AIR TAXI TO CRATER LAKE IS LOCAL PROJECT

plugs were dropped to him by parachute from a plane piloted by Staff Sergeant Arndt, spark plug trouble being the cause of the forced landing.

The altitude at Oasis Butte is at least 5500 feet, and the thin air rendered it difficult to get away in as heavy a machine as the D-H, but this handicap was overcome by skillful driving. An Ansaldoe plane could get away more easily.

The round trip to Crater Lake could be made in an hour and a half and if patronage justified, a regular air stage could be run every two hours. It is believed that many tourists would be willing to pay the extra charge to see Crater Lake from the air, and be spared the automobile trip, while the carrying of mail would be an added advantage. Of course, the entire matter is now in a speculative stage, but there is every reason to believe that sooner than many people realize, "to Crater Lake in half an hour" will be a reality.

Wealthiest and Biggest.

There are now nearly six million people in the city of New York, and it is the largest center of population on the globe. It is growing faster than London at the rate of nearly two to one; London doubles its population every 30 years and New York every 18 years.

New York's cash balance demands a sum of more than thirty million dollars, and it is the wealthiest city in the world. In fact, its total assessed value is greater than all of the United States west of the Mississippi, and its income exceeds that of 20 states combined.

Every nineteenth American lives in New York city, and one tenth of all manufactured products is made there. There are twice as many theaters in New York, and three times as many hotels as are in London.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Home-Run Thrill.

A baseball fan writes to his favorite paper to protest against the undeserved honors heaped upon the "slugger." Why, he asks, should a home-run hitter be lionized above a fast runner, who uses both feet and brains, or a smart pitcher, who uses both brains and arms?

The answer is easy. The home run is the limit of accomplishment in batting. There is, there can be, nothing bigger. When it comes with the bases full it is catastrophic, and there is enough of the savage in all of us to delight in catastrophes that leave us untouched. In some this subconscious impulse shows itself in fomenting political revolution. Such people would like to see a universal smashup, the world turned inside out, just to see what it would be like afterward. In the baseball devotee the home-run with the bases full satisfies this craving. So far as that particular game is concerned, the home-run is the crack of doom.—New Bedford Standard.

Honors for War Birds.

In France many pigeons have been decorated for distinguished war services; one with the Legion d'Honneur. Diplomas with the citations were issued and kept at the headquarters of the French pigeon service, and because pigeons cannot wear medals on their breasts, special bands, with the colors of the decoration, were made for their legs. A bird which will go down in French history just as surely as Field Marshal Foch himself is the one which carried from Vaux to Verdun the last message for help sent by the Commandant Reynal before the Germans captured the fort. This pigeon flew through a hail of fire and a gas barrage, and, wounded and gassed, dropped dead as it delivered its message. It was awarded the Legion d'Honneur.

Find Old Indian Canoe.

An old Indian canoe, apparently hewn out of an immense log, was caught in the fishing net of William Otten, off Wright's wharf, between Seaside and the "Ferry" seine ground, about three miles below. The canoe is in a fair state of preservation. It was presumably used by the Nanticoke tribe, which inhabited this peninsula more than 100 years ago.—Baltimore American.

SEASIDE, Or., July 25.—(Special)—A record breaking crowd is expected here August 6 and 7, when the big celebration for the completion of the sea-wall and promenade will take place. A specially engaged forty piece band will furnish the music, and Miss

Leah Leaska (Leah Cohen), the celebrated soprano soloist of Portland and New York, will sing "My Own United States." There will be a very fine program given on Saturday evening in front of the Hotel Seaside, and immediately after there will be a banquet for the visiting mayors. Acceptances have already arrived from Mayor George Baker of Portland, Governor Ben Olcott, and President Julius Meier of the 1925 exposition.

In the evening there will be dancing and fireworks on the ocean front. The sea wall and promenade has been constructed at an expense to the city $200,000, and it is of solid concrete, electrically lighted. It is considered the finest piece of work of its kind in the United States.
