SCOUT WHOLESALE DROWNING AT TACOMA

Chautauqua Has Interesting Lecture Series Next Week

By JOHN H. FULLER
Dr. Coleman speaks tonight on the subject of "William James and the Problem of the Practical." The series of lectures given by Dr. Coleman is proving intensely interesting to those who desire to listen to interpretations of the thought expressed by the master minds of "American Literature."

Tonight a musical prelude will be rendered during which Margaret Caldwell Speer will sing a group of southern songs in costume.

Tomorrow (Sunday), a big musical program will be given by Susanne Pasmore, pianist; Mildred Wright, violinist, and the quartet. Dr. Coleman will speak on "Abraham Lincoln and the Problems of Labor."

The coming week at Chautauqua brings the distinguished Dr. Emanuel Sternheim in a great series of addresses commencing Monday afternoon at 2:30. Dr. Sternheim has the ability to interest and hold all classes of people, as the following brief extracts will testify:

"Dr. Emanuel Sternheim, pastor, sociologist and lecturer, of Sioux City, has come to make his permanent home in Chicago. He has secured an office in the Pine Arts building and will devote his whole time to public lecture work."

"Dr. Sternheim, who is a very interesting speaker and writer, has been in charge of Mt. Sinai temple, Sioux City, for several years. His constructive and creative activities, especially in the line of civic reform, have made him nationally famous and he has been in wide demand as a lecturer on social welfare."

"The address of the evening was given by Dr. E. Sternheim, for some year and until recently, pastor of the Jewish church in Sioux City."

"His address was one of the most scholarly heard in recent years by a Jefferson audience, being a discussion of some of the perils which threaten American civilization."

"On the platform of human brotherhood, Dr. Sternheim built a beautiful structure of idealism, which he declared to be the guide which we must follow if America was to take her destined place as the leader and hope of all the nations of mankind."

"Dr. Sternheim made everybody think, which is one of the great aims of the Chautauqua. He will always be pleasantly remembered by his Jefferson audience."

"We were very fortunate, having among our speakers Dr. Emanuel Sternheim. The message which he carried to the bankers at our convention was a splendid and impressive one and was heartily received by the delegates."

"Dr. Emanuel Sternheim is an orator of unusual ability. He is an exhaustive scholar with a wonderful range of interest and information. He speaks with unusual freedom and carries his listeners enthusiastically."

"He has a charming personality and you would be interested to hear him."—Alfred Edwin Craig, Trinity M. E. Church, Evansville, Ind.

Recreation and culture will be presented by skillful specialists. The Rev. S. J. Chancy, of Klamath Falls, and Dr. J. C. Spencer, of Ashland, will give the lectures, while the active fun and the demonstrations will be conducted by the Rev. Milton A. Marcy and Percival M. Blenkinsop.

Sunday school methods is a new subject for an institute program, but one that will meet a wide demand. One of the best of Oregon's Sunday school workers, Mr. Alpheus Gillette, superintendent of the Sunday school of First church, Salem, will conduct classes.

Personal evangelism has been presented repeatedly by the Rev. W. S. Gordon, of Portland, with great delight and profit to his classes.

Methodism will be taught by the Rev. J. R. Sarnett, of Medford, at the Ashland institute.

Music has always been a delightful part of the institute programs. It will continue to hold its high place of inspiration and delight under the most capable direction of the Rev. Percival M. Blenkinsop. So bring your musical instruments along and help to make a big choir for all occasions.

Interview privilege. All members of the faculty invite the members of their classes to avail themselves freely of the interview privilege. They will be most happy to render any assistance possible to any one who has a problem in any field of his life. Their delight is to give you just the help you may need.

It is the purpose of the management to keep expenses for delegates at the lowest possible figure. By doing their own cooking, many delegates are able to attend for a total of $10, including all expenses, and railroad fare. Registration is one dollar per delegate.

A timely reminder is to bring your Bible, kodak, ukelele, banjo or cornet, bathing suits, tennis racket, baseballs, mits and bats, plenty of bedding and last but not least, a generous "quota" of toilet articles to ward off freckles and tanburna.

Chautauqua was sidetracked on Thursday evening to make way for that great attraction, the Elks' Minstrels, which appeared at the auditorium under auspices of Lodge No. 944, the local organization. On Friday night, Norman F. Coleman lectured on "Walt Whitman and the Spirit of Democracy"; other topics being "William James and the Problems of the Practical," July 9, and "Abraham Lincoln and the Problem of Labor," July 10. Fine musical preludes in connection with all these addresses. Next week, Rabbi Emanuel Sternheim, of Boston, is to appear in a series of eight lectures, the hours of delivery being 2:30 and 8 p. m.

DISCOVER WRECKED CAR BOTTOM OF STEILCOOM BAY

EXCITED YOUTHS INQUIRING WAY TO LEAVE CITY ARE SUSPICIONED OF COMPLICITY IN AUTO PLUNGE.

BODY OF WHITE WOMAN, FULLY CLOTHED, REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SEEN AT BOTTOM OF BAY SATURDAY.

TACOMA, Wash., July 9.—Police authorities here confront the possibility of the wholesale drowning of a joyriding party, following the discovery of a stolen automobile at the bottom of Steilcoom bay, five miles east of Tacoma. The car was raised by the police after its discovery by some boys on a fishing trip.

It is reported that two youths attracted in water soaked clothing asked directions for leaving town on Wednesday of this week, the day on which it is thought that the automobile plunged into the bay. The youths were highly excited and stated that they had automobile trouble.

Officers, after raising the car, at first thought that the car belonged to Edward Cunningham, who disappeared from Tacoma last December on the same day that his wife was found shot dead. After investigation, however, it was found that the car was a different make than that of Cunningham's. The auto carried a spare tire and contained a newspaper of recent date.

A report that a white woman, fully clothed, was seen at the bottom of the bay near the end of the pier Saturday, has not been verified.

Owing to the strength of the tide, police think, any bodies that might have sunk with the car, would have been swept for miles down the bay.

Chief of Police John A. Gustafson and other members of the Tacoma police department have been indicted by the grand jury in connection with the recent riot and on charges of permitting vice.

REPUBLICANS TO FOLLOW VOTE ON BONUS LAST YEAR

By L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The soldiers' bonus bill, if it is stopped at all, must be stopped by the senate, leaders of the house warned the senators today. The reason for the fact is that all republican congressmen who voted in favor of the bonus bill last year, must do so again despite the request of President Harding that the bill be delayed.

A canvass of the situation relative to the passing or defeat of the bill discloses that 40 republicans are supporting Harding's plea of shelving the bonus plan and giving right of way to tax legislation, followed by a recess. Seventeen republicans are either opposed to the plan or absent. Six democrats have pledged themselves to the recommitment of the bonus, three against recommitment. Twenty-nine democrats are unpledged, doubtful or absent. The senate majority is now 48.
