AN OVERDONE BUSINESS.

The pursuit of a subsidy from ambitious towns and cities is a business that has been quite overdone. No doubt, there are times and conditions when it will pay a community to give a bonus for a new enterprise. But these are rare conditions. If a town has to get a subsidy in order to get it established within its borders it is not a natural mart for that business. Unless merchants, traders, and manufacturers can get good returns from their investments, they are foolish to begin business in a town, with or without a subsidy.

Favorable economic conditions must pre-exist, or the venture is folly. If they exist, the venture does not need and should not ask a subsidy. That is pre-eminently the status in Astoria. Unless we shall become the exporting point of this basin no sensible man would be justified in starting a business dependent on that status. If we shall become the chief seaport, as we feel sure we shall in the near future, no man would need a subsidy to get his business here. It would be a profitable venture for him and he should not ask a subsidy. Neither should he have it. Every one should act on his own judgment. We think a man who wishes to embark in a business suitable for the chief seaport would be wise to buy at present low prices all the ground he needs and at prices to suit him. He should not go around begging for subsidies. He makes himself out as a fakir. Our people are worn out with such useless propositions. They want strong, sensible, men of capital, to invest here, on their own judgment, for business. They do not propose to hire them to come. They will simply submit Astoria's claims to the attention of investors and let them decide upon the facts as to whether we shall have here the great seaport of the Columbia basin, where the man who gets in early will be fortunate. These remarks are especially applicable to flouring mills. They would come here with a rush if we had the export trade. Would be the first enterprises to flower out. Sagacious millers should be already studying our situation in order to take advantage of it without a subsidy.

Our Portland correspondent unexpectedly sends us another letter on the seaport problem. It relates especially to the existence of a wheat pool. The doubt expressed on that subject gives him a chance to group the facts and ideas of his six letters in a most striking manner. Evidently all that is needed to "bring him out strong" is a little friction. It is no wonder the wheat ring is so anxious to prevent the circulation of those masterly letters, and to avoid discussion on these lines.

It now seems the reports of a fierce controversy between "Jim" Hill and Pierpont Morgan was a fairy story. Mr. Hill's Spokane interview denies it all, and denies that he or his friends sold Northern Pacific stock. The alleged contest between the O. R. & N. and Northern seems to be nothing more than a right of way suit by the former over a line of the latter in Idaho. There is much smoke but no fire. Our duty is to vigilantly look after our own interests and see that we leave no bare down. Important events are culminating.

Millinery is being blue-pancled. The mother of a pretty child prates much of the delight she takes in wheeling her own baby coach. Would she be so enthusiastic if her offspring were cross-eyed or as expressionless as a Dutch doll?

Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate.

Up on fire add more than furniture to the contents of a room. In the olden times it was not uncommon occurrence for a fire to sweep through a town, and women to be burned to death. In this respect the world has made great strides. Nevertheless, women still suffer death in a slower and more tortuous form, and for no other reason than that they neglect to take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. It is the irony of fate that always makes us miss our sweetest friends when we have on our shabbiest frock. Mr. Hardin Norris, clerk of the drug store of H. Shoemaker, Perry, Ill., says: "A man came into our store the other day and said, 'I want a bottle of that stuff that saves children's lives. I read in the News about it. The children may get sick when we can't get the doctor quick enough. It's the medicine you sell for croup.'" He alluded to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and bought a bottle before he left the store.
