Clerical Irony.
An old preacher when asked by a young one the best way to teach the Ten Commandments, replied: "If your congregation is poor, teach them as commands; if middle-class, as requests; and if rich, as recommendations."—Boston Transcript.

And It Will Be Final.
"The automobile driver who depends on his horn to clear the track for him," says the old citizen of Little Lot, "one of these days will have a short argument with a railway train at a grade crossing."—Youth's Companion.

Making Iron Valuable.
Raw materials become more valuable as they go through manufacturing processes. Pig iron worth a few dollars a ton, when made into piano wire is worth $50,000, and into hair-springs, $500,000 a ton.

Distribution of Population.
There would be about nine people to the square mile if the entire population of the world were distributed equally over the earth's total surface area of about 55,255,000 square miles.

Business With Pleasure.
"There's nothing like combining business with pleasure," said the tailor's daughter as she lovingly wrecked the crease in her lover's trousers.—Penn State Froth.

Beggars Overrun New York.
New York city is known as a beggars' paradise and it is estimated that between 6,000 and 8,000 professional mendicants make that city their home. About 10 per cent are said to be women.

New England's Sunken River.
Off the coasts of Maine and New Hampshire there is a large sunken river. The former land of these regions extends for several hundred miles beneath the sea. The present rivers are the headwaters of a former stream whose channel is revealed by soundings.

Fish at Play.
Fish play games just like other creatures. It is common to see a fish in an aquarium pick up a small stone and swim about with it in its mouth. It will drop it and pick it up again. Inhabitants of the sea do the same with shells.

Handy Little Article.
They are thoroughly up-to-date out in the great wild and woolly. At any rate, we read in a western exchange: "Pistol showers for prospective brides are the latest thing in California."—Boston Transcript.

Life.
Man is miserable until he gets something that isn't good for him, and it makes him so happy that he gets down-right miserable wishing he didn't have it.

SCHOOL DAYS

Uncommon Sense By JOHN BLAKE

DEPENDENCE

SET at liberty the canary you have fed and tended in exchange for its song, and it soon starves. It has never learned to help itself.

Dumb animals go through life dreadfully handicapped by the lack of reasoning brains. Yet wild animals, thrown from birth on their own resources develop a craft that sometimes carries them to a very old age.

A lap dog, turned out to shift for itself, would not last very long. Like the canary, it has lived a life of dependence on others. All the qualities that might have enabled it to make its way have withered for want of use.

A magazine writer criticizes private schools, with justice, because they do not fit pupils for the struggle for existence. Removed from contact with the kind of people they will meet in actual life, they are often helpless when they are sent out on their own.

Young men and young women must learn very early the necessity of helping themselves.

Begin depending on some one else, and you will always depend on some one else. Begin depending on yourself and you will form a habit that with practice will insure success.

Perhaps 80 per cent of the population, even of this enlightened country, allow other people to do their thinking for them.

Editors, preachers, school teachers scatter broadcast ideas, most of them second-hand. Men and women, finding thought wearisome, accept these ideas and act on them.

Many of these ideas are good, of course. But they are really of little benefit unless they are weighed and tested before acceptance.

Learn to do your own work, and your own thinking. Get out of the cage of dependence. Form your own opinions, and act on them.

If your early years are spent leaning on others, your later years will probably be spent in the poor house. The habit of dependence is the hardest of all habits to break. It can never be broken after you are forty.

(By John Blake.)

I NEVER KNEW By GRACE E. HALL

I NEVER knew that tears could burn
Like acid, 'til they left a scar,
Nor that a heart might truly learn
To hide the deep and painful mar;
Nor that the sunshine sometimes turned
Into a fever fierce and hot,
But these at last I've learned, I've learned—
Since you forgot,
That life could seem a desert plain
Where cactus grew by crumbling walls,
The winds a breath hard-drawn in pain,
Were truths I never guessed at all;
But I've been taught by torture slow
That joy and pain and love are one,
And that the world must never know
What love has done.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS "CHEESE"

THAT'S the "cheese" is a slang expression far more common a few years ago than it is at the present time, colloquialisms having a tendency to be short-lived. But, in spite of the fact that the phrase was never formally admitted to polite society, it has an ancestry and a pedigree of which many a more pretentious word might well be proud.

Tracing it backwards, we find that in the Anglo-Saxon days the word "cheese" was spelled "cese" and pronounced almost precisely like the modern German equivalent. In Frisian it was "talse," while the Latin was "caseus" which, in Spanish, developed into "queso" and in Italian into "cacio." The Celtic languages slightly changed it into "cais" in Irish, "casse" in Gaelic and "caws" in Welsh. It will therefore be seen that the original ancestry of the word is lost somewhere in the dim passages of the early history of language—but, strange as it may seem, "That's the cheese" bears no relation to the article made from milk.

This phrase slipped into English by way of India, where many of the British soldiers picked up bits of Hindustani, among them a word derived from the Persian "chiz," meaning "a thing." In dealing with the native merchants the soldiers fell into the habit of pointing to something and saying "That's the chiz," meaning "That's what I want" and, when they returned home, they brought the saying with them.

MEN YOU MAY MARRY By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?
Symptoms: A middle-aged fascinator, just beginning to be a "bit round" at the waist, slick clothes, perfect fit and all, handsome and knows just where to "get on" and better even, knows just where to get off. Wants what he wants when he wants it. He is not a soft proposition. He has much of the world in his keeping; anyhow he makes you think so. Likes you because he thinks you like him, because you are hard to please. Nothing is too good for him.

IN FACT
He doesn't even think you are. Prescription for his bride: Never think you have enough elegancies. He likes you because he can spend on you. Keep him on the jump. Absorb this: A WOMAN'S REACH MUST EXCEED HER GRAB.

Unhurt by Five-Story Fall.
A two-year-old girl fell off the roof of a five-story building in New York. Two hours later she was sleeping it off. She climbed to the roof while her mother was busy, disregarding the frantic shouts of two small boys, and crawled too near the edge. Pedestrians rushed below. The little girl fell and bounced off an awning into the arms of a waiting rescuer, unhurt.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Redmond.—The election on the issuing of $130,000 in bonds for the completion of The Dalles-California highway and for market road construction carried in Redmond by a vote of 53 to 21.

Harrisburg.—A large stock barn and 25 tons of hay were destroyed by fire at 7 o'clock Sunday morning on the A. L. Thomas farm six miles east of Harrisburg. About $500 insurance was carried.

Dallas.—Sewer construction aggregating in cost more than $49,000 will soon be commenced in Dallas. Action was taken by the city council this week to make the improvements during the coming fall and winter.

Bend.—Although used for three years by the La Pine Redmen's lodge as a cemetery, land filed on by J. H. Sappington near La Pine is to be considered as his homestead, according to the United States land office. The Redmen will appeal the case.

Salem.—The state treasurer on October 1 will pay interest aggregating $1,300,000 on state highway and state soldier bonus bonds. The treasurer Saturday redeemed $100,000 of Bear-Barratt co-operative state and federal bonds that were issued in September, 1917.

St. Helens.—Columbia Post 42, American Legion, plans to place permanent markers on the graves of G. A. R., Spanish-American and world war veterans in the local cemeteries, and are raising a fund for this purpose. About 45 veterans are buried in the two cemeteries.

Harrisburg.—Traffic was tied up here on the Pacific highway several hours Saturday night when a large truck slipped off one end of the ferry and the rear end was left in several feet of water. The accident was due to the fact the boat had not been securely anchored.

Newport.—An issue of $132,000 of 6 per cent port bonds was sold Saturday to the Commerce Security company, represented by Merton R. DeLong, at a price of 99.27. The bonds mature serially. Their average term is 16 years. The price was the highest ever paid for port bonds here.

Salem.—Picking of prunes throughout the Willamette valley will start about September 10, according to announcement made by the growers. The crop will be large, 40-50s predominating. A large consignment of 1923 prunes recently were sold at Dallas for 7 cents. Pickers will be plentiful this year, growers said, and practically the entire crop will be saved.

Albany.—Mrs. Amanda Johnson, a former slave and a resident of Oregon for 70 years, celebrated her 90th birthday September 3. Mrs. Johnson came to Albany from Missouri, where she had served as a slave, with the family that owned her until the time of the civil war. She has been a character of Albany for 70 years and has a large circle of friends here, who helped her celebrate her birthday.

Salem.—The Southern Pacific company, according to a report filed with the Oregon public service commission Saturday, has a shortage of 472 cars, or a slight decrease in the number when compared with the report of the company filed with the commission a week ago. Of the total number of cars which the company has been unable to supply shippers 291 were classified as closed and 81 as open.

Newport.—City Marshal Daniels Sunday shot and wounded an intoxicated Grande Ronde Indian, who had attacked the officer with a knife. The Indian, weakened from loss of blood, fainted. Daniels had called on several passersby to assist him in disarming the assailant, but all refused. The Indian cut through Daniels' coat and vest. The marshal shot after the red man declined to throw down the knife.

Falls City.—More than 100 men, women and children Friday began harvesting the hops in the vicinity of Falls City. There are about 60 acres to be picked in the Foster, Smith, Barnard and Campbell yards, and picking is expected to continue from 10 to 15 days. The hops are not quite so good as last year in some of the yards, although there will be a fair crop at a good price. Pickers are receiving 60 cents a box.

Bend.—Twenty-six precincts, complete, out of 29 in Deschutes county gave a vote of 742 to 370 in favor of the $130,000 road bond issue, which was placed before the county at Friday's special election. The strength of the remaining precincts is unimportant. The Deschutes county court telegraphed the state highway commission the result of the election and asked that an immediate call for bids be made for the completion of The Dalles-California highway in this county.

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Doctor R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of Nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great remedial qualities, especially for weaknesses of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so-called "cure-alls" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all that is claimed for the Favorite Prescription as a regulator for the irregularities of women.

Damage by Forest Fires.
Most forest streams are slightly acid—a condition known to be well adapted to trout—but forest fires often cause a deposit of ash which gives the streams an alkaline quality most destructive to fish life.
