TIDE TABLE—March 1899.

Tide table with columns for DATE, HIGH WATER, and LOW WATER, listing times and heights for various days in March.

In the Astorian of the 15th instant appeared the following sentence at the end of the editorial relating to Mr. Mohler's outrageous attack on Astoria through his cut rates between here and Portland:

"The Astorian does not believe in the principle of the boycott and has never advocated the application of that form of retaliation even to the O. R. & N. Company, but we believe every merchant in Astoria owes it to his own freedom at this juncture to sign a solemn compact to accept no freight consigned to him over any other than the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad."

In terms this includes the C. R. & P. S. N. line. It was not so intended. The telephone steamer deserves the most liberal patronage of our people. Its owners are among the best friends Astoria ever had.

At all times and under all circumstances they have stood our friends. They should be patronized with enthusiasm. The telephone people refused to join the O. R. & N. Company in its shameful effort to ruin Astoria merchants.

The rates of the C. R. & P. S. N. Company are still $2.50 for round trip. An interesting question will arise, too, on that unusual situation. At least half the tickets sold at $1.50 by the Mohler line are used on the telephone.

Under an agreement by which they are redeemable by the O. R. & N. Company. When the division comes to be made it will be found that the O. R. & N. will have to pay the telephone rates, which will leave them only $1.10 for a round trip.

This is exactly as it ought to be. It will be another case of the bitter getting bitten.

The Salem Statesman cannot aid the Yaquina bay improvement by standing in with Portland on the 25-foot channel chimera. Portland no more wants Yaquina bay improved than she is willing to have Astoria become the seaport of the Columbian basin.

The Statesman probably believes that the government's expenditure of a quarter of a million of dollars this year in dredging out the Columbia river between Astoria and Portland will benefit the inland producer.

This is a fatal error. It is a pity that a paper of the sense and influence of the Statesman can be fooled that way. There could be no more flagrant misuse of public funds than these appropriations for increasing the so-called ship channel to Portland.

Instead of helping the inland producer, they operate to depreciate the market for his wheat more than $2.50 a ton, and enable the railroad and wheat speculators' pool of Portland to pocket that difference out of the producer's earnings.

This is no idle assertion. If the Statesman doubts it, let that paper reproduce this charge from the Astorian and offer us its columns to prove it. The Astorian can show that Portland practically monopolizes Oregon's share of the federal appropriations for rivers and harbors, and that the immense sums so obtained not only enter no permanent improvements which might tend in the long run to benefit the people of Portland, but they are entirely squandered in dredging operations on the bars of the Columbia river which have to be repeated after each annual freshet.

this combination is enabled by reason of these appropriations to exact over $2,000,000 more money in freight tariffs from inland producers than is a reasonable compensation for the transportation of the wheat of Oregon and Washington.

and that besides its extortion of this extra freight money, the members of the railroad combination share directly and indirectly in an immense wheat pool organized and maintained by the wheat buyers of Puget sound and Portland, all of which nefarious operations depend solely for their success upon the government appropriations to open the sand bars between the railroad terminals at the Columbia river jetty and the interior point of Portland.

The Astorian contends, in other words, that a public enemy is abroad in Oregon and Washington and is engaged in footing and devastating the product of the toil of thousands of American citizens, and that this enemy is enabled to carry on its scheme of plunder only through the support of federal appropriations. Now, the Statesman will admit, if these assertions are true, it is the duty of every independent paper in the northwest to unite in breaking up this organized raid upon the public treasury.

The Oregonian ignores these charges, although that paper knows the truth of them as well as we do. That paper has been challenged again and again to publish these charges and give the Astorian space to prove them. It refuses utterly to do so, and seeks to suppress the circulation of the charges and discredit our efforts to bring them to public attention by saying they are inspired by town-lout boomers at Astoria.

We ask the Statesman for fairer treatment. If there is no truth in what we have asserted, let the Statesman put us to the test upon it. If our assertions are true, they demand public attention, and every newspaper of good standing in Oregon should aid in their dissemination. We await an expression from the Statesman on the subject.
