J. DAY PROJECT GETS NEW LEASE OF LIFE

All Boardman district will be interested to know that the John Day project is showing signs of life. At least Judge Phelps has prolonged agonies, for we will have to watch-fully wait until his opinion is upheld or turned down by the supreme court. Engineer Lewis and the new directors have gained a good lead, however, and hope will again spring forth for the ultimate realization of the project.

Demurrer by officials of the John Day Irrigation District association and former state engineer John I.
Lewis, to the setting aside of a contract for $60,000 between them for surveys and a report to be furnished by Lewis has been sustained by Circuit Judge Gilbert W. Phelps, who has had the matter under advisement during the past two months.

In his opinion Judge Phelps held that the contract should not be set aside because the citation of ultra-virus and quasi-fraudulent means was not sufficient to establish reasonable doubt. Suit to set aside the contract was brought by the Northern Pacific railroad, Smythe Bros., and other holders of land within the gi-gantic John Day Irrigation project.
These parties hold, among other things, that the directors of the association had not authority to enter such a contract with Lewis because of the unconstitutionality of the law creating the district.

Judge Phelps decided, however, that since the supreme court of Oregon has virtually passed upon its constitutionality several times since the original irrigation law was passed, his hands are tied and until such time as the supreme court shall change, he is powerless to hear the question at issue. The immediate cause for complaint by the Northern Pacific and Smythe Bros., was the provision which says: "All irrigable land shall be taxed the same".
These parties contend that this violates the fourteenth amendment to the constitution in that it is unjust taxation and takes property without due process of law. The case will undoubtedly go to the supreme court.

In his opinion Judge Phelps clearly states, however, that the Northern Pacific and Smythe Bros., have a right to litigation on the legality of the contract entered into between Lewis and the directors. This contract has been the subject for considerable comment in the papers of the state, inasmuch as the complaining parties assert that United States engineers have already thoroughly investigated the project.

The case has another angle, too.
At the last election of directors, members of the district wrote in the names of two new directors and by concerted action defeated the two old directors who were up for re-election by a ten to one vote. This action was taken because of lack of confidence in the old board. The old board met and refused to seat the two newly elected directors because they had not been nominated and this case also came before Judge Phelps, who decided that the new directors were regularly elected and should be seated.

PEARL'S TWIN CALVES NO HANDICAP

Having twin calves didn't stop this industrious cow from going out after a milk and butter fat record. And she got it. Her name is Pearl of Pomeroy, and she is owned by D. D. Tenney of Crystal Bay, Minn. This makes her third advanced register record at 5 years old, 11,795.9 pounds of milk and 58,367 pounds of butter fat, carried the twin calves, shown here, 275 days of that time. She is a Guernsey.
