THRIFT AT WHITE HOUSE

Until President and Mrs. Harding moved into the White House it has always been the practice of the house appropriations committee to provide for the purchase of furniture for the private apartments of the President and his family. But, as an example for government economy, President and Mrs. Harding have no intention of using a congressional appropriation for furnishing these apartments. Instead the furniture will come from their own Marion and Washington homes.

Give the average American earner an opportunity of furnishing a home lavishly with Oriental rugs, mahogany furniture, beautiful paintings and costly draperies, and he will take it even though he may know that the funds, making the purchase possible and coming out of the public treasury, will work a hardship on the country's taxpayers. It is a difficult task to show the average earner that in the conduct of his own affairs and in the disbursement of his own earnings he should practice thrift and economy.

Economy, like charity, should begin at home. It is easy enough to straddle a neighbor's fence and talk long and vigorously about plans and projects. The "other fellow" would improve conditions, but the real job is for individuals themselves to begin a program of economy and thrift at home.

The United States treasury department, in carrying on the savings movement, is endeavoring to impress upon the mind of every American earner, desiring sound advice the advisability of beginning a program of thrift and economy in their own personal affairs. It urges that every farmer make a budget and in it make allowance for regular saving and sound investment. It urges that whenever any individual makes an appropriation out of his own funds and for his own needs, he use the judgment of President and Mrs. Harding when they, appreciating the necessity for a program of economy in putting the business of our country back to normal, decided it unwise to spend the funds commonly provided by the house appropriations committee for the purchase of furniture when this furniture might be brought from their own homes at Marion and Washington.

That every earner may begin saving at home, special savings securities have been issued by the United States Treasury Department. These securities— from the 25 cent Thrift Stamp to the $1000 Treasury Savings Certificate—are the best in the world. Talk with your postmaster about them.

Czar's Peculiar "Joke"

Peter the Great admitted the whole world to the curious entertainments to which he added strange and some times gross touches of his own invention. Yakov Euzheny, the court jester, was engaged to marry the daughter of a sexton. At Peter's command the bride and groom rode to church in the Czar's best velvet coach. Then behind them formed a procession, the members being the highest dignitaries and the most eminent patriots in all Russia. Each was mounted. Their steeds were oxen, asses, pigs and big dogs.

Some of the important men and women were dressed in their finest robes. Others were costumed in sackings of glazed linen or catskin captan, with straw boots and other strange and curious accessories of such an outlandish toilette.

Mark Twain as a Typist.

Mark Twain appears to have been the first distinguished author to purchase a typewriter, and a letter typed by him to W. D. Howells on December 3, 1874—the very day the machine reached him—is still extant. "I don't know," he tells him, "whether I am going to make this typewriting machine go or not; but that last word was intended for 'not'; but I guess I shall make some sort of a success of it before I run it very long. I am so thick-fingered that I miss the keys. You needn't answer this. I am only practicing to get three—another slip-up there; only practicing to get the bang of the thing. I notice I miss fire—get in a good many unnecessary letters and punctuation marks. I am simply using you for a target to bang at. Blame my eyes, but this thing requires a genius in order to work it just right."

Profiteers Forced to Build.

Switzerland has found a new use for war profits. The Swiss who reaped an excess profit during the war can get an abatement of taxes if he will invest his surplus in residential housing under official regulation. The regulation guards against unsightly and insanitary building. It also restricts rentals to yield only a fair return on the investment. If the war profiteer does not care to put his eye money into this useful channel of public service at a fair return, the state takes a large part of it from him and itself subsidizes the building of homes.
