TEACHER FINDS IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE
 Without the least intention of advertising her prowess as a hunter, Miss Kathryn Miller, who gained some prominence a few weeks ago by shooting a coyote while at Pilot Rock south of Ashland where she was teaching school in the fall, has received returns from the story of her hunting episode.

Recently Miss Miller received a letter from the manager of the Pacific Extension Institute of Portland in which he stated that he had read the account of her experience in the Siskiyou mountains as the premier tamer of wild animals, as well as her efficiency in "teaching the young idea how to shoot." He also had noted that she had had experience in different parts of the country, and the spirit of adventure and leadership seemed natural to her. These attributes had led him to make the offer to travel and introduce a new shorthand system in this and different countries, possibly. He stated that the salary would be more remunerative than teaching the Pilot Rock school.

Miss Miller returned last summer from Honolulu where she had been engaged in teaching for the past five years, and is particularly fitted for this work. Her tact in meeting and understanding people as portrayed in the newspaper article has led to the recognition of her merits and gained for her this offer.

Two features resulted in making this past year such a good one for the Fruit association. These were the abundance of fruit and the good prices it obtained. Manager Briggs

Fruit Association Has Best Year in History

A splendid representation of the stockholders of the Ashland Fruit & Produce association gathered at the annual meeting in the city hall Saturday afternoon. One of the principal reasons for this attendance and their resulting good humor was due to the fact that Manager A. C. Briggs had given out that he would have some particularly good news to offer them in his annual report. This was revealed when the report showed that this organization had turned out $150,000 worth of business during the past year, which closed the best year in the point of fruit shipments and results in dollars and cents to the association in its history.

The first feature of the meeting Saturday afternoon was the ratification of the purchase of the White Sulphur hotel, the old building adjoining the site of the Fruit & Produce building on Ash street. This building has long stood vacant and the lot on which it stands is the only available piece of property which the association can obtain for the expansion of their plant. The association feels it is extremely fortunate in securing this property, as they will need it to eventually enlarge their growing business.

Three new directors were to be elected for the coming year, and this was disposed of by the re-election of the three retiring members who served on the board last year. These are John H. Dill, S. A. Peters and J. M. Wagner. The full board now stands as formerly with the two directors held over, who are J. H. Sander and S. J. Evans.

The manager then read his annual report of the business of the association for the past year, which is as follows:

WINE SHIPMENT SEIZED AT WEED
 (Special to The Tidings.)
 WEED, Jan. 12.—One hundred cases of table claret, two barrels of sherry and two barrels of port are tied up in the Wells-Fargo express office at Weed, pending developments in the enforcement of the internal revenue rulings. The wines were shipped by a San Francisco wholesaler, consigned to E. DeBon, Weed saloon man, and are valued at $2000. Seizure was made by A. B. Foley, superintendent of internal revenue for the Sacramento district, and E. A. Holman, a deputy of Redding.

POINCARÉ HAS HOUSE LOOKED ON AS HERO

(By the United Press)
 PARIS.—(By Mail.)—President Poincaré has just demonstrated to the satisfaction of every Frenchman that he is the greatest man that modern France has produced.

This is not due to the mere fact that at middle age he has attained every honor which the French nation has to offer such as being deputy, minister, prime minister, one of the "forty immortals" of the French republic, but to something far greater and far more important.

It is due to the sublime, almost incredible fact that M. Poincaré has found a house.

In the present crisis of flats and apartments in Paris, anyone who can succeed in landing one is looked upon by the remainder of the houseless Parisians as a being endowed with the genius of the gods.

In succeeding in finding a house, M. Poincaré has incidentally put France out of an awful lot of misery because it looked very much for a time as though upon President Poincaré's departure from the Elysee Palace next month he might either have to take a hall bedroom in some hotel, provided he could get one, or else camp out in the Champs Elysees. Preceding the war Poincaré possessed three homes in France, in addition to his right to occupy the Elysee Palace during his seven years term as president. Unfortunately all three of these houses were within the war zone.
