

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinal laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only.

MORE TROUBLE IS IN SIGHT

Open Rupture at Wardner Probable Between the Military and Union Men.

SYMPATHY OF THE PEOPLE

Population of Burks and Gene in Sympathy With the Miners—Unionists Ache for Bloodshed.

WALLACE, Ida, May 12.—Governor Stuenkel, Attorney General Hayes, Secretary of State Paria and Treasurer Hice arrived at Wardner today. The attorney general will remain until the end of the trial of the rioters. The governor will probably remain some time.

Chomur France has examined nearly 60 witnesses and expects that the investigation will last one or two weeks yet. The union men are still disposed to fight despite every effort of the military and state officials to quell that organization, and many expect an open rupture when the other alleged employing men without permits goes into effect next week.

GOES OVER HIGH BANK.

The rear car of the first train was occupied principally by people residing at Nottovon, and this fact accounts for the great number from that place included in the list of killed.

FURTHER PARTICULARS

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—The three cars of the ill-fated section which crashed into the first section of the "Lambton" half-express train at Nottovon last night arrived here at 4:15 this morning. The second train was composed of six day coaches, but three of them were badly wrecked in the collision. When the three cars which arrived here left the scene of the wreck they carried a large number of the injured and others who escaped injury.

Some of the injured were taken off at Nottovon and 15 were removed to the hospitals at Nottovon. While the train was standing at the latter place, two of the injured died before they could be removed. Their names were not learned. When the train arrived here Harry Orrell, the engineer of the second train, and his fireman, W. L. Everett, both of whom were hurt, were on board. There were also on the train half a dozen of the injured passengers, all residents of this city.

Day was just breaking when the train came to a standstill and many railroad men were awaiting its arrival. The railroad employees were warmly congratulated on their escape from death. As the disgruntled men shook hands, tears came to the eyes of many of them. Orrell had been reported dead, but the only injury he received was a bad scalp wound. His head was bandaged and blood covered his face, hands and feet. The fireman was slightly injured about the back.

In an interview with a reporter of the Associated Press, Orrell said he could not account for the accident. He said: "We left Reading a little late. We were going at the rate of between 35 and 40 miles an hour and everything appeared to be all right. Just before reaching Exeter, there is a curve. After we had rounded it and had straightened out, I was horrified to see loom up a hundred yards ahead the first section. I instantly reversed the lever, but before I could stop the engine we went into the train ahead with a terrible crash. The impetus of the collision sent the parlor car half way through the day coach in front of it. I did not know where I was for a time, but finally discovered myself imprisoned among the twisted iron, splintered wood and broken glass. How I escaped without more serious injury, I cannot tell. I do not know how many are dead and injured, but they tell me the number is large."

SEASON IN LONDON

NOW IN FULL SWING

Much Social Gaiety in the World's Metropolis—Americans to Be Present.

Copyright, 1899, by Associated Press. LONDON, May 12.—With beautiful, summer-like weather this week, the season seems to finally be in full swing. The hotels, picture exhibitions and Boston Row are crowded daily, while numerous parties given by business prominent in the social world fill every night. The polo season has opened at Hurlingham and Harehatch, and the country clubs are also attracting large numbers of fashionable people. Many Americans are already here, and the hotels and shopkeepers are jubilant at the prospect of a large invasion from over the sea.

The greatest interest centers in the queen's visit to London next week to the drawing room and by the foundation stone of the Albert and Victoria museum at Kensington. Tuesday's drawing room, naturally, will be the most brilliant of the season. There has been a talk of great tables to attend this particular function, but a great deal of discouragement has been occasioned by the system of ballot which the new lord chamberlain has inaugurated, and under which many prominent people are excluded. By this novel mode of selection the names of well known persons and of people unknown to fame are mixed together in a manner that is very difficult to the former. Several titled ladies, who they found that they had not been successful in the ballot, made Jews Killed and Captured and Houses Wrecked During Riots of Easter Festivities.

LONDON, May 12.—The Russian government has decided upon exceptional measures against the Jews, doubtless owing to the intense feeling against them prevailing in many parts of Russia at the present time. The first anti-Jewish measure was promulgated yesterday, when the stay of all even foreign Jews, was prohibited in St. Petersburg.

THE TELEGRAM REPORTER

MISQUOTED WILLIAM REID.

He Does Not Think Astoria Is Chasing a Delusion in Her Support Claims—His Nehalem Road Scheme.

PORTLAND, May 12.—Editor ASTORIAN: Referring to your remarks in today's Astorian regarding myself, you do me an injustice in crediting me with certain statements alleged to have been made by me in the Evening Telegram, without first asking me whether I did or did not make the statements.

What I did say, to the surprise of the reporter, was that nature had given Astoria WITH A HALLOWAY, in fact, the town of REVELY ACRE OF LAND in the central and upper Nehalem countries, which had 25,000 acres of forests of timber of pine, cedar and fir, whereof 10,000 acres alone were in the basin of the Nehalem river itself, whose trees are over 200 feet high and average 30 to 35 feet in diameter. I further said that the timber belt tributary to Astoria in the Nehalem country is 100 miles long and 100 miles wide, and that 100,000,000,000 FEET OF LUMBER standing in the tree according to United States estimates, every foot of which I said would go to Astoria direct, and not a passenger nor a pound of freight to or from the Nehalem country would ever go to Portland, WITH AN ASTORIA AND NEHALEM RAILWAY IN OPERATION.

In replying to the reporter's question whether a railroad line carrying saw logs from Nehalem to Tillamook to be manufactured at Astoria direct would benefit Astoria, I replied it would not, for the reason that as Tillamook and Nehalem bays were both under United States harbor improvements, vessels carrying lumber made by lumbermen at Nehalem and Tillamook bays exported therefrom seawards, would do so at $1 per 1,000 feet cheaper than Astoria, for the reason that Astoria would have to pay an extra rail haul or transportation of logs going to that city, whereas Astoria's position with the inner Nehalem country was altogether different. There, away from the competition of the Columbia river and sea coast ports, no possible opposition to Astoria could succeed with 24 miles of railway to Young's bay from the Nehalem country, and therefore Astoria would have an exclusive monopoly in the transportation to and in the manufacture and export of one hundred billion feet of lumber at Astoria from the Nehalem and Upper Nehalem basin and tributaries. Furthermore, all lumber grown ABOVE Mithawaka, floated down the river from points 80 miles above the Nehalem railroad terminus, would be stopped by dams placed there, and the Nehalem bay, 15 miles below would be shut off from the sea, except those grown around and above the Nehalem bay itself, thus rendering it, I said, scarcely possible for any rail road from Astoria terminating at Nehalem bay, to receive any great volume of lumber in competition with that lumber received from the central and upper Nehalem country going to Astoria via Saddle Mountain railway, especially as it would be carried in competition with that lumber which millmen in Tillamook and Nehalem bays were exporting in carloads seawards from these ports.

I regret to mention that every time I endeavor to do something for Astoria, Portland people or newspapers become jealous and as a result my actions are misrepresented. It is, however, a greater regret to me that Astoria newspapers do so readily credit all alleged misstatements to be made by Dundas Reid as if it were my own. It is especially to the progress of Astoria as a manufacturing center, when the facts are otherwise. WILLIAM REID.

THE HERITAGE OF DEWEES' HEIR-SEIGNIORS.

The document which the president of the United States recently framed making Commodore Dewees an admiral, will be highly prized by his descendants. It will be passed down to his great-grandchildren. It will become as valuable as the great stomach remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which guarantees health to all users, which may be passed on from generation to generation. As a fish-bellyer a nerve tonic, a blood purifier and appetizer it is simply wonderful. If you feel tired in the morning, if there's a bad taste in your mouth, if you are nervous, if you are a sufferer from indigestion, if you are a sufferer from liver or kidneys, the Bitters will cure you. All druggists sell it.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

It is very palatable and easily digested. If you will take plenty of fresh air, and exercise, and SCOTT'S EMULSION steadily, there is very little doubt about your recovery. There are hypophosphites in it that give strength and tone up the nervous system, while the cod-liver oil feeds and nourishes. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.
