GREAT DOUBLE BILL AT VINING

The show billed as "the last show" at the Ashland Opera House recently was the greatest hit of the season. The show was presented by an unknown troupe, which is said to be coming to town next week. The show was advertised as "the last show" in town, but the company returned for another engagement.

DEATH THAT TOU DIGHT NESS

The death of Mr. J. H. Davis, the prominent businessman, was announced in the announcement of the house. Mr. Davis was a prominent figure in the Ashland business world, and his death is deeply regretted. The family will be at their home for a short time, and the funeral will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday.
