Earl Weaver and family from Bremerton, Wash., old-time residents of Ashland, are here visiting for a few days, while on their way to California.

Wanted—Large sized clean cotton rags at the Tidings.

The party who took a lady's suit from Orres tailor shop a few days ago is known. If party will return or mail suit to me this week nothing will be said or done—otherwise look out. L. J. Orres.

F. E. Russell and Jesse Clary served notice on the city council at its last meeting Tuesday night that they will terminate their contract to operate the electric light plant. The council granted their release and will call a special meeting to decide what to do further.

Picot the ruffles for your summer dresses. We give prompt and careful attention to mail orders. Handicraft Shop, Medford, Ore. 183-1f

Mrs. M. Berry and Miss Emma Kramer of Salem are guests at the home of their brother, G. N. Kramer. Mrs. Berry's husband died last week in Salem, and she and her sister have come to Ashland to remain here for some time.

I have in my possession a purse containing money and other valuables. Owner please call and identify same at Orres tailor shop.

In the eyes of the world a man's ability and mental attitude are judged by his clothes. Paulserud & Barrett, Tailors. 193-1f

Mr. and Mrs. Max GeBauer of Eugene are among the newcomers to Ashland and have purchased through the Lamkin agency the Holley residence on Granite street for their future home. Mrs. GeBauer is a sufferer from asthma, and for several years has been coming to Ashland where she has been relieved from her affliction at once, so the family have decided they will make this their permanent home. They will settle in their new purchase as soon as the present occupant can find another location.

Ladies auxiliary ball Friday night, May 7. Launspach's orchestra. 190 Mon. Thurs.

A. M. Beaver and C. C. Darling, team mates on the Commercial Club expansion drive, have the honor of enlisting the oldest member to the club. This is W. H. Smith of East Main street, who is 88 years of age. Messrs. Beaver and Darling found this aged gentleman in his back yard saving wood, and on being presented with the membership card, read it without glasses, and immediately signed, paying for a half year in advance. Mr. Smith has supreme faith in Ashland's future and gladly lends his assistance in promoting its welfare.

$50 free to 5 ladies of Ashland. Inquire at Orres tailor shop before May 1st.

L. L. Mullit, who has been spending several days in Ashland looking around over the various interests here, left yesterday for his home in Portland.

William McDonald, a mail clerk, who had been quite ill recently with an attack of influenza, and who had resumed his work, suffered a relapse yesterday while on the train, and is again confined to the house. His place will be filled by Glenn Rhoades, substitute clerk.

Cliff Payne makes piano benches.

Registration is reported to have been very good this year, according to G. F. Billings and Mrs. Susie L. Allen, at whose offices the registration books were open. Many newcomers, who have gained a residence here, were prompt to avail themselves of the opportunity to cast a vote in the Commonwealth of Oregon, while the majority of those who had changed their residence in the city were prompt to make note of the change.

Personal competition is keen nowadays. Any old clothes WON'T do. Look over our spring samples. Paulserud & Barrett. 193-1f

The spring session of Southern Oregon Presbytery was held in Grants Pass Tuesday and Wednesday, and was well attended by the clergymen from various points of the valley. Business pertaining to the church was conducted throughout the day sessions, while the evenings were devoted to popular meetings.

Recruits wanted 1st Co. Dr. D. M. Brower came in from Roseburg yesterday to spend a few days with his family here. He was called here by the illness of his daughter, Miss Voda Brower, who is suffering from appendix trouble, and is quite sick at present.

Among the Pathe Weekly pictures shown at the Vining theater last evening was one of the church in Elgin, Ill., which was wrecked by the recent tornado that swept through that section, and in which two people were killed. A few days ago Mrs. Emma Coffee received a letter from her sister-in-law living in Elgin, stating she was in that church at the time of the storm and was talking to a woman when the latter was struck down and killed by the flying debris. Mrs. Coffee stated she escaped without a scratch.

Recruits wanted 1st Co. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sheldon, who have been living north of Ashland, moved this week to their property on Main street which they recently purchased.

The overall club in Ashland failed to spread any further than the postoffice employees up to the present. The craze will most likely remain with this class of employees, as it appears they lead off in all cities where the National Federation of Post Office Clerks and similar organizations predominate. The parcel post has revolutionized post office employment and the employees feel that it is in reality an overall job and no longer the traditional occupation of former years.

Thomas J. Fuson of Medford was a business visitor in Ashland yesterday and joined the Commercial Club. He says, "We folks down in Medford are anxious to help out Ashland all we can. We realize that building a better Ashland will indirectly assist in building a better Medford."

Bob Leopold, installation manager for the American City Bureau, who has completed a successful installation service at Medford, called up the Commercial Club yesterday to give it his best wishes for success in the present expansion. Mr. Leopold is going to Marysville to conduct a month's installation service.

50 DOLLARS FREE TO 5 LADIES ORRES TAILORS FOR MEN AND WOMEN In order to have you get better acquainted with the high class tailoring we do for women I am going to give—absolutely free—to the first five women of Ashland and vicinity (Medford or Grants Pass women not included this time) who will order their Spring suit tailored to your order between Friday, April 23rd and Saturday evening, May 1st, $10.00 in cash. Remember your suit must be just right in every way before you will be expected to wear it. I can give you the names of many good dressers in Ashland (Medford, Grants Pass, Eugene, Roseburg or Klamath Falls) who have my labels in their garments and are well satisfied. My prices are lower than ready-made. If the $10.00 don't look good to you I will pay for your new hat or a pair of shoes. Let's go! See the fine woolsens and the newest fashions. We also sell woolsens and silks by the yard.
