State Highway Engineer Herbert Nunn, who recently made a trip by automobile from Medford to Salem, states that there is less than five miles of bad roads on the Pacific highway over the entire way. While Mr. Nunn would not advise tourists they can make the trip through in comfort, he says the journey can be made with comparative ease. By fall Mr. Nunn says, the entire road will be improved and easily and quickly made passable. Already many tourists are on the highway, according to Mr. Nunn.

HEALTH RULES FOR CHILDREN

Health rules have been formulated by the extension service of the Connecticut agricultural college in the form of a game for children.

It is called "Guides" to health, growth and strength of school children." and its rules are printed on a card that may be hung on the wall of the child's room at home.

It is certain to develop boys and girls into strong men and women if rigidly followed.

Here are the rules: "Drink at least one pint of milk every day.

"Eat fresh or dried fruit every day.

"Eat some vegetable dish every day (spinich or other greens frequently.)

"Eat cereal with milk for breakfast.

"Drink milk or cocoa—never tea or coffee.

"Learn to like whole wheat and oatmeal bread.

"Drink at least four glasses of water every day (one glass before breakfast.)"

All of these rules have to do with the diet, so five other rules called "health rules" are included in the game. They are: "A full bath oftener than once a week.

"Brush teeth at least once every day.

"Sleep long hours with the windows open.

"Play part of every morning out of doors."

The outing of the Von Kapp revolutionists has no means brought order out of chaos, today's dispatches indicated. Radical socialists and workmen have taken advantage of their position to demand a reorganization of the government, with the participation of the laboring classes and labor legislation before Ebert resumes his office in Berlin.

Noske is already reported to control the Berlin troops, the dispatch said. Another dispatch said Noske had resigned.

Pennsylvania led the nation in 1919 in the total mileage of contracts for road construction.

Grace and Beauty by Priscilla Dean

Care of the Complexion It is easier to ruin a good complexion than it is to remedy defects and improve a complexion that is not good. Often one application of the mis-use of one's face in attempting to conform to vague and misleading directions given by some unqualified person will produce a disfigurement that years will not remove.

A good treatment for a thick, muddy skin that needs softening and stimulation is to bathe it occasionally with very hot water in which a spoonful each of borax and powdered pumice has been stirred. When the face has been well steamed and bathed in this solution, dry with a soft cloth, then massage with cold cream.

Allow the cream to remain on the face about ten minutes before applying cold water. Use ice water, if possible, or even a piece of ice. Do not rub the face. The cold plunge is merely to close the pores. Those who try this method once or twice a week will be surprised at the improvement it will make both in the texture and appearance of the skin.

Great care should be taken in the selection of face powder. The cost of the powder and the elaborate box in which it is packed ly fixed in their minds that the way of the transgressor of the speed law is expensive. Those who were fined during the past 24 hours were Francis Winter, N. N. Halfall, A. M. Beaver and A. C. Green.

Some face powders seem to dry up and absorb the natural oil of the skin to such an extent that looks dry and seamy, even though smooth to the touch. Others are so heavy and greasy that they appear like a paste. Each individual should select the powder best suited to her skin. A powder that is unpleasantly noticeable on one woman's face may not be visible on that of another. The varying shades of brunette powders now obtainable make it possible to suit almost any complexion.

The campaign in the city to catch speeders violating the city ordinance is beginning to bear fruit. Automobiles are seen traveling over the restricted districts at a snail's pace compared with the usual mode of locomotion some of the automobilists were accustomed to go, and pedestrians are commencing to breathe more freely when attempting to cross the streets at certain points. A number were gathered in by the speed cops yesterday, and after a visit at the police judge's office came away with the lesson firm-

NOTICE! On and After April 1st ALL WOOD Will Be Absolutely Cash Our reason for making all wood Cash to all of our customers and friends is not due so much to loss in accounts but to the extra expense in bookkeeping and collecting. Wood and coal are commodities which sell only for cash in most communities. We believe that after our trade becomes accustomed to the cash basis on wood, it will prove more satisfactory to every one. This does not mean we will not be glad to accommodate you and give you a reasonable credit on lumber, but for wood it means cash. In buying wood, please pay at the office or have a check or cash ready for the teamsters when they call. Ask for a receipted bill—but DON'T ASK FOR CREDIT FOR WOOD. CARSON-FOWLER LUMBER CO.
