Mr. and Mrs. William Forbes and son, who passed through here this summer on their way to National City, Calif., from their home in Lynden, Wash., are back again and are stopping in the city looking up a location with a view to remaining permanently. While here in the summer the Forbes family were much pleased with the attractions Ashland had to offer, but had made up their minds to go to California for the winter at least. After continuing their trip and remaining in the southern state for several months the charms of Ashland drew them back, and they will in all probability become settled residents here.

Fred Herrin and Sprat Wells went over to the Klamath river yesterday and came back with an awful jag—of whalin' big fish. The Klamath is teeming with jack salmon—the biggest run known for years. Sprat gave the writer a big fat one. He said he caught it with a hook. We have our doubts. We hear the boys are throwing them out with pitchforks over there. They brought back about five hundred pounds.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT AGAIN IN SESSION

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Parliament re-assembled today after a two months vacation, and the opposing parties lined up for a strenuous fall session. Questioners were busy early and the occupants of the government "Front Bench" had a lively time at the hands of members who were chiefly interested in the result of the government's "economy campaign," the North Russian war and Premier Lloyd George's Irish trade and labor policies.

The Irish question was on the list for an early government statement Lloyd George having promised a new home rule bill this session, and in any event some action must be taken soon, otherwise the 1914 bill becomes law six months after the conclusion of peace. Definite action with reference to the coal industry is also imperative, and a fresh statement on the cabinets trade policy is due.

National expenditure questions were expected to bring Chancellor of the Exchequer Austen Chamberlain into the limelight; members being uneasy over unofficial reports that the much-vaunted government economies had only resulted in an annual saving of from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000, which on a daily expenditure of $10,000,000 in excess of revenue was paid to be inadequate.

Speaker J. W. Lowther took the chair in the House of Commons at 2:45 p. m.

WELL KNOWN LADY DIED YESTERDAY

Mrs. Permelia Culy, wife of G. C. Culy, died at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home on Mountain avenue after an illness lasting four and one half weeks. Last week her condition became so serious that her children were summoned and all were at her bedside when the end came. Mrs. Culy was 59 years of age and was a native of Nebraska, but had lived in Ashland for the past ten years. Funeral services will be held tomorrow, Friday, afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Dodge undertaking parlors and will be conducted by the Christian Science reader. Interment will take place in Mountain View cemetery. The deceased is survived by her husband, G. C. Culy, five sons and three daughters. These are G. A. Culy, C. W. Culy, N. C. Culy, A. B. Culy, F. O. Culy, Mrs. Fred Owen, Misses Nellie and Mildred Culy. She is also survived by four sisters, Mrs. Loosley, Mrs. Drake, Mrs. Knighton and Mrs. Ball, and three brothers, Willis, R. B. and Nicholas Baughn.

Writer Offers Aid in Farm Advertising

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis.—A short course on using the home newspaper to sell surplus farm produce will be offered farmers' week at the college, December 29-January 3, by C. J. McIntosh, farmer, farm writer and newspaper man.

"I have known farmers to pay a local commission man $50 to sell 100 tons of alfalfa at $20 a ton, when they could have sold it by paying the editor a dollar," said Mr. McIntosh in announcing the course. "They could then have kept the extra $49, credited it to the buyer or split it with him. I asked why not advertise and sell direct, and they said, 'Why, I never thought of it.'"

"Not only the advantage but the method of using the home paper will be considered. The success of the advertisement depends on the facts selected for announcement, the form in which they are stated, and the reputation of the advertiser. All of these—except the last—will be explained and so far as possible demonstrated.

Specimen advertisements that have been business-getters with results are wanted for this course. Using the home press is not only profitable business but sound public policy as well, Mr. McIntosh asserts. These papers help farm production by running many a farm story that enables the farmer to increase or protect his crops, and are fairly entitled to a share of the paid news matter—advertising.

Editors generally like to run as news items farm stories of unusual yield, odd and interesting farm happenings and community enterprises, and the course will show how this matter may be handled to mutual advantage.
