DUNGEON IS FILLED WITH MONEY
Enormous Stock of Surplus Silver Kept in Storage Beneath the Tower of London.
Storage for a portion of the enormous surplus of silver coinage has been found in the dungeon beneath the Wakefield tower of the Tower of London, says Tit-Bits of that city. Other dungeons will probably be put to the same use.
No safer deposit in the world than the Wakefield tower could possibly be found. An armed guard of the Coldstream guards is always on duty there.
The silver hoard is inspected at frequent intervals by officials of the mint, who are guarded throughout the proceeding by armed police and "beef-eaters," while watch is kept outside by the garrison main guard.
The Wakefield tower itself contains wealth estimated at hundreds of millions. The famous jewel house is located in the tower and there are, in addition to the crown jewels, includ-

REGAINS RESPECT OF THE PEOPLE
Bigamist Returns to Work in Village Where He Was Sentenced to Prison.
New York.—Alexander Dujat of Corona, former county clerk of Queens county, who served time in Sing Sing for bigamy, has assumed his duties as harbor master at the state barge canal terminal, Long Island City.

When Dujat was released from Sing Sing on August 23, 1919, he expressed confidence in his ability to regain the esteem of those who had known him as the village blacksmith for 30 years before he became county clerk. It was on the eve of his expected re-appointment for that office that he was indicted and convicted on a charge of having married Miss Edna Marie Young of Corona.

Reedsport.—A loss of $7500 was sustained and the city of Reedsport endangered when the city meat market owned by Robert Boyer and Frank Ruhe burned at 2 A. M. Friday. The blaze started in the rear of the shop, and before water could be applied three terrific explosions of ammonia tanks spread the flames greatly, throwing sparks and endangering the lives of the fire fighters. The blaze was shooting along the wooden streets and the building had caved in before any water could be applied.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Dalles.—Wasco county's bumper crop of cherries this year will total 650 tons of Royal Annes and 400 tons of black cherries, according to estimates.

McMinnville.—L. W. Riley, president of Linfield college, who has just returned from the east, Sunday night conferred degrees upon thirty-one graduates of the college.

Eugene.—Cherry growers of Lane county have their troubles this year. The crop is short and now wild pigeons in some sections of the county, especially in the hill orchards, are devouring what few cherries are on the trees. The loss will be heavy.

Corvallis.—Fire Friday night totally destroyed a barn and contents belonging to Jarvey Bullis of this city. Five head of horses and one motor car were among the property destroyed.

Salem.—The state tax on gasoline and distillate produced a total of $115,639.82 in April, according to a statement prepared here by Sam A. Kozor, secretary of state. This exceeded the revenue from the same source for the preceding month by approximately 25 per cent.

Baker.—The first carload of ore for the Sumpter smelter, which has resumed operations, was received at the plant last week. The ore came from the Psyche mine in the Greenhorn district and was loaded on the railroad at Tipton. Another car was at Tipton ready for the smelter.

Albany.—Ten tons of strawberries were packed in barrels Friday by a crew of 50 persons in the Stenberg packing station. This sets a record for daily packs in this plant. The fruit is packed in sugar in barrels and is sent via Portland to San Francisco, where the berries are further processed.

Salem.—The state bond commission, at a special meeting held here Friday, invested approximately $131,000 of funds of the state industrial accident commission in school district bonds. The commission is composed of Governor Pierce, State Treasurer Hoff and E. E. Bragg, member of the accident commission.

The Dalles.—Accompanied by a terrific cannonading of thunder and brilliant flashes of lightning the heaviest rain fall within so short a period in years was recorded in The Dalles Saturday night. Water literally fell in sheets, the total precipitation being .7 of an inch. The previous heaviest shower during the year was .23 of an inch.

Pendleton.—Umatilla county Saturday was relieved from a sudden attack of hot weather in which the mercury reached 90 degrees, when a violent dust storm, followed by thunder, lightning, hail and rain, cooled the air. The precipitation was an eighth of an inch. The hail and heavy rain did some damage to the rank growth of wheat, which is falling every day.

Tualatin.—Boldly backing their truck up to the J. Martinazzi ranch at Tualatin at 9 o'clock Friday night, chicken thieves took 60 fine Rhode Island Red hens. Members of the family were entertaining company and piano playing with a chorus of voices gave the robbers opportunity to get the birds without being heard, although the poultry house was quite near the residence.

Grants Pass.—After selecting Hillsboro as the next convention city, the delegates to the forty-second annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic adopted a few resolutions, thanking the people of Grants Pass for their entertainment, and ended their sessions. The veterans were unanimous in their declaration that this was the best convention in recent years and adopted a resolution to that effect.

Medford.—Seven-year-old Bobby Lewis suffered minor injuries Friday in a strange accident on the sleeping porch at his home on the second floor. He was playing on his bed, diving into the mattress, circus-like. The bed springs functioned well for the first few dives but finally they bounced him so violently that he catapulted out the window for a 20-foot drop to the sidewalk, where he landed in an old baby carriage left standing there.

Reedsport.—A loss of $7500 was sustained and the city of Reedsport endangered when the city meat market owned by Robert Boyer and Frank Ruhe burned at 2 A. M. Friday. The blaze started in the rear of the shop, and before water could be applied three terrific explosions of ammonia tanks spread the flames greatly, throwing sparks and endangering the lives of the fire fighters. The blaze was shooting along the wooden streets and the building had caved in before any water could be applied.

THE SANDMAN STORY

TWO LITTLE DEWDROPS

TWO little drops of dew resting on a rosebush one morning trembled with delight as the rays of Mr. Sun came shimmering through the garden treetops.
"Ah, we shall soon be beautiful," said one; "all the colors of the lovely rainbow will soon be ours. Come, let us creep out from under this leaf where the sun can fall full upon us."
But the other little dewdrop, trembling, said: "Sister, I am afraid the sun will burn us, for its rays will grow warm, and though for a while we shall be beautiful I am sure we shall soon be destroyed.

"Let us stay under this leaf and help the rosebush to grow. I shall try to find the heart of the rose and nestle close. I am sure I shall live longer there, even if I am not as beautiful as the rays of the sun would make me."
"Oh, fie, sister, why are you so silly?" said the other dewdrop. "I'd rather be beautiful for a little while than let the rose hold me close to her heart. She will get all the credit for beauty and no one will ever know about you."

"No, I shall creep down the stem of this rose and catch the rays of the sun and all who see me will say, 'How beautiful!' when they behold me."
Down the stem rolled the vain little dewdrop and soon it was away from the protecting leaf where its sister was trembling.
Soon the warm sun found it and its wish was granted—all the beautiful colors of the rainbow now belonged to the little dewdrop and it was happy.
The other little drop nestled close to the rose leaf and soon it dropped down deep into the very heart of the opening flower and was out of sight, but it sank so deep that the rose grew sweet and a passing bee stopped to tell the rose it was the prettiest and sweetest flower in the garden.
"That is because a little dewdrop nestles in my heart, making me happy," said the rose. "This morning I had two, but one did not stay; it crept down my stem to meet the sun, so that it might grow beautiful with the rainbow colors, but the other stayed with me and I owe to it a duty for its goodness."
"I must grow beautiful and sweet for the dewdrop and myself to repay it, and if as you say, Mr. Bee, I am the prettiest and sweetest flower in the garden this morning, it is because a dewdrop nestles in my heart."
Mr. Bee buzzed away. He did not tell the rose that the little dewdrop that had rolled from under the leaf to meet the sun was no more; he knew that the little dewdrop in the heart of the rose would be sad when it learned the fate of its sister, and because it had chosen so wisely what to do that morning he wished it to be happy.

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL
Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

SARAH
SARAH—lately by fashionable consent spelled Sara—is derived from a good old Biblical name and received its right to sturdy religious significance since it first attached to the wife of the patriarch Abraham.

It is derived originally from a verb meaning to fight or to rule and the name of Abraham's spouse Sarah (quarrelsome) was thus converted into Sarah (the princess). If we may judge from the example of the bride of Tobias, the daughters of Sarah were occasionally called by her name and Zare is used as an eastern name. Similarity of sound has led etymologists to derive the term Sara, cen from the assumption that this race was descended from Sarah, but their belief is not substantiated.

Sara Beauchamp was one of the first famous women to bear the name. Sarotta de Multon, who lived much earlier, was really Sarah, given an Italian translation. Sarah was not popular in England until after the Reformation, when the contraction Sally had enormous vogue. At the same time it was adopted as an equivalent for no less than three Irish names, Sadobh, Sorcha and Saraid.

France quickly adopted Sarah, but insisted on omitting the final "h" that Biblical translation gave it, evolving from it another equally popular form—Sarotte, Sally and Sallie have greater vogue today in this country than any other derivative; in fact, they outweigh the more formal and uncompromising Sarah in a country which favors contractions and diminutives.

Sarah has never had great vogue among the poets, who have favored the more approachable Sallie and written graceful little ditties to the fluffy young person we all visualize as a typical Sallie.

Sarah's gem is the beryl, which is considered a talisman against misfortune. Ancient lore has it that the beryl has power to make its wearer unconquerable and increases amiability; it also reawakens love in married people. Saturday is Sarah's lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

YOUR HAND How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—Weaknesses or Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as a Shown in Your Palm

CARRIAGE AND MOTIONS OF THE HANDS

WHEN a person carries the hands at the side, with the fingers nearly open, and the hands dangling in a listless manner, it is safe to set him down as lacking in decision of character and in fixedness of purpose. Be careful in entrusting such a person with a secret, and also with entrusting him with the execution of any purpose upon which much depends, or on which you have set your heart.

Often the person who carries his hands as described in the foregoing paragraph is easily led, for good or evil purpose, and either cannot or will not take the trouble to wrestle with the problems of life. In money matters he will, of course, be "generous to a fault," parting easily with his substance, just as the man or woman who holds the hand closed tightly, or nearly so, will hold to what he or she has, often to the point of niggardiness. In this respect, and in mental matters also, the more open the hand is, the more liberal will be the possessor. But there is such a thing as too much liberality, as shown by the hand that is held too wide open.

Native Game Birds in Danger.

Our native species of quail, pheasant and wild turkey are fast coming to a point where, if not protected by stringent laws, they will become extinct. It is true that imported birds can be brought in from time to time, but it is also true that there is nothing quite so sweet to the ear of the seasoned gunner as the plaintive "bob-white" call of the quail of Pennsylvania or the one and only "whirr" of the native pheasant as it takes wing.

Ears in Their Feet.

A peculiarity of deaf cats is that they seem to have a very great sense of feeling in their foot-pads. It is almost an impossibility for a heavy animal to approach a deaf cat from behind without giving it warning, and this may be attributed to the extreme sensitiveness of the cat's feet recording the slightest tremor of the ground.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion.

Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, sculp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Adv.
