them to a lady acquaintance, and he told a few of the boys about it. Thursday evening the ducks were stolen and a pair of old shoes substituted. Mr. Feldman, unaware of the joke that had been played upon him, took the packuge of old shoes and, going to the lady's house, made a neat presentaion speech. The lady was delighted at Mr. Feldman's kindness and invited him o dinner on Friday. He learned of the toke when he called for dinner, and then ind there determined to "get even." Investigation disclosed the fact that Counilman Hansen had wilfully, maliciously and felonously "copped out" the ducks, and a warrant was "sworn" out before Judge Hughes for his arrest. The alderman was dumbfounded. He wanted to know whether or ot "it was a josh," but was assured by Deputy Binder that he was wanted for arceny. Only a few of the Red Men had been told of the affair, and, with the exception of the "wise" ones, all were surprised to think the popular young councilman had fractured the law, In order to allow the lodge to proceed of its way to Goble, bonds were furnished by some of Mr. Hansen's friends.
