If you have gotten tired of showing people the house you live in. If you are worrying about getting notice that the place is sold and you must move. If you have been disappointed running down "Owners' ad," "saerifice, no commission," etc., and if you are in the notion of cutting out the "rent cancer" come to this office and let us show you some combinations of real bargains, properties owned by people who have cause to want to sell real badly, and will do it, not the properties that are owned by the man who sells anything "if I get my price," but prop-who wish to sell and any inquiries for places such as yours should be answered. Most of these are from people with whom the Commercial Club has been in correspondence for some time and are the "livest" pros-are interested are requested to write

From H. E. Elliott, 312 Florence St., Turlock, Calif. "I would like to know something about your locality.
Have you a good high school and library? Is there fishing and hunting nearby. I have lived here several years and long for more beautiful scenery. Is there an opportunity there for small farming and chicken raising? Can houses be rented in your town?"

(Request for literature, etc.
Would suggest sending prices of small places suitable for chicken raising, etc., and rentals.)
From W. H. Reynolds, General Delivery, Orland, Calif. "Will you please send me some information concerning prices of land and crops raised in your vicinity. Forty or twenty acres, improved, irrigated farm, mostly all in alfalfa, is what I want.

"If you can't give me this information kindly hand this letter to a real estate man. I came here from Idaho looking for land but have not found just what I want.
"I like the looks of your section as I saw it from the train."

as he describes.)

The committee in charge of the program to be given at the Honor Roll exercises in the Chautauqua building next Sunday afternoon have it virtually arranged. Hon. E. V.
Carter will give the leading address.
He will be preceded by Rev. P. K.

president of the American Legion, will make the opening remarks. Rev.
C. A. Edwards will read the honor roll. An orchestra will furnish music, as well as the Ashland high seilles hymn, and other interesting numbers will be presented. Rev. C.

F. Koehler will give the benediction.

All ex-service men are urgently asked to present themselves and join in the section reserved for them.
The committee in charge of arrangements has tried to send an invitation to all to be present, but the addresses of all was not known and it is hoped those qualified will join his comrades whether he has a card or not. The exercises are absolutely free to everyone, and the entire population of Ashland and vicinity is urged to attend. No special invitation will be given.

Nine ex-service men, four from the navy and five soldiers, in uniform under Lieutenant Donald Spencer will serve as ushers. Appropriate souvenir programs will be presented to each person at the door.

The leading feature of these exercises will be their briefness. They
