or passenger business. If the business man and property owners of Astoria have the spirit of men rather than mice they will make it so unhealthy for President Mohler that he will either have to be sent to keep the lamented McNeil company or voluntarily retire from the control of a property that he has damaged untold millions by his puerile and ill-judged policies.

The public at large, it is not too much to say, does not share in the partisanship at the bottom of the unseemly controversy between Schley and Sampson. They feel that both admirals did grand service in the war against Spain, and that, as Schley once put it, "there was glory enough for both."

Friends of both the other rear admirals thereupon demanded that the other disused grade of vice admiral should be revived, and both parties wanted it for their favorites. It even went so far that the deserved and desired promotion of Admiral Dewey was endangered.

The more the subject is considered, the more apparent it becomes that President Mohler has thrown a boomerang that will go home to him with telling effect. If he wants to cut rates, why doesn't he do so against the unholy alliance that is now sapping the life of the Inland Empire farmers?
