Is it the Town or You?

There are some folks who live in the best town in the world, who enjoy a good business, own a fine home, are blessed with friendships, in fact have everything that makes life worth while. Yet these folks live to themselves as far as their town is concerned. They never start anything that is going to help the town or the people in it, unless they can see a dollar ahead for themselves. They are not public spirited, take no part in the up-building of the community life as a whole. Their sole enjoyment seems to be to amass dollars, which serve no purpose except eventually buy them a fine tombstone. These kind of folks are not the ones who are building America today, they are the ones who are holding America back and injecting into the public life that spent of cheerlessness.

Then there are those folks whom life may not be treating so well, business may be hard, but they are still of the cheerful spirit. There is always a better day ahead for them. These folks are found honestly working in every move that means betterment for community and mankind. Whether they make a dollar or lose a dollar isn't the thing that matters, it is working for the ultimate end of good that counts with them. Honesty to themselves and to their fellowmen is the first aim with them. These are the kind of men who lead in the things worth while. They are the folks who are building America and Americans. They are the kind who will lie under a humble wooden cross, but whose work will live after them in the future generations. Their grave will be the hollowed shrine. The other tomb stone bought with the emased dollar will rise cold and cheerless over him for whom the world holds no memory.

For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, And lose his soul.

Eastern Oregon is one of the West's greatest, productive "little empires." Grain, hay, cattle, sheep, hogs, dairying, fruit orchards, almost everything in the agricultural line. Fortunately indeed are those who live in this little empire. It's a place a man is glad to call home sweet home.

Fish Beg Farmers To Be Caught

Some of the Boardman farmers have been reveling in piscatorial luxuries recently, having fish at their very doorstep, so to speak. Now this may sound fishy, but we can verify the statement. Trout 10 inches long or longer have been caught in the alfalfa fields lately and not with hook and line nor flies or worms. One could scarcely be "pinched" for fishing without a license if the fish swam down to your back door begging to be caught. One man caught a 9 pound salmon, and not in the river but in the vicinity of his home.

GIVE US THE NEWS

The other day a kind lady met the Editor on the street, and, almost with tears in her eyes, remarked that she had had company during the week, and that not one word had been said about it in the paper. Just as kindly as he could, the newspaper man asked the lady if she had told the reporter or anyone on the newspaper staff. As he expected, she said that she had not. She went on to say that it was the newspaper's business to get the news.

There the whole problem is for you in a nutshell. If you don't tell us the news, how are we going to find it out? We have a reporter. When you see her going down the street and you happen to have had a visitor during the week, don't be afraid to tell about it. Pipe right up and tell it. If it doesn't interest you particularly, it might interest your next door neighbor. They probably have been wondering for a week who was the guest in your home. Satisfy the other fellow's curiosity, by letting it come out in the Bulletin, but for the most important reason of all, boost your town paper. Give us the news. Don't crab if some thing comes out in print that you didn't want there. If it the truth let it go at that. Don't hang crepe on your front door because you expected something to be in the paper and it wasn't. If you knew all about it and didn't tell the folks at the office, it is no one's fault but your own.

After all, folks, it is the news we want. If you haven't the time to make a special trip to tell us, call us on the phone 173, or drop us a line through the post office. We must insist that you sign your name, so we will know who is responsible for the story, although these names will not be printed unless so requested.
