JAPAN HEDGES ON NEAR EAST DISCUSSION

Conference Southern Ore. Epworth League Starts Here Monday

More than 200 delegates are registered to attend the Ashland Epworth League conference for the week beginning Monday. It was announced this morning by Rev. Charles A. Edwards, manager of the Ashland Epworth League Institute. The conference, one of two such institutes to be held in Oregon this summer, will be conducted as an outdoor camp with tents pitched adjacent to the cottages and tents owned by the Chamber of Commerce near the entrance to Lithia Park. The conference here immediately preceded one of a like nature to be held at Jefferson July 25 to 31.

The institute will be conducted in true camp style with the exception of cooking. The bungalow, near the park entrance, and now being used for dancing once a week, will be turned into a cafeteria where all the 200 hungry Epworth League members will form a bread line three times a day to get their "chow." The commissary department of the cafeteria project, which is expected to form the real backbone of the conference, will be in charge of the ladies of the Methodist church.

The institute will be the first of its kind ever held in Ashland. The efforts of Rev. Charles A. Edwards, pastor of the Methodist church, at a recent meeting of Epworth League district managers held in Chicago,

REV. BLAINE E. KIRKPATRICK
Pastor of First church, Salem, who will meet the Oregon leaders this year for the first time, is the President of the State Board of Control. He will have the Bible Study and the Epworth League Methods classes at both institutes.

are responsible for bringing the institute to Ashland and establishing it as an annual event. The delegates to the conference will be from all districts south of Eugene.

The following statement regarding the Ashland Epworth League institute and a resume of the league's work is taken from the official program:

The past year has registered the greatest success in the number of institutes and institute attendance of any year in which institutes have been held, the total number of institutes being seventy-six with a total registration of about 35,000. The year also was characterized by the reaching out of institute work into our mission fields, Mexico, India, South America and Singapore, and enlargement of what had been done among the colored conferences of the south. The central office anticipates that 1921 will report an attendance of at least 50,000.

Our own Oregon institute has been of slow but steady growth, coming to its greatest success in 1920 when the enrollment went considerably beyond the 200 mark. So keen was the interest growing out of the success of last season, that Southern Oregon felt safe in putting into execution a long cherished desire to have an institute at Ashland. This is a long step in advance, which will bring a large gathering of young Methodists together in fellowship with a big host of instituters scattered over the entire world. Welcome, little sister. May you live long, and prove a source of great joy in the big institute family.

Julian Barrett Dies At Albany; Funeral In Ashland Sunday

Julian Barrett, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barrett, formerly of this city, died this morning at an early hour from heart failure resulting from prolonged rheumatic trouble at Albany, according to word received here this morning by Rev. Charles A. Edwards, pastor of the Methodist church.

The body was shipped immediately for Ashland and will arrive here at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. Funeral services will be held from the Methodist church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. Edwards officiating. The burial will be at the Mountain View cemetery.

Julian Barrett was a well known local boy, having attended high school here during the past school year. He removed with his parents and brother, Edwin, to Albany about two months ago, for the benefit of his health, which doctors thought would improve in the northern city because of lower altitude. The family residence in Ashland was 180 Factory street. Mr. Barrett is well known here as a conductor for the Southern Pacific company.

Crater Lake Will Have Aerial System Of Transportation

J. E. Enyart, a former Medford banker, is promoting a company to construct an aerial system to transport tourists from the rim of Crater Lake to the lake surface. One of the largest eastern wire rope manufacturers is associated with Mr. Enyart, and will have experts on the ground in August to get all necessary data and solve the various engineering problems.

It is calculated that such a passenger conveyor as proposed by Mr. Enyart and his associates will be patronized by at least sixty per cent of the people that visit Crater Lake. In 1920 over 20,000 tourists were up to the rim of Crater Lake, but only a small portion of this number went down the slope to the surface of the lake on account of the steep and difficult climb.

Imagine sitting in a ten passenger aerial carriage from an estimated height of 1000 feet above the surface and finally landing on an island far out in the lake. How many among the thousands that visit Crater Lake will fail to enjoy such a supreme thrill?

FUTURE OF JAPAN HANGS IN BALANCE NIPPON STATEMENT

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—Japan has officially accepted President Harding's invitation to attend the disarmament conference at Washington. In accepting Japan has withheld her consent to participate in discussion of specific questions, such as the Far East problem, from a standpoint of broad general principles. Japan is willing to discuss things generally, but not particular questions.

HONOLULU, July 16.—Former Japanese Prime Minister Okuma was quoted today in the Japanese newspaper Ji Ji, as stating that "Japan's future depends upon the Washington disarmament conference. Failing in its purpose to check Japan at the Paris peace conference, America is attempting to check Japan at the Washington conference. Should Japan find the conference treating her unjustly, she should have the right to withdraw."

TOKYO, July 16.—The Japanese foreign office has declared a favorable answer to President Harding's invitation to attend the disarmament conference at Washington to be forwarded to the United States. The Japanese press and politicians, however, are uneasy because the invitation is also extended to China, Italy and France. It is felt here that the scope of the conference is too broad, as it is scheduled to include all Pacific problems. It is believed that the other world powers will support the American view of matters. The opinion prevails that Japan should proceed cautiously. America's stand on the disarmament conference is thought by some to be inconsistent because of the United States' attitude toward the League of Nations.

HILLSBORO MAN TO HEAD SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR VETERANS IN OREGON

ASTORIA, Or., July 16.—Dr. L. W. Hyde, of Hillsboro, will command the Spanish-American War Veterans in Oregon during the coming year. His election was unanimous at the annual convention being held here today. The contest is on for the senior vice commander between Dr. S. S. Hawker, of Albany, and Attorney Elmer R. Lundberg, of Portland. Six destroyers entered the Columbia river today, and added gaiety to the convention. They are the Hamilton, Farquhar, Stottart Thompson, Kennedy and Reno.

MRS. KABER GETS LIFE TERM; IRISH RIOTS FILL HOSPITALS

ULSTERITES MUST MAKE CONCESSIONS TO SINN FEINERS

BELFAST, July 16.—Warfare between the Orangemen and Sinn Feiners continued today despite the British-Irish truce. One was killed and five seriously wounded in street fighting by snipers shooting from the windows and roofs. Deaths since Sunday total twenty and the hospitals are housing scores of wounded. A number of groceries and saloons were set ablaze.

LONDON, July 16.—Members of Ulster cabinet en route here to attend the British-Irish peace conference will be informed that they must make concessions to the Sinn Fein factions to effect a permanent Irish peace, it was stated today in official circles. Sir James Craig, prime minister of the Ulster parliament, will consult his cabinet before making a reply to Lloyd George's request. Immediately following Lloyd George's receipt of an agreement between Sir James and Eamon De Valera, president of the "Irish republic," regarding mutual concessions, the regular peace conferences between the British, Sinn Fein and Ulster representatives will be started.

INSISTS MURDER VICTIM IS DR. B. M. BRUMFIELD

ROSEBURG, Or., July 16.—Mrs. B. M. Brumfield today issued a statement declaring that the charred body found in a burning automobile near here Thursday evening, is that of her husband, despite the insistence of J. T. Russell that the remains are that of his brother, Dennis Russell. A thorough search for Mr. Brumfield is being carried on in the vicinity of Roseburg. Police here believe that the mystery will only be cleared when one or the other of the two men is found alive. Little doubt is expressed but that Dr. Brumfield murdered Russell. All evidence according to the police, points in that direction. Several bullet wounds were found on the charred corpse. Dr. Brumfield's actions on the night of the supposed murder are said to have been highly suspicious. The inquest will be held Monday.

Centenary of Birth of Mrs. Eddy Is Marked by Tribute

BOSTON, July 16.—Today marked the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science. On this occasion the centenary Christian Scientists everywhere will pay tribute to the unique career of their leader. Born in a remote New Hampshire village, of typical New England parentage, Mary Baker Eddy has become known as the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, a religious movement comprising the Mother Church, and more than 1800 branches which in less than half a century have entirely circled the globe with a membership that includes persons of many races and shades of religious belief.

Rearing in the atmosphere of a Puritan home, from childhood Mrs. Eddy manifested a precocious interest in physical science and metaphysical subjects. Even in her youth she displayed skill as a writer and later became known as a contributor of poetry and prose to current periodicals. In a volume of poetry by New Hampshire authors, published in 1850, appears two poems from her pen, meritorious both in thought and form of expression.

Physically delicate as a child, after reaching womanhood Mrs. Eddy passed through a long period of invalidism during which she unsuccessfully sought healing from various agencies. In 1866 she recovered from the results of a severe accident through the spiritual illumination gained in reading the scriptures. For the next three years she sought through careful and persistent study of the Bible the principle and divine law which governed this experience.

In 1875 she gave her belief to the world in the text book of Christian Science, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. To establish formally her movement and to disseminate its teachings, in 1879 she founded the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. This was followed in 1881 by the opening of a metaphysical college chartered by the legislature of Massachusetts which, after some 4000 students had been taught and in the midst of great prosperity, she closed on the ground that it had fulfilled its purpose.

To disseminate further her teachings, in addition to the church services and Sunday school, she established a board of lectureship, a publishing society to publish various periodicals including a monthly magazine, a weekly denominational paper and a daily newspaper, a board of education to prepare teachers of Christian Science and a committee on publication to correct misrepresentations of her teaching. Although her discovery of Christian Science was not made until after middle life Mrs. Eddy lived to see it established throughout the United States and in many foreign countries.

Beside her chief work, Science and Health, the text book of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy wrote other volumes including Miscellaneous Writings, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, Unity of God and other writings, the Church Manual, Christ and Christmas, and a volume of poetry, all of which are widely read.

Christian Scientists everywhere constantly express profound gratitude to their revered leader. Whether or not one agrees with her teachings thoughtful persons cannot fail to recognize the tremendous influence for good she exercised through the force of her example. Mrs. Eddy passed away in 1910 in her ninetieth year and her body lies in Mt. Auburn cemetery where there has been erected a beautiful but simple memorial in the form of a Greek temple, a fitting symbol of the simplicity and purity of her life.

Chautauqua Cellist Rosenthal, Taught By World Masters

Albert Rosenthal, the cellist, who appears at Chautauqua Sunday night studied in Germany ten years with the best masters. He has a technique that can scarcely be surpassed. He has played concerts with the famous Philharmonic orchestras of Berlin, and has concertized with most of the principal orchestras in various parts of Germany. He has made a tour of the United States under the management of a large concern. Mr. Rosenthal has just acquired a magnificent old Italian 'cello.

Ethel Johnson, soprano, has been one of the most welcome artists of the University of California's extension concerts for the past two years. She has a powerful soprano voice and is, at the same time, a coloratura of no mean capacity. She makes a specialty of singing Jenny Lind's favorite songs.

The Ashland Chautauqua is fortunate in securing the services of such artists as Ethel Johnson and Albert Rosenthal for Sunday night, July 17. An interesting feature of this engagement is the fact that Miss Johnson is now Mrs. Albert Rosenthal, and the happy couple are just returning from a bridal tour which embraced a trip to Crater Lake.

FRUIT MEN ORGANIZE FOR ELIMINATION OF MIDDLEMEN

Elimination of the middleman in the fruit industry of the states of Washington, California, Utah and Oregon and the establishment of a central marketing organization for handling the output of the orchards were the objects of the conference of fruit growers and marketing experts held in Portland July 13. George A. Mansfield, president of the Oregon Farm Bureau federation, made a plea for amalgamation of existing co-operating marketing associations and for the organization of additional units.

GENEVA, July 16.—In certain political circles in Switzerland it is proposed to organize a national petition urging the federal council to expel the ex-emperor Charles and his family immediately, although the ex-emperor has himself promised to leave by the end of August.

WASTED FIGURE IS CARRIED FROM COURT BY DEPUTY

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber was found guilty of first degree-murder in connection with the killing of her husband, Daniel Kaber, by a jury of the common pleas court today which recommended mercy. The penalty is life imprisonment, and Mrs. Kaber was immediately sentenced to the Marysville women's reformatory for life. Mrs. Kaber received the verdict and sentence calmly, the deputy carrying the exhausted and almost lifeless woman from the court.

In his argument yesterday Prosecutor Stanton outlined in detail how the state charges that Mrs. Kaber hired assassins to kill her husband as he lay paralyzed in his Lakewood home.

He demanded the extreme death penalty for murder—the death chair. During Stanton's argument, Mrs. Kaber showed no signs of life except occasional outbursts of moaning and weeping. She seemed oblivious to what was going on about her.

When Stanton finished his argument, Attorney William Corrigan for the defense opened his address. Corrigan made a plea of mercy for Mrs. Kaber. He did not deny that Mrs. Kaber had hired the assassins who stabbed Kaber to death, neither did he make any mention of the widow's mentality.

"I am in defense of a poverty-stricken woman—a woman without riches and without a friend, except her daughter down in the county jail," he said.

TERRILL GOES AFTER JAIL BREAKER NOW HELD AT SEATTLE

MEDFORD, Or., July 16.—Prosecutor Moore is making out the papers necessary to bring Phillip Forrester, the forger and county jail breaker, from Seattle, where he is held on a second degree burglary charge, the authorities there having wired Sheriff Terrill that although they had a good case on Forrester, they were willing to give him up to the Jackson county authorities for prosecution.

As soon as these papers are completed, Sheriff Terrill will leave for Seattle to bring Forrester back. Because of the known dangerous character of Forrester and the long trip back, the sheriff will take along with him to help guard the prisoner, Bert Moses, the county jailer. They will stop at Salem to get requisition papers from the governor's office, and will take along with them to the Vancouver barracks a deserter from the army under arrest here.

The capture of Forrester at Seattle is of particular interest at this time, because his flight was the subject of inquiries by the recent special session of the grand jury. Sheriff Terrill in his appearance before the inquisitorial body was asked what he had done to secure the capture of Forrester. Sheriff Terrill produced correspondence to show that he had distributed, many circulars and pictures of the prisoner and that he had used all efforts to return the man.

It was through one of these pictures and descriptions received at Seattle that Forrester was identified as the man wanted here.

CORVALLIS, Or., July 16.—Resolutions uniting the Albany college and the Pacific university were lost today through a vote of the Presbyterian synod. The raising of $200,000 for the Albany college through the trustees, and also to effect a gift of $100,000 from the general education fund, was announced today, following a meeting outlining plans of the trustees.
