reatly desired by the administration There is a disposition on the part of some officers to believe that the attack made by the insurgents on General Wheaton's command was to draw Genera Lawton from the vicinity of Santa Cruz where he is operating. It is apparent however, that they found the Americans in stronger force than was expected. Officials are becoming convinced that Aguinaldo proposes to maintain a guerlla warfare which will keep the island of Luzon in constant turmoil and necessitate the maintenance of a strong Amer can army there. The approach of the rainy season, now only a few weeks distant, will greatly embarrans American operations and will, of course, benefit the insurgent forces.

A great deal is still expected from the work of the Schurman commission, but THE the effects of its recent proclamation have not been as great as the authorities hoped for. Reports received here are not very encouraging, especially in view of the statement this morning that more troops would be required to crush the
