KNOW YOUR TOWN

We're proud of our town and county.

It is a humming business center and a natural trading spot for a very much larger population.

It is the normal nerve center for a wide and rich farming country—and it is fast adding to its importance as an industrial community.

Our stores, shops and business organizations are equipped with all that is necessary to the best service—but telling you about the advantages that are here isn't quite getting it across.

You'll never know how good this community of ours is until you study its growth and development, week after week—fifty-two weeks in the year.

There is only one correct way to do that. It is to read the news, editorial and advertising columns of the town's leading newspapers—THIS NEWSPAPER.

Every week in the year this newspaper places at your door interesting, instructive and profitable information—news both in editorial and advertising columns which can mean DOLLARS AND CENTS to you.

And all for less than 3 cents per week.

It's a HOME PAPER for this town and community of ours.

It is a part of YOU.

If we haven't your name—subscribe today.

U. S. HEALTH SERVICE TO GIVE BEST TREATMENTS POSSIBLE TO TUBERCULAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—The eminent tuberculosis specialists, who, at the request of Surgeon-General Cumming of the United States public health service, have been visiting the tuberculosis hospitals of the service "to see that every one of the 20,000 tuberculosis ex-service patients shall have the best treatment to be had in any hospital in the land," have completed their task and have submitted their suggestions.

Steps to put into effect their suggestions were immediately taken and are already in operation in part. The new developments will entail some additional expense and additional employment of personnel, especially high grade personnel. The specialists, Doctors David Lyman, of Wallingford, Conn.; Victor Cullen, of the Maryland state sanitarium; Martin E. Sloan, of Towson, Md.; George Thomas Palmer, Springfield, O., and Henry Hoagland, of La Jolla, Calif., represent the highest ideals in the tuberculosis sanitarium management, and their suggestions when carried into effect, will provide the very best type of sanitarium.

MAZAMAS WILL HIT SKYLINE TRAIL OVER THE CASCADES

PORTLAND, Or., July 12.—The Skyline trail, the scenic foot route along the ridges of the Cascades, will fall before the onslaughts of the Mazamas, an Oregon mountain climbing club, this summer, when the annual outing of club members will lead them from Bend up into the higher altitudes, through the lake country and to the crests of a number of lordly peaks.

The club will go by automobile from Bend, according to present plans, and start the real foot tour from Lake Crescent. The route from here will include trips to Waldo and Odell lakes, a jaunt to the top of Diamond peak, Old Bailey and Thelwell peaks. From Diamond take the hikers will proceed south to Crater Lake, where a base of operations will be established for conquering Mount Scott and Garfield peak.

August 1 has been set as the date for the start from Portland to Bend. The outing, which is the official junket of the clubbers, will last over two weeks.

JAPAN SILENT MEMBER OF "BIG THREE" ON DISARMAMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—The cost of war to the United States, past, present and future, is estimated to cost this country nearly $4,000,000,000 a year on the basis of the cost for the fiscal year just ended, according to treasury records. Seventy-five per cent of every dollar paid into the treasury by taxpayers went to pay bills either arising from or preparing for war. Other nations are spending still a greater amount in proportion to their income. For the previous fiscal year, ninety-two cents of every dollar went for war expenses, actually nearly $6,000,000,000 with taxes over that amount.

WHY DO WOMEN STUDY LAW; QUERY STATE U. OF O.

By ALFRED POWERS (Special to Tidings)

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., July 12.—Why do women study law?

What are the opportunities for lawyers in Oregon?

How much money do lawyers make?

What can a trained lawyer do besides practice law?

What should a prospective lawyer study besides law?

What is the law school of the University of Oregon doing for the legal profession in Oregon?

These questions were put straight to Professor W. G. Hale, dean of the university law school this morning.

"As to why women study law," he said, "there are many government positions, federal, state and municipal, that call for law training. Social service workers of all kinds can utilize a knowledge of law. There is a demand for law-trained women in these fields. In juvenile courts, women with law training are playing an increasingly large and important part."

"As to the opportunities of practice in Oregon, there are approximately 1000 lawyers in the state. Not all of these are in actual practice. This means about one lawyer to every 750 people. As compared with conditions in other sections of the United States, this does not indicate special congestion.

"How much money do lawyers make?" The law dean smiled at this question, but did not attempt to evade it. "While pecuniary rewards in the legal profession are usually small for the first three or four years, yet one who succeeds will later on even the scale. This does not mean that the legal profession is a money-making profession. It is distinctly not. But one who is sufficiently well prepared to measure up to the law, opportunities will earn enough and to spare."

"A trained lawyer can find many uses for his law even if he never practices. Judicial positions and many government positions are available to men trained in the law. Politics also, if he has a fancy for it. It is of particular value to the business man. Many men who have gone to the top in big business have been law-trained men. Finally and very importantly, the study of law is a preparation for citizenship.

"A prospective lawyer should study many things besides law. He should study English, argumentation and debate to acquire the power of lucid, forceful statement. He should study sociology, economics and political science in order to grasp the human which it is the function of the law to serve. A knowledge of accountancy and of the general principles of business are invaluable to the lawyer.

"As to your last question, 'What is the law school of the University doing for the legal profession? Through its high standards of admission it is helping to raise the standard of the profession in the state. It now has two full-time and two part-time professors, and is as well prepared as any on the coast to fit the young men and young women of the Pacific Northwest for practice. The law library now contains 18,000 volumes. Special emphasis is laid on the Oregon law and procedure but without neglecting the broad principles which lie at the bottom of Anglo-American jurisprudence. Four times a year it publishes the Oregon Law Review, which is devoted to problems of special interest to Oregon lawyers."

Baker—Improvements on O. W. R. & N. Co. tracks to start soon.

Gates—New wing to be added to school building.

Salem—One plant here will evaporate 600 tons of logberries.

Albany—Survey of Elkhorn mining region is planned.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.
