Sam Boardman is always howling for irrigation, but he had too much of it this last week, when all the waste water from the Paul Smith ditch was turned into his field and almost submerged his hay crop.

C. Snively's dance in the Pastime last Saturday night proved so popular that he will hold another one tomorrow night and on each succeeding Saturday for the summer. Good music has been secured.

THE KING OF THE CLOCK WORLD

AMERICA'S largest timepiece looks down upon the world from the giant tower of Colgate & Company's factory in Jersey City, N. J.

The massive hands are constructed of brass, in truss formation and covered with sheet copper. The minute hand is 20 feet long and 10 inches wide at the point. It weighs 370 pounds. The point moves half a minute at a jump and travels more than half a mile in its 24 revolutions around the dial daily. The dial is over 40 feet in diameter and illuminated at night—42 electric bulbs being used on the minute hand alone. The numbers on the dial are 5 1/2 feet high. The pendulum rod is eight feet long, weighs 76 pounds, made of zinc and steel so proportioned as to permit of accurate compensation and adjustment to overcome sudden and decided changes of temperature. The bob weighs 330 pounds. The weights which propel the hands weigh 1,500 pounds and provide ample power to offset all wind resistance.

This master clock is said to be the most mechanically correct tower clock ever constructed. It runs eight days without rewinding. Built at Thomaston, Connecticut, and installed in 1908, it has operated the year round with an average variation of less than one minute a week.

His Time Was Not Up Yet.

A man of mercenary spirit had a son whom he kept well under parental charge, allowing him few liberties and making him work hard.

It was with a feeling of considerable satisfaction that the young man rose on the morning of his twenty-first birthday and began to collect his belongings preparatory to starting out in the world.

The farmer, seeing his son packing his trunk, which he rightly judged to be evidence of the early loss of a good farm hand, stopped at the door of the young man's room and asked what he was going to do.

The boy very promptly reminded his father of the day of the month and the year and declared his intention of striking out into the world on his own account.

"Not much you won't!" shouted the old man. "At least not for a while yet! You weren't born until after 12 o'clock, so you can just take off them good clothes and give me another half day's work down in the potato patch."—Harper's Magazine.

He Wished to Know.

"The extravagance of the city women is terrible," dismally said Deacon Drown, who was just back from the Big Burg. "Wherever I went in Kansas City I saw them wearing costly silk stockings on every hand, and—"

"On every hand!" astoundedly ejaculated Abner Appledry. "Then, what in tunkett were they a-wearing on their—er—h'm!—limbs!"—Kansas City Star.

Uncle John's Ash

ROMANCE LEADS TO MARRIAGE; MARRIAGE LEADS TO LOVE.

The Laziest Man.

"Joe" Laurie, Jr., monologist at the Orpheum week before last, was talking about lazy men. He cited the case of one of the laziest he ever knew.

"Know what he does?" he asked. "He gets up every morning at five o'clock so he will have longer to loaf!"—Kansas City Star.

A Stranger.

"Been reading anything about Betel-guese?"
"No."
"Betelguese, the new star."
"Haven't seen him in any films."

WE PRINT ANYTHING FOR ANYBODY
We Print Everything for Everybody
ALWAYS AND ALL WAYS

When a Farmer WRITES A LETTER

What do you expect? That it will be written on a blank sheet of soiled paper that has been rusting on a dusty shelf for months?

Not a bit of it. The farmer's stationery is as important as his automobile. He is a business man, and he does business in a business like manner. He may raise hay, but you never find it sticking out of his boots.

We print letter heads, envelopes, bill heads, business cards, etc. for farmers. No chance for a correspondent to make a mistake in the name, or in the address, when it is plainly printed on the letter head or envelope. No chance for purchases to go astray in the mails.

The next time you want anything in the printing line, either come in and tell us what you want, or mail us your order and we will do the rest.
