WOULD NOT SUFFER SO AGAIN FOR FIFTY TIMES ITS PRICE
I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I was so weak I could hardly stand. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—O. H. Wilson, Livermyr, Burgettstown, Washington, Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by Charles Rogers.

order for confirmation of sale. In the report of the board of directors published in yesterday's paper, the report read that an order had been made by Judge McBride, as follows: C. S. Brown vs Astoria Packing company. This was a mistake, as it should have read U. S. Brown vs Astoria Packing company.

Repairs on the steamer Ellipse, Captain Skibbe, were completed at the Astoria iron works Tuesday, and yesterday she was placed on her old run to Grays river. While on the ways she was thoroughly overhauled, her machinery being repaired and a new house built on her altogether. She was also repainted and she now presents a very attractive appearance.

The Macabees had a whist and dancing party last evening at Engine House No. 1 that was a very pleasant event indeed. After the subtle pleasure of the whist tables had been fully enjoyed, the delicious ice cream and cakes together with coffee and nuts, was served that so refreshed both young and old that all joined in a joy dance for a couple of hours. There were about 50 couples present.

C. H. Callender, the Knappa sawmill man, returned last evening from an extended trip to the Sound, he being as far as Victoria. He reports lumber business in that section quite as good as on the Columbia. Mr. Callender accompanied by Mrs. Callender, who has been spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holden, will leave by the boat this morning for his home at Knappa.

Judge Gray goes to Seaside today to take the affidavits for a number of Indians who are claimants, as members of the Clatsop tribe, to an annuity that the United States was to pay those Indians in return for thecession of their lands to the whites, but which has never been paid. There are only about a score of the Clatsops left, and they have retained Harrison Allen and Sias H. Smith as attorneys to handle their claim against the government.

J. F. Lidwell finished yesterday the work of retaining George Caldwell's setting saw from Pillar rock. Mr. Lidwell had her on the beach near the Youngs bay bridge and reworked the hull, put in new bits, crossbars and renewed much of the planking. Men are now at work giving the hull a coating of varnish and painting the house. Mr. Caldwell expects to have the repairs completed by the last of the week and hopes to take her to his spring ground at Pillar rock Saturday.

Representatives of the Methodist, Baptist and Congregational Sunday schools completed arrangements last evening for a grand excursion to Clearwater, to be given on the 13th of July under the auspices of the combined schools. One member from each Sunday school will comprise a committee to get up a program of suitable sports and provide entertainment for the excursionists. A reduced excursion rate of 75 cents, and 50 cents for children for the round trip has been secured. It is expected that well-filled lunch baskets, bathing in the ocean sea, will all contribute to make the affair a very successful celebration.

Yesterday in the police court Matt Johnson, the man who was so gloriously drunk the day before that he could not stir, was fined $2. Ernest Johnson and Bob Hammond pled guilty to fighting on the streets Tuesday evening. Their punishment was that after paying several dollars over the bar and unloading them, they had an argument about maneuvering staps which, when pursued too far, became personal and led to blows. Neither was hurt, and upon recommendation of City Attorney Allen, who testified to their previous good character and honest industry, Judge Nelson fined them $20 each and suspended sentence during good behavior.

Chairman (King) of the committee to solicit funds for the regatta, yesterday said that the committee was meeting with good success, there having already been $200 subscribed, and it is the intention to raise $400 by popular subscription. This will be done by an easy matter, as the transportation companies, who are always the biggest subscribers, have not yet been seen. It is the intention later in the season to have an entertainment, and probably a ball will be given, the proceeds of which will swell the fund, and it is hoped to have at least $1,000 in all, without which a successful regatta would be impossible. A list will be published tomorrow giving the names of subscribers.

The special committee appointed by the chamber of commerce to confer with A. R. Corbett relative to the establishment by him of a flour mill in the city, interviewed Mr. Corbett Tuesday afternoon. The following proposition was made by Mr. Corbett: That 50 feet of the water front between Sixth and Seventh streets, now vacant, be donated to him by the city for the location of his mill, and that the merchants and others subscribe $500 to stock the same to be redeemed after the year with flour. Should these conditions be met, the city will give the barrel mill. The proposition is under consideration and will come up for settlement at the next meeting of the chamber of commerce.

G. I. Holmes, who formerly resided here being connected with the O. R. & N., returned this week from Glenora, Alaska, where for the last year he has been in the hotel business. Glenora is situated on the Tedin trail, on the Sitka river route, and Mr. Holmes thinks with some government assistance, that trail could have been made the most feasible route to the interior, as not one-tenth of the suffering would have resulted from travel on this trail that did on the others. He expressed himself as of the opinion that the famous Albin district is a fake, as the first rush there was caused by a salaried claim. Mr. Holmes is en route to Jamaica, where he has a prominent position on the bureau of public works. He will spend a week or so in this city, being while here, the guest of his old friend, Attorney Frank Spitzer.

A stranger who was too much overcome by his feelings and the cup that chance to give his name or previous antecedents is lying in the city jail to appear today before Judge Nelson on a charge of disorderly conduct and of retelling an officer. As Solicitor Bennett was coming up Bond street at 1 o'clock last night he found the fellow asleep on the sidewalk in front of the Packers association offices. On being aroused up he proceeded to enter a Jeffries protest for his name's sake. Officer Shiloh soon took the fight out of the fellow, but not until he had made several vicious kicks and jugs at the officer. The fellow then balked and being a big, strong man, it took the combined efforts of Officer Sinsott, Professor Bege and Frank Smith to drag and carry him to jail.

The approach to the Youngs bay bridge will be finished about Saturday evening and if it had been possible to use the road beyond, the bridge would be opened Sunday for travel, but as the road is very soft yet, especially between Jefferson and Larsen's places, and other stretches on the dyke are hardly passable it is not probable that the draw will be closed and the bridge opened for travel before the 4th of July. The committee appointed by the subscribers to the Lewis and Clarke road fund to let the contract for planking the road, met yesterday afternoon and as there was a minority standing about the time of opening the bids, some of the bidders asking it to be Wednesday, instead of Tuesday, as advertised, the committee rejected all the bids presented, and will open bids again on the same proposition Friday noon.

PLEASANT RIDE FOR WHEELMAN.

The Path Around Smiths Point Will, When Completed, Have Many Attractive Features.

Work on the bicycle path around Smiths point is progressing very favorably, and it is thought that by the end of the season a first class path will be completed from the Youngs bay drawbridge to this city, making a delightful ride for cyclists as also a pretty stroll for pedestrians. Cyclists could desire no better place for riding than that afforded by this bicycle path. Climbing the hill on Youngs bay boulevard, a long coast down the other side is afforded which, while speedy enough to suit the most reckless, is perfectly safe if reasonable care is exercised. This brings the rider to Youngs bay bridge where the bicycle path around Smiths point commences and which at present, is in good shape about a mile from the bridge and is being finished farther, the grade having been established some time ago. Work was done on the old brick yard on Youngs bay being put on the track, which, when packed down, will be hard and smooth like cement. The run between the bridge and this brick yard is delightful in the extreme, the path running through a stretch of woods where the many flowers on each side present a lovely picture. The deep green of the verdure on every side, and the birds in the treetops, combine to give the cyclist a pleasant memory of his trip. A little farther on the path crosses a bridge where a small creek runs foaming into the bay. Still further on a wide spring emerges from the overhanging bank in a shower of spray, where the thirsty wheelman may stop and shake his shirt with a refreshing shower that will refresh him. From this point on into the city it is perfectly level but the path is well graded and is as smooth as it will be later. The ride, however, is very pleasant. On the one hand the lapping of the waves on the beach dispels all symptoms of lassitude and on the other the green verdure of the hills, makes a very attractive picture.

As it is the intention of the rowing club to build a bathhouse near the drawbridge, this path promises to be a well-traveled thoroughfare in the near future and the many pleasant rides on it in store for wheelmen will justify the expense of building it.

THE SWEETEST FLOWER THAT BLOWS.

The rose is the queen of the flower and nothing so adds charm and beauty to a flower garden as does this beautiful blossom. A home is not complete without roses blooming in the yard and although they are not seen in their usual profusion this year, owing to the unusually severe weather of last February those that were out to the ground as soon as frost, are starting up the rose in good shape in nearly every case. In order that rose culturists may be better informed as to the best means of growing roses, the horticultural department of the state experiment station at Corvallis has issued a bulletin, "Rose Culture in Oregon," which is full of useful information as to the best methods of caring for this queen of flowers. The bulletin describes in detail the various means of propagation, which is followed by articles on planting and pruning and the diseases of the rose and methods of cure. Mrs. Harriet B. Kilian, of Portland, who is known to be a very successful rose culturist, contributes an article on rose culture, telling the results of her experience, which is very reliable and of much value to new and interested in roses. The bulletin is illustrated with cuts explaining the different stages of pruning, bedding, etc. This work will be found interesting to persons all over the state who grow roses and will no doubt be much appreciated by those wishing information as to the best methods of treatment. As is well known, Oregon is especially adapted to the successful cultivation of the rose. Where nature has done so much to make our surroundings beautiful, Oregonians should devote some of their spare time to increasing the attractiveness of the yard and making the home a place where wild care could be chased away and life be free from worries, that kill roses and cause ill-health. Persons wishing a copy of this valuable treatise on roses can secure it by sending their name and address to the State Agricultural college at Corvallis.
