Team Work

We hear much these days about "TEAM-WORK." Mostly it is used in connection with athletic affairs. We are told of wonderful victories—when every member of a team PULLS TOGETHER—when someone doesn't go off trying to make a star play, at the expense of the others.

Trouble is that we limit the word to our recreation—sport—athletics. We should follow through; think, use, live team-work in everything we do.

If team-work is a winner in sports, then team-work is good in family affairs—and we all know how the household thrives wherein every member has a shoulder to the wheel.

If team-work is good in the family then it is good in our work—the commercial organization or unit where we earn our daily bread.

If team-work is good in our work—then team-work is good for our neighborhood affairs—our community—our town.

And right there, friends, is where we can make the greatest showing—when we ALL practice team-work in the development and growth of OUR town and county.

When the merchants of this town spend money for advertising space to send you a message of economy—savings—bargains—that message should be read. They've invested thousands of dollars in goods to supply you—and without one guarantee that you will buy.

To earn your money here, then take it to the big city store—or send it to the mail order house—neither of which contributes one cent to the upbuilding of this community—is not team-work. Read the advertisements in this paper today, then patronize our home merchants.

HOME-SPENT DOLLARS mean team-work.

LOOK ON WALKING AS JOKE

People Seem to Regard Primitive Method of Locomotion as Altogether Out of Date.

Charles Hanson Towne writes in the Century: When I refer to the difficulties of walking, I do not refer to the infirmities of age, to flat feet, or to avoirdupois. Not at all. I mean that it is hard indeed in these rushing times to go afoot, even on the most distant by-roads, without being considered eccentric. People stare at you as though you were some kind of freak or criminal. They cast suspicious glances your way, never dreaming that perhaps you prefer your own feet as a means of pleasant locomotion.

I asked a certain friend if he would not accompany me. My friend turned to me and instantly said: "My car is not out of order." "But I did not mean to go in a car," I quickly answered. "Why," he replied, looking at me as though I had gone quite mad, "how else would we go?" "On foot," I bravely made answer, yet realizing that this confirmed New Yorker would never think the same of me again. And it was so. I shall not forget, if I live a hundred years, his final disgusted glance. If anything further was needed to crush me utterly, I do not know what it could be.

ARCOS BUYING FOR

maintained on New Bond street (London's exclusive shopping street) where Leonid Krassin now has his headquarters.

Russia's diplomatic affairs will some of these days be administered from the former Imperial Russian embassy, according to soviet expectations.

Just now possession of the luxurious embassy is impossible—but when the Russian political treaty is signed between Great Britain and the soviets, the embassy will be turned over to the present Moscow government and soviet circles predict, and presumably the red flag of sovietism will be flown from flagstaffs that once held the imperial Russian banner of the Czardom days.
