WHAT DOES THE REAL FARMER LOOK LIKE, ANYHOW?

THE OLD CARTOONIST'S IDEA OF HIM

The city newspaper cartoonist likes to picture the farmer a chap with billygoat whiskers and a corn-cob pipe.

But the new cartoonists are beginning to see that even if there ever were the extremes we used to see in the papers, there is a new farmer developing.

The new cartoonist has noticed that the new farmer has a good deal in him of the type of the alert business man of the growing cities. He may go around the farm in overalls just as a peeper city man goes about in short sleeves and old suit, but when he is away from the business, he is pretty up to date. Cartoonist Plumb herewith presents the old and new.

THE NEW FARMER AS PLUMB SEES HIM.

IRRIGON GIRL BRIDE OF SEATTLE MAN

(Special to the Mirror)

The greatest surprise of the season came like a bolt from the blue skies Friday, the 23rd, when word was slipped around by a friend who had been told in confidence, that Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Glasgow had motored to Prosser, Wash., that morning with Miss Genevieve Glasgow, and that wedding bells were ringing.

It had been arranged to meet Mr. Lou Haydon of Seattle, Wash. at Prosser, where the marriage ceremony was performed in the Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. Curtis of that place.

It was reported that they would return that evening, and arrangements was made to keep close tab, and the community was informed that all should meet at Mr. Grim's that evening and be in readiness to give the young couple one great reception or serenade or whatever you may call it.

The newly-weds returned as expected, and the great crowd soon gathered at the Glasgow home. There was not a great deal of noise-making as the doors were open, and everybody invited in. A big feast had been prepared and spread for all. Music, dancing and a general good time made up the evening until a late hour of the night.

Mr. Haydon is a cement and concrete building contractor, enjoying an extensive business in that line in Seattle, and is a pianist leading in the social doings of that city.

The bride is Irrigon's most popular young lady, and a friend to all, both young and old. Everybody thinks the world of her, and she will be missed by all alike.

Mr. and Mrs. Haydon motored to Pendleton Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Glasgow, accompanied by their friend, Mrs. W. T. Eggleston, and took in the Round-Up. They left for Seattle Sunday night on Number 23, which was a couple of hours late. A great number of young people accompanied them to the depot, and remained waiting until after the arrival of the train about three o'clock in the morning, to bid them goodbye, and all good wishes. They will reside at 300 East 57th street, Seattle, Wash., and extend cordial invitation to all their friends to visit them at any time.

The whole community joins with the correspondent in wishing the young couple much happiness and prosperity.

The Irrigon Commercial Club and the Farm Bureau have gone on record favoring the early construction of the Umatilla-Waitula cut-off. On account of opening the vast territory from the inland Empire to the lower Columbia basin, and cutting off considerable mileage going around via Pendleton, this road should be boosted by everybody on the project or anywhere else for that matter. It will help us out on the Umatilla rapids power site, and will establish a road where it will be seriously needed now and more so later on.

Pastor P. H. McCullam, who has resided in Irrigon during the past summer, and assisted L. A. Doble and Merrill with their farm work, left here Thursday for Monument, where he has accepted the pastorate for the Presbyterian church for one year and possibly longer. We regret having to part with Mr. and Mrs. McCullam, but are glad to know that they like their new location and the work he has undertaken.

L. A. Syboul of Astoria, purchased the forty south of Messner from Mrs. E. F. Fagerstrom last week, and was in Irrigon a couple of days closing the deal. He expects to move on the place as soon as he can dispose of some other property at Astoria for which he has a prospective buyer.

Somebody said that a new girl had arrived at A. H. Allen's Thursday, the 22nd. Mother and babe are reported as doing nicely. Where are the cigars?

Mr. Griswold and son of Kelso, Wash., motored to the Round-Up at Pendleton, stopping off at Irrigon both coming and going, visiting with the Chaneyes.

Geo. C. Howard of Portland, is at the Lofgren pumping plant looking over the ground and making some arrangements in connection with the plans Lofgren and Howard are planning for a large pumping plant to take up several sections in that part of the country.

The doughnut sale at Mrs. H. T. Walpoles Wednesday by the Ladies' Aid society proved to be quite a success. The ladies will soon pay for their piano for the church at this rate. The doughnuts were fine.

L. A. Hunt, manager for the Oregon Hay Growers' was in Irrigon Tuesday on business matters. The question of selling second grade hay for feeding purpose was the subject discussed with several of the growers. The Irrigon members believe this off-grade hay should be disposed of at first convenient opportunity. There is not much of that in this section, however, but some who have not much stock, find some surplus.

The fourth cutting of alfalfa is now on in earnest. It is the heaviest fourth cutting for a number of years.

About twenty of the young people took in the movies at Umatilla Monday evening. R. S. Lamoreaux made the trip with his bus, charging 25 cents for the round trip for this occasion.

Prof. and Mrs. Grover and Miss Anna Ellertson, teacher of the 7th and 8th grades, motored to Pendleton Saturday to take in the Round-Up. W. B. Howard took up a load with his bus from Bailey which included nearly everybody from that district. It is not believed, however, that as many attended the Round-Up this year as usual.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS TO MEET IN PENDLETON

The annual meeting of the Oregon Irrigation Congress will be held in Pendleton this year December 15, 16 and 17. This was decided upon at the second meeting of the executive committee of the congress held in Pendleton this week.

The Pendleton meeting of the congress will be the first ever held in Eastern Oregon, and will bring several hundred visitors to Pendleton at that time. Meetings of the executive committee are not open to the public, but the following statement was given out at the conclusion of the session:

"The Oregon Irrigation Congress was formed and maintains its organization for the purpose of promoting irrigation in the state of Oregon. We realize that we have not accomplished in the past the results which we should but the future holds much for Oregon in an irrigation way and there are many things which we can do in a constructive manner to subjugate the arid lands of our state and add materially to the wealth, production and population of Oregon.

Senator McNary has requested us to prepare and send to Washington, D. C. an exhibit of the products of our irrigated lands which he considers of inestimable value in securing favorable action by congress in the passage of that bill and we are going to comply with his request.

The passage of the Smith-McNary bill will enable many feasible irrigation projects to get under way and become producing communities. We can do much in creating a greater feeling of confidence in irrigation securities and thereby assist many worthy projects in the selling of their irrigation bonds at a price which the securities merit.

We believe that the word irrigation should be included in the official name of the 1925 fair to be held in Portland because irrigation means more to Oregon than any other one industry. This fair offers us a great opportunity to display the products of our irrigation districts and thus offer substantial testimony of what water means to our arid lands for the benefit of prospective settlers.

The next meeting of the Oregon Irrigation Congress will be held in Pendleton December 15, 16 and 17, 1921, and will be attended by everyone interested in irrigation in the state to hear talks and exchange views with men who have made a success of irrigation and to hear of the methods used by them in getting water on various kinds of soils and devise substantial methods for improving irrigation in Oregon.

In short the purpose of the Oregon Irrigation Congress is to work in a practical way to advance the cause of irrigation and by so doing build up the state of Oregon as a whole. FRED N. WALLACE, JAMES M. KYLE, President, Chairman Executive Committee.
