U. S. TAKES THE LEAD FOR DISARMAMENT

Crowned Kings Are Still Numerous On European Thrones

By CLYDE A. BEALS

(United Press Staff Correspondent) LONDON, July 11.—The sport of lopping crowns in Europe that became so exhilarating during the war, seems not only to have subsided, but also to have been followed by its equal and opposite reaction.

Hungary, though kingless, is by legislation of its own parliament still a kingdom. Austria has a small but important royalist party. And Germany manifests a strong leaning toward a king, and a Hohenzollern at that.

Constantine has come back, though the royal supports are wobbly. Old King Peter of Serbia, who pulled through the war, more or less, has found his new kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes so pregnant with spontaneous combustion, that he leaves his son, Alexander, to do most of the work. Ferdinand of Rumania still has his picture on the postage stamps, but is refraining from all other publicity. And Boris of Bulgaria, answering a public welcome on a church festival day in Sofia, was greeted by a bomb which killed and wounded several persons close by him.

The thrones more familiar to Americans are at present having little difficulty in weathering present fair winds. In England, King George has lost by his quietness the little vestige of power his father by his strong personality was able to exercise. His popularity was undergoing a slump until the Prince of Wales came to bat.

The Prince is undoubtedly the most popular person in the United Kingdom, and if he comes to the throne, which some people though admiring him, doubt, he will probably wield a positive influence.

The most stable throne of all, apparently, is that of Holland. Queen Wilhelmina enjoys and cherishes the genuine affection of her people. The prince consort, Henry of Mecklenburg, is not popular, but the Queen drives about The Hague in her car with no guard. The men in the streets tip their hats and she bows pleasantly. There was an attempt not long ago to hold a demonstration against her, but she drove without any guard to the place where it was to be held, and the Hollanders took the horses from her carriage and drew her through the streets in triumph.

King Albert of the Belgians also reigns with comparative quiet. King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, however, is in none too good a position, though it has shown signs lately of strengthening. The king of Spain, also manages to hang on.

The question of a king for Hungary is the puzzling one. Karl is the legally crowned monarch. After his recent fiasco his supporters in Hungary insisted that he would be back in six months, and the announcement that he is about to go to Spain gives some credence to the opinion that he may try another coup, because in Switzerland he is very closely guarded. He has put himself in a rather ridiculous position however by having left Hungary twice now, each time after proclaiming that he would rather die than leave. Beside, the little entente, supported, though somewhat casually by the big one, is determined not to have a Hapsburg on the throne. He is, further, a Catholic, and while the Catholics are strong in West Hungary, a large part of the country is Calvinistic.

Since Karl's last departure, several rivals have sprung up. Admiral Horthy, designated governor by the parliament until a king was selected, was, according to stories in Vienna, himself to have been set up by the Small Landowners party as king. That, however, fell through. Archduke Joseph and Archduke Albert both have strong followings.

In Austria, in spite of the royalist party and the members of the nobility, who kept their titles only by courtesy and persistence, the chances of a kingdom are small. Many people, however, remember the good times before the war, and think that they would come back automatically with a restored monarchy. The thinkers of Austria, however, say frankly that the financial burden of keeping up a royalty would be intolerable.

There is, on the other hand, a party in France supporting the idea of a monarchy, especially in Austria for the purpose of preventing a union with Germany. This policy, though beneath the surface, is a vital one. France's policy is unquestionably one of building as many small states as possible, for two reasons—that of holding the leadership of Europe and that of maintaining her security. If she can strew kings about Europe she can lessen the danger of amalgamation, thus walling Russia off from any expansion westward and Germany out of Mitte' Europa.

Blasting of Tyler Bluffs Completes Klamath Highway

BLASTS ONE OF LARGEST IN SOUTHERN OREGON. LARGE CROWD IS PRESENT

With the blasting of the Tyler bluffs, east of Ashland on the Pacific highway, by six tons of dynamite Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the state highway between Klamath Falls and Ashland was completed. G. E. McViears, state highway engineer, said today.

Moving pictures were taken of the bluffs at the time of blasting, which is said by Mr. McViears to have been one of the largest ever attempted in Southern Oregon. A large crowd from Ashland witnessed the blasting.

Work on the unpaved half mile stretch between the end of the state highway and the California line is going forward rapidly. Engineer McViears stated, and is expected to be completed by July 20.

FRED. W. HERRIN ELECTED DIRECTOR OF WOOL GROWERS

The Oregon Wool and Mohair Growers' Co-operative association, which was to have 50 per cent of the sheep and goats of the western and southern Oregon counties, signed in membership by July 1, passed its quota officially on June 27. A meeting of the organization committee was held on that date and organizing directors elected to serve until the state election, which will be held in each district during the week of July 18-23.

The organizing directors elected for the short period are: Fred W. Herrin, of Ashland district No. 1; C. L. Beckley, Dixonville, and R. Roy Booth, Yoncalla, district No. 2; J. B. Cornett, Shedd, district No. 5; William Riddell, Jr., Monmouth, district No. 7; G. H. Thompson, Madras, district No. 8; S. A. Cordill, Molalla, and J. W. Smith, Aurora, district No. 9; A. B. Flint, Beaverton, district No. 10. C. J. Hurd was appointed by the director of the bureau of markets to represent the public on the board. The week of July 18-23, the district elections will be held to elect fourteen directors. The districts and the number of directors to which they are entitled in proportion to the number of sheep signed are as follows:

- District No. 1—Jackson, Josephine and Curry counties, two directors.
- District No. 2—Douglas and Coos counties, three directors.
- District No. 3—Lane county one director.
- District No. 4—Lane and Linn counties, one joint director.
- District No. 5—Linn county, two directors.
- District No. 6—Lincoln and Benton counties, one director.
- District No. 7—Polk county, one director.
- District No. 8—Marion county, one director.
- District No. 10—Yamhill, Washington and Tillamook counties, one director.

The association now has over 1500 members and over 200,000 fleeces signed up, which makes it one of the largest and the strongest of the com-

INVITATION GIVEN WELCOME BY LLOYD GEORGE IN SPEECH

By A. L. BRADFORD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—The coming disarmament conference of world powers for the purpose of curtailing by common consent large standing armies and navies is certain, it appeared in official circles today. Secretary of State Hughes is reported as preparing formal invitations to Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy to meet in Washington at a date to be mutually agreed upon.

Japan and Great Britain are virtually pledged to attend the conference by public statements of their national leaders. Italy and France are impelled by public opinion to send representatives.

It is thought that China will participate in the conference and take part in the discussion of questions concerning the Far East, which will include the Chinese open door policy as outlined by Hughes.

Ambassador Harvey is understood to have conveyed the conference invitation to Lloyd George, English premier. The latter is expected to accept in his speech in the House of Commons today. It is understood that the Canadian premier, Meighen, upset plans made for the furtherance of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

LONDON, July 11.—Premier Lloyd George has virtually accepted the invitation of the United States to attend the disarmament conference. In his speech today addressing the House of Commons, he said, "I welcomed with the utmost pleasure President Harding's wise and courteous invitation. It will lack no effort on the part of the British empire to make the conference a success." He declared that world peace depends more upon peace between the United States and Great Britain than any other single factor.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., July 11.—David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Stanford university, told the United Press today that "Harding's disarmament conference could be called the greatest world peace move since the destruction of the German military machine."

The most trouble and suspicion in the Pacific, Dr. Jordan stated, has been caused by American, English and Japanese anxiety for large armaments. He stated that it should be easy for those three to reach an agreement, making the Pacific ocean like the "Great Lakes."

Western Fruit Growers Confer; Ireland Welcomes Truce Peace

W. B. ARMSTRONG ELECTED PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION

PORTLAND, Or., July 11.—Two hundred delegates from marketing organizations of six western states are convening here to discuss the marketing of perishable produce, considered the West's gravest problem. High importance is attached to the conference, as the West is approaching one of the greatest fruit producing years in its history. W. B. Armstrong, president of the Washington farm bureau federation, presided at the conference, pending his election as chairman. Several telegrams were read touching upon the marketing question of the West.

The fruit growers gathered at the conference represent interests in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California, Montana, Idaho and Utah.

The Pacific coast market condition has been hurt by the limitation of marketing, delegates to the conference declared, following a morning session when the convention was organized following Mayor Baker's welcome.

H. L. Hull, of Yakima, Wash., was elected secretary of the association. W. B. Armstrong was elected chairman, after making one of the principal addresses during the morning.

Dr. Emanuel Sternheim Arrives for Lecture Course

Will Discuss Works Of Noted Authors

Dr. Emanuel Sternheim, of Boston, Mass., recognized as one of the greatest orators and scholars of the present time, arrived in Ashland yesterday evening. Dr. Sternheim is in the city to take part in the Chautauqua program, and scheduled to deliver a series of lectures here, the first of which will be given this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The four afternoon lectures will be interpretations of four literary voices speaking from out of the experiences of the recent world war in around a discussion of "Civilization" and other of this author's works. The third will be a discussion of the great Scandinavian author Johan Bojer, including a specific discussion of his well known book "The Great Hunger" as well as other of his works. The fourth will be the discussion of the Voice from England in the form of the discussion of the "Blind Alley" by W. L. George. The evening lectures will be somewhat different in character. Dr. Sternheim will discuss in his first lecture the subject of Americanization.

This lecture has been delivered a large number of times throughout the Eastern States and especially in New York state, where Dr. Sternheim is special lecturer to the University of the State of New York, upon the subject of Americanization. The second lecture will be a discussion of the great American book "Main Street" by Sinclair Lewis. The third will be upon the Topic of Twentieth Century Parenthood. This should be of vital interest to all parents of the community and has caused considerable discussion in the east where it was delivered a number of times in connection with the great Forum movement. Opportunity will be given to be treated here in the same way, and the Lecturer will be glad to undertake discussion of his address. The fourth lecture is one that has been delivered to many of the larger universities and in some of the most important colleges in the country upon the subject of Education Plus Spirituality and is of vital discussion of present day education in America and of both its triumphs and its failures.

President of State Normal School at Monmouth Dead

DIES AS RESULT OF PARALYTIC STROKE; PROMINENT IN EDUCATIONAL WORK

J. H. Ackerman, president of the Monmouth Normal school and former state school superintendent, died yesterday at his home in Monmouth as the result of a stroke of paralysis, according to a telegram received here this morning by G. A. Briscoe, city school superintendent and head of the summer normal school, branch of the Monmouth Normal, being conducted here.

Mr. Ackerman was in Ashland about a week ago on an inspection tour, visiting the summer school while here. At that time he appeared to be in the best of health and took a great interest in the six weeks extension course of the normal course. His death was a shock and surprise to his many friends throughout the state. Mr. Ackerman was for eight years state superintendent of schools in Oregon and has been prominent in state educational activities for several years. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. C. F. Carlton.

The most likely candidate for the position left vacant by the death of Mr. Ackerman could not be learned today. Mr. Briscoe stated that the president's chair would be filled by the board of normal school regents who would call a special meeting.

IRISH DISORDER CONTINUES UNTIL 12 O'CLOCK TODAY

DUBLIN, July 11.—The Sinn Fein peace delegation, with Eamonn De Valera, president of the "Irish republic," leading, will leave for the peace conference at London, it was officially announced today. Arthur Griffiths and Messrs. Stack and Burton will accompany De Valera.

As the clocks of the city struck noon today, whistles and harbor sirens roared their welcome of the truce between British and Sinn Fein forces. The citizens excitedly collected in knots and groups, the formerly hated Black and Tans issued from their barracks, fraternized with the people and discussed the chances of a permanent peace.

Soldiers on the streets with drawn bayonets are missing, peaceful appearing policemen taking their places, armed only with clubs. Reports from Belfast indicate that violence and disorder continued in North Ireland until the very hour that the truce became effective. A mail train was derailed, the coaches burned, and a total of 14 persons injured. A fire in Belfast injured 105 and made 200 homeless.

SENATOR M'NARY UNABLE TO ATTEND CHAUTAUQUA HERE

Senator Charles L. McNary will be unable to attend the Southern Oregon Chautauqua here, according to a letter received from Senator McNary this morning by John H. Fuller, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, this morning. The senator had been invited some time ago to attend and speak at the Chautauqua in Ashland in connection with his planned trip to Gladstone Park. The letter to Mr. Fuller follows:

My dear Mr. Fuller:

The senate today voted against an adjournment, 28 to 24, therefore the senate will be in session during the summer. In any event, I could not have returned to Oregon to keep my date at Gladstone Park or to speak at the Southern Oregon Chautauqua, for I am a member of a joint commission on agriculture, and the hearings will begin on Monday of next week.

I should like very much to be back at home, especially during the summer, and should enjoy visiting your beautiful city and speaking at the Chautauqua. I remember very happily my visit at Ashland last year, the beautiful ride through your park and the wonderful mineral water. I enjoyed the dinner the ladies gave me when I spoke before the members of your club.

I do not know of any senator that will be out that way this summer. Should I be able to place my finger upon some one of a national reputation, I will wire you immediately. I hope the session of your Chautauqua will be a success, and with every good wish, I am,

Sincerely yours,
CHAS. L. McNARY.
