Jackson is the second county in the state in amount of funds expended by the state highway commission on the highways in 1919 and 1920, the amount being $1,400,000. By the end of 1921 it is estimated that this will be increased to $2,400,000 or about six per cent of the $41,500,000 the commission will have expended in Oregon by the end of 1922. The Pacific Highway thru this county of 55 miles, completed July 28, received most of the funds and is a credit to the commission, its employees and the county court.

FORGER AND JAIL BREAKER GIVEN 8 YEARS SENTENCE

Phillip Forester, the forger, who escaped from the county jail months ago by assaulting Bert Moses, the jailer, and was recaptured recently in Spokane or Seattle, where he was taking part in a burglary, was sentenced in a circuit court in Jacksonville by Judge F. M. Calkins to eight years in the Oregon penitentiary for his assault on Moses at the time of the escape. He pleaded guilty in court Friday to this indictment.

Forester must face two other indictments to which he has refused to enter a plea before he retains an attorney. It is not known just when he will be ready to enter his plea. One of these indictments is for uttering a forgery, the cause of his original arrest here, when he was captured after pursuit over the city by John B. Goodrich of the Toggery Bill store, surrendering when Goodrich pointed an unloaded old revolver at him. The other indictment charges him with assault on a jailer.

On account of Forester's known dangerous character, Sheriff Terrill is anxious to get him to the penitentiary as soon as possible, and is expected to take the prisoner to Salem sometime the first of this week. The sheriff will breathe easier when Forester is off his hands and safely behind the penitentiary doors. It may be that he will be kept in the county jail until the two pending indictments are disposed of, but this is hardly thought probable.

Forester has been kept in the strongest cell in the county jail ever since he was brought back from the north after his escape, under close guard. He served a term in the California penitentiary for forgery.
