Dale, Ted and Marjorie Albright have moved with their parents to Portland, where they will enter school. They will be missed by their classmates and teachers.

The school children from the sixth grade down, finished planting trees on the section of the highway between Boardman and Peters. This work was done under the direction of the highway department with Mr. Boardman, and Mr. Chaffee supervising and Arthur Mefford as truck driver.

Dear Friends:
We would like to have you come to our operetta, "The Gypsies' Festival," on Friday, April 25, 1924. We think you would enjoy it. The admission is 25 cents and 10 cents. This money will be used to buy music books.

Third and Fourth Grades.
Prof. E. F. Carleton, who represents the extension department of the University of Oregon, visited here last Tuesday. Mr. Carleton was deputy state school superintendent for several years and is a veteran school man. While here he partook of noon luncheon in the cafeteria, and during the afternoon gave a talk to an assembly of high school and seventh and eighth grade students, and teachers.

The speaker dwelt mainly on the question of what to do after leaving high school, but first explained what one should do while yet in high school in the way of preparation. This consisted of doing the work well and in making a definite choice of a career in life's work.

He also stated that the reason so many students failed in college is that they do not plan out definitely what course they will pursue, and find they are not suited to the work attempted, fail, lose time, money and return home discouraged.

Mr. Carleton mentioned three things to be kept in mind. They are as follows:

- 1—Being prepared.
- 2—Good character.
- 3—Good attitude toward work.

Without these no one can progress. Another interesting feature of the address was that Oregon ranks second in proportion to population in the number of 8th grade pupils who enter high school and first in number of high school students who enter college.

"Things Which Make the Best High School Student"

The first and most important thing which makes the best high school student is to have a good attitude toward your work and the rest will come, easy.

When you start to do a thing, do it or "bust;" never give up till the job is finished.

A high school boy or girl should take a good attitude toward all athletics and help the school out by contributing to all its works or causes.

One should take all things good-naturedly, such as the initiation into

Mrs. C. G. Blayden's home with eight in attendance because of the severity of old Boreas, who howled and whistled till it was almost difficult to keep one's footing out of doors. Plans were completed for the Annual Roll Call meeting to be held the afternoon of May 7. Everyone is especially urged to be present. The ladies of the Umatilla Aid will be guests at this time. Cake and coffee will be served.

Mrs. Blayden served a delicious and unusual lunch, consisting of hot biscuits with jelly and marguerites with appropriate candy Easter eggs on them and most appetizing spring radishes raised in the Blayden garden. Next meeting May 7th at the church.

It is with the keenest regret that we learn that Professor and Mrs. Mulkey do not plan to return to Boardman next year and we are all hoping most sincerely that they will reconsider and decide to remain. Mr. Mulkey has made good here. He and his wife with the cooperation of the corps of teachers have built up a splendid school which, we feel safe in saying, can not be excelled, possibly not equaled any place considering the size. They have worked hard but have more than succeeded. Last year Mrs. Mulkey brought her eighth grade class through 100 per cent—not one failure in the entire class. The school children the past high school, which is sometimes a little rough.

Another thing, a person should always pay his student body dues on time as it is likely to lose valuable time on the account of the students trying to think of some suitable thing to do with or punish such a person.

One should always pay most strict attention to all things which the teachers or instructors say as it is generally of importance in understanding some of the work.

Last Tuesday Miss Marvin gave us all quite a surprise by wearing a wedding ring to school. She has been married ever since February 23, and now we must address her as Mrs. Degendorfer. We all knew because she has been so good-natured lately, that something nice had happened to please her.

Miss Sears and Miss Marvin visited with friends in Condon and Fossil Saturday and Sunday. Miss Wolff and Miss Hixson journeyed by train to The Dalles for a brief outing.

Ray Dempsey has been out of school this week. It is reported that he got his jaw cracked in the boxing match Saturday night.

Francis Gilbert is out of school this week.

Those having all their book reports in, in the first and second English classes are: Erma Broyles, Mildred Duncan, Katherine Brown, Catherine Berger.

When Hardware Was the Style
Squire—"Did you send for me, my lord?"

Lancelot—"Yes, make haste, bring me a can opener. I've got a flea in my knight clothes."

Father—"Well son, did you get up nerve enough to take a girl home from church?"

Son—"Y-yes."

Father—"Who?"

Son—"I thought it was Bess, but she went in at Maggie's."

Father—"But couldn't you tell by her voice?"

Son—"B-b-but neither of us talked."

Howard—"Caesar must have been an awful strong man."

Mildred—"What makes you think so?"

Howard—"This book says he pitched his camp across the river."

A Wish Gratified

For hours they had been together on her front porch. The moon cast its tender gleam down on the young and handsome couple who sat strangely far apart. He sighed. She sighed. Finally: "I wish I had money, dear," he said. "I'd travel." Impulsively she slipped her hand into his. Then rising swiftly she sped into the house. Aghast he looked at his hand. In his palm was a nickel.

IRRIGON NEWS ITEMS

The freeze Monday morning did more damage than all the other cold spells this spring. Apples have been quite hard hit, strawberries, cherries, and apricots thinned out considerably. However, we find other places had even heavier frost and more or less damage everywhere.

Sam Shell of Boardman, was in Irrigon Wednesday evening to assist in the organization work of the Grange. We should be pretty well equipped now to handle questions of general interest, having a well organized farm bureau with big membership and a grange working along the same lines.

The rabbit poisoning campaign was pulled off Sunday as scheduled. Considerably greater number of farmers came in after poison sticks than was first figured on and the south bank of the main canal was covered for miles both east and west of Irrigon, also many other districts where the rabbits have showed up in great numbers. J. E. McCoy reports having counted 18 dead rabbits around one stick without getting out of the railroad right of way. At this rate probably ten or fifteen thousands rabbits have been killed in the past four days within an area of six miles of Irrigon. This work should be continued while they eat the salt-flour paste on the cedar sticks so readily. In former years it was found that the rabbits did not take this bait much after the first of June, but go after it best at this time. County Agent Morse was on the job to assist in the preparation of the paste and went over the grounds with Rodent Control Chairman Arthur Vergins.

HOME IMPROVEMENT WAVE

HITS SUMMIT COMMUNITY

Farm home improvements—private water, sewage and electric lighting system—are going or have gone into some score of homes in the little Summit community of Benton county, Oregon.

"The people there seem to appreciate that they live only once and cannot take their earthly possessions with them when they leave this world," reports George W. Kable, agricultural engineer for the state college extension service. "Many of the farmers already have their own electric light plants, running water, bathrooms and other modern necessities."

Improvements now in contemplation will not cost a great deal of money, installed after plans supplied by the college. Farmers are not depicted as having more cash than farmers in other parts of the valley, but the important thing is that they have the idea.

In speaking of the value of their improvements one woman said the running water in the house cuts the work in two, and another said that "we would not be making half so many trips to the hospital if we had it." New improvements under consideration with the college are listed as follows:

Septic tanks for sewage disposal—F. A. Reynolds, J. A. Botger, J. A. Stenback, John Strouts and Wiley Plunkett; water systems—F. L. Cone, John Messick, F. L. Pettit, Rev. Phelps and Mr. Plunkett. Mr. Reynolds is also studying the possibilities of a small stream for generating farm electricity.

The housewives of the district are studying their problems with the help of Eva Comegys, home demonstration agent. Community meetings are held and about the entire community turns out to report progress and get further assistance.

Political Notice

To the Republican voters of Morrow county: I hereby announce that I will be a candidate for the nomination of County Clerk at the Primary Election to be held May 16, 1924.

GAY M. ANDERSON, (Incumbent).

Dry lime-sulfur dissolved in water is a convenient substitute for commercial liquid lime sulfur the Oregon station reports. It is somewhat more expensive to apply than lime-sulfur solution of equivalent strength. However, it is commendable itself to those who cannot readily obtain the liquid lime-sulfur or who have to haul it a long distance. The excellent quality of some of the dry lime sulfur on the market is leading to an increased use of this material among commercial growers.
