Fraternal Orders and Societies.
 Advertising for fraternal orders or societies charging a regular initiation fee and dues, no discount. Religious and benevolent orders will be charged the regular rate for all advertising when an admission or other charge is made.

What Constitutes Advertising?
 In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.
 All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news.
 All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken is NEWS.

 One man pursues power in order to wealth, and another wealth in order to power, which last is the safest way and generally followed.—Swift.
 There is one crusty old bachelor who holds that the word "woman" should be spelled "woe-man" with the accent on the first syllable. But who cares what a crusty old bachelor says or thinks? Doesn't he come perilously near being one of "creation's blanks," anyway?
 If there were no carelessness with fire, fire losses would be reduced in this country, by tens of millions of dollars annually.
 The best that is within one's power is too good to give to the profession or the work in which one is engaged.
 There is need of truly great statesmanship in congress. But where is it?
 Habits are hard taskmasters.
PLAIN FACTS TOLD PLAINLY
 There are a lot of people in this world who have not yet come to realize the fact that one of the most important lessons in life is along the line of time economy. Gladstone once said that "Thrill of time will repay you in after-life with a usury of profits beyond your most sanguine dreams, and that the waste of it will make you dwindle, alike in intellectual and in moral stature, beyond your adrikest reckonings."
 Indolent habits, listlessness, and procrastination, once firmly fixed, cannot be suddenly thrown off, and the man who has "wasted the precious hours of life's seed-time finds he cannot reap a harvest in life's autumn."
 Go hunt out the men in any community who have accomplished the most for their own and general good, and you will find that they are, almost uniformly, the hard-working class—men who seem piled all over with work. It is these men who are most active in public affairs, in church affairs, and in all matters concerning the public good. Men of this class, however crowded with business, are always found capable of doing a little more, and you can rely upon them in their busiest season with ten times more assurance than upon the idle man.

Metal Mining In Oregon
 Mid Year Condition in 1921

METAL MINING IN OREGON

Though Oregon shares with other states a depression in gold and copper production, the conditions in its mining industry improved somewhat in the first half of this year. The receipts of bullion from this state at the mint, smelters and refineries at San Francisco for the six months of 1921 amounted to $261,602 in gold and $3,762 in silver, an increase of $156,796 in gold and $2,017 in silver over the receipts for the first six months of 1920, according to Charles G. Yale, of the United States geological survey, department of the interior.
 The Homestead Iron Dyke mine, at Homestead, Baker county, which had lately been yielding about 25 per cent of the total metallic output of the state, has now been closed for some months. This mine has a 100-ton flotation plant. There has been some output from the Buffalo Monitor but none from the Highland. The Eureka and Excelsior (Bourne), on Cracker creek in Baker county, continues to run its 20-stamp mill and cyanide plant of the Cornucopia mine in Baker county remains in operation. The Ben Harrison, at Granite, in Grant county, closed its 125-ton flotation mill last October, owing to labor conditions. The Alameda Mines company, Josephine county, is idle. The Gold Ridge, of Medford, has purchased a 10-stamp mill and has recently uncovered a ledge of good ore. Work on the Millionaire, near the Gold Ridge, has been resumed. At Gold Hill, the Bertha, Kubla, and Red Oak mines are being reopened, but the Ashland, Opp, Braden, Bill Nye, Greenback, and other smaller ones are idle.

 Three gold dredges are operating in Oregon, and a fourth will soon be added. These dredges, though their output has been less than formerly, still produce about 75 per cent of the placer gold of the state. The Powder River and Sumpter dredges are at Sumpter, Baker county, and the Superior is at Bridgeport, in the same county. The Empire dredge is at John Day, Grant county.

write a letter and he will dash it off at once; give an idle man a day, and he will postpone it till tomorrow or next week. This is a momentum in the active man which of itself almost carries him to the mark just as a very light stroke will keep a hoop going, when a smart stroke was required to set it in motion. The men who do the greatest things in this world have the genius for hard work, the most desirable kind of genius.
 So work hard and keep going, always bearing in mind that time-economy is one of the most important lessons to be learned before success can be expected. The young man who spends his evenings smoking cigarettes and telling shady stories, with the street corner for his location and packing boxes for chairs, needs not spend any time learning how to write a check, because the chances are a thousand to one that he will never have a bank account.

JOSEPHINE COUNTY WILL HOLD FAIR; ERECT AUDITORIUM

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 25.—The date for the holding of the first exhibit of the Southern Oregon Industrial exposition, an enlargement of the Josephine county fair, has been fixed by the county fair board as September 15, 16 and 17, and every energy is now being employed to make it an industrial show that will develop only second to the state fair itself. The dates were selected to bring it just between the closing of the California state fair and the Oregon state fair, exhibitors at the California show having asked for dates that would permit the exhibition of live stock here while en route to the northern show.
 For the management of the exposition, the fair board, acting in conjunction with the auditorium building committee, has engaged the services of C. W. Borland, who will be fair manager and also manager of the campaign for the construction of the auditorium building, which will be the principal structure upon the fair grounds.

SUGAR COATED PILLS OF WISDOM

Compounded on the Typewriter from "Aesop's Film Fables"
 —By Aesop, Jr.—
THE ROOSTER AND THE EAGLE
 As ye pack thy punch so shall ye beat up thy opponent.
 Many a rooster has been "spurred" on to a fight.
 Sporting writers agree that "The Rooster and the Eagle" are in the featherweight class.
 Too many fowls spoil the fight.
 Stalling makes the fight last longer.
 A bragging boxer gathers no glory, but gets a first-class "shiner."
 Even if movies of a barnyard battle make a fowl film, "The Rooster and the Eagle" should entertain high class audiences.
 The "American Eagle" always fights fair, whether on land, or at sea, or mid-air.
 A little fighting now and then is relished by the best of wives and husbands.
 In "packing" punches you must keep your eyes on the other boxer.
 One swift wallop deserves another.
 Punch and fight goes with you; feint and you don't walk home.
 Perhaps fowl fight fables have a claw-se that the boxers must be up to scratch.
 The more inflated the swell head the more spectacular the "punch-ture."
 In "The Rooster and the Eagle" the rooster "ducked" the ducks' blows but caught the eagle's swats not so eagerly.
 "Aesop's Film Fables."
 As a provider of exercise, the pursuit of happiness probably takes first place.

LIKES SOLITUDE MORE THAN CITIES

EDMONTON, Alta., July 25.—"I have been in civilization a year now and I am going back home as quickly as I can," said W. D. Clark, who has been a hermit in the Arctic wilderness nearly a quarter of a century.
 Clark's "home" is on the headwaters of the Peel river, 180 miles from Herschel Island and 110 miles from Fort McPherson. His nearest neighbor is fifty-six miles away. They see each other once a year. With the exception of this one other man Clark is the only human being in a thousand square miles of country. The Indians do not go that far north and the Eskimos do not come so far south.
 "Once a hermit always a hermit," said Clark preparing to return to the solitude of his cabin in the wilderness. "A hermit wants nobody's pity. I wouldn't trade my solitude for all the pleasure and excitement of cities."
 "I have seen 10,000 caribou in one herd. What have you in the cities like that?"
 "The mercury gets down to 75 degrees below in winter, but it is really the most healthful climate in the world."

 Second Trio—mention of isle and enchanted maiden on it:
 Within this lake there lies an isle. A dark and mystic isle. That captive holds a maiden fair Who awaits her lover there. Why she is there and why the snare The spirits only know. But for the lover bold and true The phantom ship will sail. Will sail across the waters blue And spurn the evil spell, And to his heart he will clasp his love, And ever with her dwell.
