PRESCOTT FLOUR MILL DESTROYED

Prescott, Wash.—Starting from an unknown cause in the warehouse, fire totally destroyed the Prescott flour mill, owned by the Portland Flouring Mills company, causing a loss estimated from $100,000 to $150,000, depending on the amount of new wheat that had been hauled in for storage.

The mill and machinery, warehouse, office, residence of Manager Dunlap and the entire plant was destroyed. Wheat hauling had been in progress for many days past and, according to estimates here, there must have been fully 50,000 bushels of wheat on hand. The mill was built 33 years ago by the late H. P. Isaacs of Walla Walla. It was originally a 300-barrel mill, but was increased many years ago and then about two years ago it was rebuilt and the capacity increased from 500 to 600 barrels a day, and the most modern milling machinery installed. The storage capacity of the warehouse was about 650,000 bushels.

BOND CASE IS SIGNIFICANT

Columbia Irrigation Securities Held General Obligation.

Olympia, Wash.—Declaration of the supreme court in the Columbia irrigation district case that irrigation district bonds are general obligation bonds is the most important decision of its kind as affecting irrigation districts that the court has ever rendered, according to Dan A. Scott, director of conservation and development.

The court in effect found that the sale of the lands for general taxes, while relieving the land of delinquent previous irrigation taxes, does not relieve the land from continuing liability for future irrigation taxes, and that unless a weakening of the security is shown, the law in force at the time the assessment is levied should govern the form of assessment rather than the law in force when the bonds were issued.

The Ideal Irrigator

Appropriately named "The Hydro-Gun" because of the manner in which it "shoots" water.

This phenomenal pump is making it possible to irrigate by pumping with greater profit than by any other method. This is because of its extreme high efficiency and its economy in operation.

There are no valves, no stuffing box and, since the pump is always submerged in water, no priming is necessary. Thus, all the annoyances experienced in the use of other pumps has been eliminated.

Its light weight and compact construction makes it easily installed or moved from place to place
