What Constitutes Advertising?
 In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.

All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news.
 All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken is NEWS.

It is a blessed thing that it didn't take this country so long to help fight the war to an end as it has taken to make formal peace.

This much may be said with verity—Uncle Sam has not been over-hasty in making formal peace.

A Few Words to the Wise

BURBANK MADE OWN FORTUNE

Started With Ten Potatoes and No Money—Remarkable Work With Young Prune Trees.

In 1885 Burbank came to California. He sold all but ten of his stock of potatoes for $125. He finally reached Santa Rosa with less than a dollar in his pocket, but with the precious ten potatoes. Here, after years of struggle, he finally secured a few acres of land for a nursery and for experimental work in plant breeding.

Just one incident of those days will illustrate his persistency and resourcefulness. A fruit grower wanted 2,000 young prune trees to be delivered within ten months. None were in the market and the nurserymen all said it was impossible to produce them in so short a time. Not so Burbank. He promptly accepted the order. As the season was far advanced, he planted almonds in sand, supplied them with just the right moisture and kept them covered with cloth to maintain an even temperature. As the tiny sprouts appeared they were transplanted in the nursery.

He then secured from near-by prune orchards thousands of prune buds and as soon as the small almond buds were old enough the prune buds were budded into them. In less than seven months the order was filled and the seemingly impossible had been accomplished.—Arthur H. Chamberlain in Thrift Magazine.

Speech Strangely Restored.

Antoine Dumas, a farmer living near Yssirgeaux, who for three years had been without the power of speech, was cured in an unusual manner without the cost of a cent. Dumas served in the French artillery during the war. During one of the heavy bombardments his voice ceased to function, and although scores of army doctors tried to aid him, no one had ever been able to restore his power of speech. While working in the hay loft of his barn he slipped and fell to the ground. Farm hands who ran to his aid discovered that while his only injury was a small bump at the back of the head, Dumas was able to curse as loudly and colorfully as the rest of the farmers.

Just Naturally Friendly.

A woman who is known in the southern Indiana town in which she lives for her friendliness and absentmindedness, recently went to Indianapolis on a shopping tour. She planned to return on a late afternoon interurban car, and hurried from store to store. She bought several articles at a department store and was walking rapidly toward the exit thinking where she would go next. In her haste she dropped one of her packages. A floor walker recovered it and handing it to her said: "Here is your parcel, madam. Call again, please." "Thank you, I will," she replied. "You bring your folks and come over to see us real soon."

Paper Gown for Physicians.

The first design of a paper gown which can be worn by physicians handling transmissible diseases, and then discarded, has been made by Mrs. Annie C. Miley of Mount Airy, Philadelphia. The present garments are difficult to disinfect and have been found to be frequently dangerous sources of contagion. They are also expensive. Mrs. Miley's gown is made of soft white crepe paper and resembles the enveloping garment worn by Red Cross nurses during the war.

President Harding is disclosing the firm side of his nature, on occasion. He will not be the easy-going complaisant president some have predicted he would be. He is of conciliatory disposition, but beware of a person of that type when he elects to fight and feels that he has just cause to fight!

Americans, with all their thrift, are the most wasteful people on the face of the earth.
