If you haven't the cash, your property can be sold to get it. Don't risk your house, your bank account, your business. Let a first class automobile policy stand between your worldly goods and the result of that possible accident. DO IT NOW. A few dollars today may save you a few thousand tonight.

Messiah Chorus Meets Tonight At Chautauqua Bldg.

Tonight at 7 o'clock in the Chautauqua auditorium, you are expected to attend the regular rehearsal of the Messiah chorus which meets regularly at the same hour on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays. It is of the utmost importance that every member and all their friends should make their plans to enjoy these rehearsals for the concert to be given on the evening of July 27.

The Messiah by Handel is a beautiful and inspiring oratorio, and is one which gains admirers at every hearing. Many communities make the presentation of the Messiah an annual event which appeals to all ages as a distinct duty and pleasure.

If you know the Messiah you cannot remain away. If you are not acquainted with it, you owe it to yourself and family to come tonight.

Nearly fifty have already signed up for the Messiah chorus and more are expected this week. At present the summer school students are in the majority, which means that the residents of Ashland must bestir themselves if they do not wish to be outclassed by their summer guests.

Professor Coon wants to see a record crowd for the rehearsal at 7 o'clock this evening.

From Prison Cell To College Degree Record of I. W. W.

NEW YORK, July 11.—One of the high honor students graduated from Columbia university this summer was Frank Tannenbaum, whose notions of world reform have been somewhat modified by his experiences as a soldier, and are far milder than when he was one of the leaders of the turbulent mobs that invaded churches in this city in 1914. The ideas that he held then earned him a year in the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island. The ideas that he has now have won him a degree and election to Phi Beta Kappa, the highest honors in economics and history at Columbia, and promise to make him an author of outstanding distinction in his chosen field—organized labor in America.

For Tannenbaum, though only 27 years old, is the author of what is said to be an extremely important book, "The Labor Movement."

Tannenbaum's entire boyhood education consisted of eight months in a New England rural school. That was in his twelfth year. When he was 13 he came to New York and for the next eight years worked at all sorts of jobs from waiter in a restaurant to elevator boy. When he was 21 he went to Blackwell's Island for a year for I. W. W. activities.

He emerged from prison convinced of the necessity of an education. He contrived to get into Columbia, and left it with a $2000 fellowship for industrial research work. Ultimately he says, he intends to return to work in the railroad shops.

HE EMERGED FROM PRISON CONVINCED OF THE NECESSITY OF AN EDUCATION. HE CONTRIVED TO GET INTO COLUMBIA, AND LEFT IT WITH A $2000 FELLOWSHIP FOR INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH WORK. ULTIMATELY HE SAYS, HE INTENDS TO RETURN TO WORK IN THE RAILROAD SHOPS.

HOME-OWNING THE GOAL. In this season of happy brides, the First National would give a bit of well-meant advice—make home-owning a goal to work and save for.

Nothing so binds people together as common interests. Nothing so insures permanency in married life as the possession of a real home.

Put at least a few dollars weekly into a home-owning fund at this bank.
