J. C. Ballenger left Wednesday on No. 17 for a business trip to Portland.

A. T. Heroin left Wednesday for Blalock, where he will be employed on the highway.

The new house of Kiltz's is being plastered this week, the plasterer from Arlington doing the work.

F. F. Kiltz is home after several months at Castle, where he has been employed on the highway.

Miss Jessie Montgomery of Hood River was a house guest at the R. Rands home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Albright were Portland visitors last week. She went down on Friday and he on Saturday. They both returned Sunday on No. 24.

Harry Murchie is here from Seaside putting plumbing in his house which is occupied by the Gorham's. He is staying at the Ballenger home while here.

All of the highway trucks and drivers left Wednesday for Salem where the trucks will be overhauled before beginning the work on the Arlington-Quenton stretch.

Jake Risley and family left Wednesday for Blalock, where the new camp is located. Mrs. Risley and son motored on to Portland for a two-weeks' visit.

Leo Root and family motored to Sawyer, Wash., a small town near Yakima, last Saturday, returning on Sunday. Mr. Root's brother, Marvin, and wife came home with them and will visit at the Root home.

Adolph Skoubo returned home Sunday after a few days' visit with his wife and three tiny daughters at Portland. We were sorry to learn of the death of the smallest of the triplets, who weighed slightly more than two pounds and whose hold on life was so slender that she drifted away last Sunday. She with her other sisters was an incubator baby.

The Odd Fellows gave a very enjoyable dance last Saturday night at the auditorium. A large crowd attended, many outsiders being present. A box supper was also held and at midnight the boxes were auctioned. For those who did not buy a box there was lunch served in the cafeteria. About $50 was cleared for the organization.

Mrs. Jack Gorham entertained the Ladies Aid on Wednesday at her home. Rev. Hughes and wife were present. Plans were made for a community dinner on Sunday, March 16, when Dr. Thompson of Portland will be present. Everyone is invited to be present. Bring your lunch and all will have a pleasant dinner together. A good program will follow the dinner. Remember the date—March 16th. The hostess served dainty refreshments at the close of the meeting.

"What I Would Do With $10,000"

The above subject was given to the English classes during a recitation last week. This came as a surprise and no time was allowed for preparation.

Of the twenty-two who wrote nearly all would spend a portion in completing their education. Some would provide for the welfare of their parents as a part of their plan, while others preferred to invest in productive enterprises or interest bearing securities.

One student would embark on a world tour preparatory to authorship. Another would do the same for pleasure only. Two chose farm investments, one an orange grove, and another a cattle ranch in Bolivia. Education, thrift and charity were the salient features and showed a proper attitude toward life on the part of the students.

There were, however, two exceptions to the general trend. One planned to be a spendthrift, and another elected to be a hobo. The latter may have intended to return to Boardman project where he might sleep under the parental roof and plant his feet under his father's dinner table. He didn't say.

To nine happy school terms I'll say au revoir;
For I am now a Sophomore.
It's study and study from morning till night,
And if when I get to class things are not just right—
Mr. Mulkey will scold, Miss Marvin will frown;
And then Mrs. Crowder will call us all down.
Oh well, there are things worse, as a rule
Than being a Sophomore in the Boardman High School.

—MILDRED DUNCAN

This week ended the sixth month of school so the seventh and eighth grades took an inventory of their knowledge by taking tests in nearly all subjects. Some found their stock a little low. A good remedy would be more home study.

The mayor and city council and citizens of the town have been observed doing some work at street and yard cleaning which shows a commendable spirit. Some effort has been made on the street leading to the school, and the school may well show its appreciation by helping to keep that street clean and free from refuse.
Spring seems to be with us and nature is preparing to don her beauty clothes. Let us add our bit and help her with a touch of civic pride.

Through the kindness of Mr. Davis who has charge of Boardman depot the high school has a calendar issued by the Union Pacific system. Many thanks.

Howard Packard of the sophomore class has been absent from school a few days on account of an attack of the flu.

Book Report On The Americanization of Edward Bok

The setting of this book is principally in New York and Philadelphia although Bok's travels take him in many other places in the world. His life story starts in 1863 and leads up to 1920.

A brief summary of Edward Bok's life is given below.

1863 Born in Hedler, Netherlands. 1870 September 20, arrived in the United States.

1879 Entered public school in Brooklyn.

1873 Obtained first position in a bakery at 50 cents a week.

1876 Entered employ of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

1882 Entered employ of Henry Holt & Co., as stenographer.

1884 Entered employ of, Charles Scribner and Sons.

1884 Became editor of the Brooklyn magazine.

1886 Founded the Bok Syndicate press.

1889 Became editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

1896 October 20. Married Mary Louise Curtis.

1897 September 7. Son born. William Curtis Bok.

1905 January 5. Son born. Cary William Bok.

1911 Founded the Child Federation of Philadelphia.

1918 August - November. Visited the battle fronts of France as guest of the British government.

1919 Relinquished editorship of The Ladies' Home Journal.

1920 Published The Americanization of Edward Bok.

The main character of the story is Edward Bok, who tells of his Americanization from birth to the present time. He seems to be an ambitious and hard-working man, striving to help the public as well as himself. He had a good hobby to idolize great men, and to strive to emulate their virtues.

In writing this story Bok wrote in the third person and used exceptionally good English. He used moderately long words and descriptive sentences that are easy to understand. I think this is a good book for young people to read if they read it closely and copy the good points for their own life.

IRRIGON TOWN AND SCHOOL NEWS

During Brother Mumau's absence Sunday evening, the pulpit was filled by Rev. Pond, the presiding elder.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Lewis of Arlington, spent Sunday visiting with Mrs. Lewis' father, Mr. Hendricks at Irrigon. Mrs. Lewis is a former student of the Irrigon high school.

The basketball game Saturday night between Umatilla and Irrigon was won by the former with a score of 38 to 19.

The measles are quite prevalent in this community. There is less than a 50 per cent attendance in school as a result of their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chatterton returned to their home in Portland.

Mr. Percy Wilson and family have moved to Herrmiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Jordan of Umatilla spent Sunday at the Knight home.

Owing to the number of cases of measles in the community and the absences of children, it is impossible to give the Washington exercises on Thursday evening as originally planned.

This will be given at some future date, when the pupils have returned to school. The date will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Sturgill, Miss Dora Reeves and Mr. Harry Duckworth attended the debate at Hermiston Saturday evening. Mr. Sturgill was one of the judges. The affirmative, represented by Hermiston, won an unanimous decision. The negative team, represented by Fossil, made a splendid argument, but was a little weak on rebuttal and effectiveness.

Miss Powell, the primary teacher, was called to Hermiston on business Wednesday. Mrs. Winifred Seaman, from the high school, took charge of her room during her absence.

Miss Marthaier, of the intermediate room, left for a visit with her home folks on Thursday.

Mark Roberston and family, took dinner Sunday with Superintendent Sturgill and family.

Walt—"Earl, you were born to be a writer."

Earl—"How's that?"

Walt—"You have a splendid ear for carrying a pencil."

She—"You never think about your footwear, do you?"

Walt—"No, that's the farthest thing from my head."

Mike—"Have you ever talked to any other other girl this way?"

Vernon S.—"No, I'm at my best tonight."

Ole—"Alas! Alas! I am undone!"

Mac—"Sall right sister, it don't show."
