BEST VARIETIES OF GRAIN CHOSEN

A movement has been launched by the Farm Bureau to determine what are the best varieties of wheat, barley and oats to grow in this county, and to get pure strains of these varieties established over the county. The wheat has long been such a mixture of varieties that it is usually discriminated against on the market. Farmers have been getting their seed from their neighbors' best fields, regardless of variety, yield, milling or feeding qualities of the grain.

This practice must give way for a business-like selection of seeds that will mean agricultural prosperity for the county. It costs but little more to plant good seed than it does to plant mixed seeds. The trouble has been in the past that it has been hard to find pure strains of desirable varieties.

It is hoped that the farmers of the county will take advantage of the efforts being put forth by the Farm Bureau in behalf of pure strains of tried varieties. If the farmer has been raising grain or if he has an established opinion that certain varieties of wheat and barley are best adapted to this county, he is asked to give the Farm Bureau the benefit of his knowledge and experience so that it will be possible to concentrate efforts along the lines they will be the most effective. The farmer to meet the present conditions confronting him, must produce a better grade of livestock, better and higher yielding varieties of alfalfa, wheat, barley and oats.

WOMAN IS HOME DEMONSTRATOR

The Jackson County Farm Bureau News hands the following compliments to one of the progressive women of the Belleview district:

She has helped a large number of women to have the home made dress form; she made a fireless cooker which just cost her $1.00 and which has already cooked many dishes for her; very recently made for use in the hot weather an iceless refrigerator; she says that the benefits to her from the clothing and millinery schools cannot be estimated."

KILLED IN MINE SHAFT

QUINCY.—While taking a short cut from the stopes in the Engels copper mine with two other miners to eat their midnight meal, Charles Johnson was knocked from a ladder by a man above him falling on him, and fell 60 feet to the bottom of the shaft, striking on a bucket, which nearly severed the head from the body.

The three men were climbing a ladder in a manhole which was used only for carrying tools. The man above lost his hold and fell, brushing the two men from the ladder. In the fall the first man struck a scantling, to which he clung until he was removed, and the second man managed to get hold of the ladder again, saving himself, but Johnson fell into the shaft. He was a native of Sweden, 30 years of age.

COMMENCEMENT OF BIBLE SCHOOL

The commencement exercises of the Ashland Daily Vacation Bible school will be held in the Baptist church in Ashland on Friday, June 25, at 2 p. m. All parents and friends are invited to be present at these exercises. An exhibition of many of the industrial articles made by the children will be of interest to all who may attend. The school has been highly successful, enrolling 225 scholars, and maintaining a very high daily average attendance.

Every morning in the week the scholars have gathered during June to learn many of the best hymns and nature songs, to listen to a Bible story, and receive instruction in a musical period. In addition to this, an hour spent in industrial work, has trained the children in the making of ham-mocks, raffia baskets, picture frames, bird houses, kites, etc., not to mention the many varieties of kindergarten articles constructed.

Among those conducting the school as members of the staff are: Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown, superintendent; Miss Eugenia Carson, Mrs. H. P. Holmes, Mrs. Van Sant, Miss Bertha Bean, Mrs. C. F. Koehler. The musical directors have been Miss Florence Allen and Mrs. E. H. Edgar. The director of industrial work, Mrs. John W. Hoyt, assisted by Miss Emily Brown and Miss Eleanor Hoyt, and John Hoyt Jr., and Archer Hoyt.

Will Raise Memorial to U. S. Heroes

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene.—To the University's dead and to those who fought and lived will rise a memorial on the campus at Eugene, when the plans of the alumni association mature. Carlton E. Spencer, registrar of the University, speaking at the alumni luncheon during the commencement festivities, reported for a memorial committee previously appointed and set in motion the endeavor to pay fitting tribute to those who died and those who gave.

He emphasized that, to their high purpose, the alumni should give time and thought and energy, making their expression as nearly as possible worthy of those it would commemorate. For the committee, he called upon the alumni to offer suggestions and plans that they may have no dearth of material from which to select.

An issue of Old Oregon, the alumni publication, will soon be devoted to the memorial, while every endeavor will be made to enlist the support of every graduate and former student. Plans for financing the tribute have not yet been made, the committee holding that, once everyone was cognizant of the effort and intention, the means would be easily secured.

The operations of the trappers are confined largely to the Upper Willamina, the Big Nestucca, Coast creek, Yamhill and East creek in this immediate vicinity. "Soapstone Charley" of the Upper Willamina is perhaps the best known of the trappers. Each year he gets his quota of cougar, bear and wolves and minor fur-bearing animals.
