

CITY FOLKS GO FARM HUNTING IN AUTO CARAVAN.

Scene in Brooklyn, N. Y., when 25 families started for far Idaho in automobiles, a 2,500 mile jaunt, to take up farms near Buhl, that State. Gov. Davis, of Idaho, helped them and arranged for a tract of 5,000 acres for them to farm. They had trailers for all their cars. All the 25 families have plenty of money to make a start. Note subway station; arrow pointing to it. This is the way all New York subway entrances look.

THE MIDNIGHT CALL

The doctor hears the noisy bell, and staggers to the phone, then silently he dons his garb, and marches forth, alone; a chill pervades the empty street, and stings his weary form, while others, in their cozy cots are comforted and warm. Thru all the toilsome weary day he battled with his foes, anticipating in his way, a night of earned repose. But ah, how vain the doctor's hopes! The thought of peaceful rest, or happy hour to call his own, eludes his constant quest. 'Tis his to strive for competence against the rainy day, and his to heal the suffering ones, that fall beside the way; 'tis his to lend the cheering smile, and lift the wasted form,—no matter how the midnight chills, nor how severe the storm. For him, there is no peaceful dream,—no restful hour is set, wherein this silent, earnest man may rally,—or forget. God, give him strength to overcome his heartaches, one and all, and lead him gently when he makes his final midnight call!

IRRIGON NEWS ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Grover and family of Monmouth, arrived Sunday and are camped in the Mrs. Castle house for a month while the large Bleakley house near the school house, is undergoing some necessary repairs and general cleaning. When this is done they will move into it to be close to the school. Mr. Grover will be principal of the school for the coming term. C. H. Coffin drove through from Monmouth with truck bringing their household goods over and F. H. Ricks loaded him up with watermelons for the return trip Tuesday morning.

Garland Jende of Portland, is visiting Lyle Seaman this week. He left Portland about Thursday morning, and arrived in Irrigon at noon Friday, making the trip in a day and a half. He did not make much success in walking, however, as he was picked up by a truck before he got out of Portland limits and later on picked up by a tourist who insisted upon delivering him to the very door of his destination. They were, however, repaid by a watermelon feast. The parties were people from Oklahoma, and treated the boy royally all the way through.

Mrs. G. E. West and daughter of Graybull, Wyo., who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chaney for the past couple of weeks, returned to Graybull Sunday.

Wait Rising spent a few days with F. L. Wait last week, and returned to Portland Sunday.

The school has purchased a $585 Smith and Barnes piano for the new school building through M. E. Shurte of Arlington. This piano is absolutely guaranteed to stand up in a school building or anywhere, and if it fails to function satisfactorily at any time, will be replaced by Mr. Shurte. The people of the district will be glad to hear of this purchase, and can well be proud of the instrument.

See letter from the seed house on potatoes shipped to Irrigon, and don't forget to advise Mr. Seaman if you wish to secure any of this certified seed as adjustment at the low figures quoted. Some have already booked their wants and the list will be closed early in September.

The bulk of the watermelons have moved out. Only about half as much going out per day now as was up to the first of the week. This does not mean that there is no melons here now as we can supply the markets closeby.

W. W. Agee shipped his flock of white leghorn chickens from McMinnville Friday by express consisting of 14 coops and is going ahead with his plans of the poultry business on a large scale. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Saling and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Fargerstrom had a picnic dinner with friends from across the river on Bialock Island on Saturday. They also hunted Belgian hares which are quite abundant on the island. Don't forget the rabbits. New supply of poison at the depot.
