DESOLATE ORPHAN BECOMES CHILD PRODIGY

AZADOUGH PACHALIAN

"Do all the little girls in Armenia dress like you Zadi?" "Oh, my! no, you ought to see how many clothes we don't have." This conversation in a Portland office is typical of the quick wit and ready response of Azadoughi Pachalian, who was brought to America by her foster mother, Mrs. Pearl R. Gannaway, formerly of Medford and Seattle.

"Little Azadoughi is no more lovable nor brighter than the majority of the 8,500 children over whom Dr. Gannaway has medical oversight in Beirut, Syria," states Mrs. Gannaway. "It was her utter helplessness during the six months we fought so hard for her life that endeared her to us so that we felt we could not give her up and I brought her to America to adopt her." In Judge Tallman's court in Seattle the adoption was carried out while she, four and a half years old, solemnly raised her hand and declared, "I adopt you as my mamma."

Azadoughi was the first and only child of a young couple of education and refinement and was born shortly after the armistice was signed and because it was thought that freedom had come she was named Azadoughi (daughter of freedom). But the close of the war did not bring peace to the Near East and during the last three years more than a million people have been rendered homeless.

Many of these who are now homeless refugees were three years ago living in modern, steam-heated homes and were sending their children to foreign countries for an education. Azadoughi and her parents were among those exiled. The father was driven into the Turkish army where he was killed. Azadoughi and her mother wandered in the woods from the time she was nine months old until she was a year old when both mother and child were suffering from measles, pneumonia and dysentery.

They found refuge in a Near East hospital only to be discovered by the Turks, who two days later drove the mother out to die. Why they left the baby no one knows. Then began the longest and hardest fight of Dr. Gannaway's long medical career. The result speaks for itself in this happy, bonny girl, who in a test made at Cheney Normal School, showed a mentality of eight years at the age of four and a half.

"There are thousands of children with all of Azadoughi's capabilities, homeless in Greek and Syrian refugee camps today. They are beyond the reach of the Near East Relief simply because present funds are exhausted when we have cared for the fifty thousand children already in our care. Recently a bereaved mother gave me $50 to guarantee the care for a year of a child such as Azadoughi. Her love now flows out to a child somewhere in the Near East," states J. J. Handaker, Regional Director of Near East Relief.

The Near East Relief offices are at 339 Burke Bldg., Seattle and 613 Stock Exchange, Portland.

Breaks World Record

Capt. Joseph Jackson, United States marine corps, and a member of the Pan-American rifle team, broke a world record, scoring 100 consecutive cartons and 900 points, in the Pan-American master riflemen's match. His score beat by 4 cartons the record made by Captain Richard at Camp Perry in 1913. At a distance of 328 yards Captain Jackson placed 100 consecutive shots in a 16-inch circle, only 4 of the shots being out of the 12-inch circle.

PHOTOGRAPHS CROSS OCEAN BY WIRELESS

Test From England to America With Simple Apparatus Is Success.

London. — What was declared to have been the first demonstration in sending photographs by wireless from England to the United States was given at Radio House Sunday afternoon. A new system developed by R. H. Ranger of the engineering department of the Radio Corporation of America was used.

Sixteen photographs were transmitted in eight hours and were received in New York.

The photographs broadcast were of Frank B. Kellogg, the American ambassador; the prince of Wales; Premier Baldwin; Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary; Queen Mary, Dowager Queen Alexandra and late news pictures taken in London.

A wireless message was received from New York saying the pictures were coming beautifully and that the next thing which would be accomplished by radio would be the sending of moving pictures.

LOCOMOTIVE MEN GET WAGE INCREASE

Chicago.—Engineers and firemen on 43 western railroads were granted a wage increase approximating 5 per cent in a decision handed down by the United States railway labor board.

The decision, in addition to fixing the wage schedules, also settles a number of rules in dispute and left others to be settled in later conferences.

Included in the roads affected by the decision is the Southern Pacific, where engineers and firemen were reported having taken strike ballots last week.

The increase was made retroactive to September 1, giving the workers the benefit of three months' back pay.

Approximately 75,000 men were affected by the wage increase, which is practically the same as that given workers on the eastern and southern lines when the New York Central began its movement to meet demands of the men.

MUTINEERS SURRENDER

Survivors of Sudanese Revolt Give Up to British Troops.

Cairo, Egypt.—The surviving mutineers at Khartoum have given in to the British, it was officially announced here.

The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the 11th Sudanese, and the mutineers who survived surrendered after a bombardment of the compound of the Egyptian army hospital. Two British officers were killed and eight men wounded.

All the air and land forces of the British army in Egypt made a demonstration in force throughout the country as a sequel to a mutiny of two platoons of Sudanese troops which was put down with British guns.

Plainly, the free exhibition of armed troops and whirling airplanes was a warning to the natives to undertake no more such uprisings in protest to British policy, resulting from the murder of Sir Lee Stack, sirdar of the Egyptian armies and Sudan's governor general.

U. S. Army on Cash Basis.

Washington, D. C. — The United States army now does business on a cash basis. Brigadier-General Kenzie W. Walker, chief of finance and budget officer of the army, in his annual report to the secretary of war, reveals that for the first time in history the United States army is paying its accounts as they fall due and thereby avoiding a great deal of the "red tape" customary in government financial affairs.

James Murray, Chicago politician, received a similar sentence.

68TH CONGRESS IN FINAL SESSION

Several Important General Bills Are on Calendar Awaiting Disposition.

Washington, D. C.—With the breach between the regular and insurgent republican organizations still further widened, the 68th congress, which already has established a record as the most turbulent in the nation's history, reconvened Monday for its short and final session.

In the three months intervening before March 4, efforts will be made to put through some important general legislation in addition to the annual appropriation bills, but with little apparent prospect of success.

Hanging over the session that ended last June are many bills that must be taken upon the floor for consideration. Coupled with these are other bills, practically completed in committee, but not reported. In the closing months of the session numerous investigations were ordered. Many of these gained momentum during the summer recess, and the report of their work must be crowded into the house legislative program.

The supply bills, making available the money to carry on the government's machinery for the next fiscal year, probably will be acted upon first.

Standing at the top of all business remaining from the last session is the Howell-Barkley bill to abolish the railroad labor board.

Both the republican and democratic leaders in the senate declared they looked for little affirmative action other than the disposition of the supply bills. Senator Curtis of Kansas, the newly elected majority leader, said he hoped to have the senate take up general bills now on the calendar in such order as the steering committee may decide.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS BARS INSURGENTS

Washington, D. C.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin and three of his principal supporters in the senate practically were read out of the republican party at a conference of senate republicans.

The other three were Senators Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd.

Charles Curtis, senior senator from Kansas, was selected successor to the late Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts as the republican leader in the senate.

The conference adopted a resolution by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania under which Senators La Follette, Ladd and Frazier of North Dakota and Brookhart of Iowa will no longer be given republican places on senate committees or invited to attend future party conferences.

The resolution, offered by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, was vigorously opposed in the conference by Senators Cummins of Iowa, Howell of Nebraska and Harrell of Oklahoma. Its adoption also brought strong statements of disapproval from Senator Borah of Idaho and Senator Norris of Nebraska, who is one of the insurgent leaders. Neither of these senators attended the conference.

TO AID GERMAN RAILROADS

$15,000,000 Credit Placed by American and British Bankers.

New York.—First steps in financing Germany's railways, as reconstituted under the Dawes plan, were taken by the American and British bankers, who placed a credit of $15,000,000 at the disposal of the German State Railway company.

Organized in accordance with the Dawes plan to take over the operation of German railroads under private management, the German State Railway company constitutes what is said to be the largest railway system in the world, having 33,000 miles of road.

The original cost of the system, extending into every part of Germany, was $6,200,000,000. Present capitalization consists of $3,095,000,000 common stock issued to the German government or the German states, and $2,820,000,000 first mortgage repurchase bonds, guaranteed by the German government, which have been issued to a trustee appointed by the reparations commission.

Egypt Protests to League of Nations.

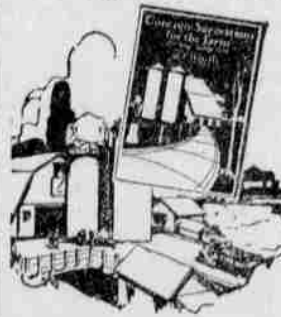

Geneva.—The league of nations received a protest from the Egyptian senate, condemning Great Britain's recent action in Egypt. The document was couched in terms similar to the protest received from the Egyptian chamber of deputies, characterizing the British demands for satisfaction for the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, the sirdar, as executive and iniquitous.

"HARD SHELL"

With all due respect to members of the Baptist church, it can be proved that they are somewhat "crabby" about their religion. Most of them are proud to be known as "hard-shell Baptists." The reference is to the "hard-shell crab," which has not molted recently and thus is known by its tough shell in distinction to the "soft-shelled crab," which is minus the advantages of a thick jacket. The term thus has come to stand for that which is unyielding.

Washington, D. C.—The interior department has returned to the treasury $25,128,786 of the department's 1924 appropriation. Secretary Work announced, representing a saving of $25,157,139 by the pension bureau alone in dropping 14,717 pensioners from the rolls.
