JUNE EARNINGS STATE PRISONERS NEAR $7,000

SALEM, Or., August 1.—(Special)—Earnings in legitimate endeavor of 183 paroled men from the Oregon penitentiary, who were reporting during the month of June aggregate $6946.24, according to the report of Percy M. Varney, state parole officer, made to the state parole board. This was an average of $35.77 to the man. At the same time the average earnings of conditionally paroled men were $62.44 to the man. Since the passage of the state parole law in 1911, a total of 1493 prisoners have been paroled from the state prison, and 410 of them, or 27.46 per cent, have violated their paroles. Of this number 52.44 per cent violated by committing crime and 47.56 per cent by failure to report.

Crimes by Paroled Men

According to Mr. Varney, the crimes committed by paroled men, which have caused them to be returned to prison or to put them in the fugitive status, are usually of minor nature. Really serious crimes that have been committed by these men, he avers, could be counted on the fingers of one hand, and the offense committed by Luther Fagan, at Hood River recently, in kidnaping two women and a boy, resulting in the killing of Fagan by a posse, Varney says, is the most serious crime that has been committed by a paroled man. One or two rather sensational cases of forgery and obtaining money by false pretenses are mentioned. Records showing in detail the escapades of the parole violators are not available at the prison.
Up to six months ago, according to the parole officer, 80 per cent of the men on parole were making good. The percentage has been reduced to some extent in recent months because of the prevalence of misdemeanor and crime during the last winter.

Few Are Oregonians

The policy of the prison relative to keeping men in the state when they leave the penitentiary is changing for the reason that a very small percentage of them are Oregonians. The records show that some time back when the prison population was 324, only fifty-seven of the prisoners were Oregonians. Now, when a man is through with his term in the state prison, he is encouraged to leave the state.

In writing up the case of any man who is slated to go before the parole board for consideration, the parole officer is required to submit a statement from the judge who presided at the trial and whom the district attorney who prosecuted him; also a statement from the man himself.

When Paroles Are Violated

When a paroled man violates his parole by commission of a crime and is returned to the prison, he is required by law to serve out the maximum of his old sentence and the minimum of his new sentence before he is eligible again to go before the parole board.

In addition to the regular list of paroled men now reporting to Officer Varney, are 128 men who have been paroled from the bench. They also are required to report each month. The form of their report is slightly different from that of the men paroled out of prison. The latter must sign a statement showing among other things the conditions of their parole, their monthly earnings, and their occupations.

Mr. Varney now has on his list 112 men who have been released from reporting. Of the 1493 who have been paroled since the law became operative in 1911, 788 have been discharged. Twelve men were paroled during the month of June.

Western Washington and Oregon mills report lumber production for week ending July 16 at 49,952,574 feet, 35 per cent below normal. New business totalled 44,998,272 feet, shipments 46,592,081 feet, and export shipments 1,311,230 feet.

Mine production of gold, silver and copper in Oregon in 1920 totalled $1,541,051, as against $1,514,255 in 1919.

A man can get a heap more satisfaction from a small chew of this class of tobacco, than he ever could get from a big chew of the old kind.
He finds it costs less, too. The good tobacco taste lasts so much longer he doesn't need to have a fresh chew nearly as often.
Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

What's Your Time Worth?

WHEN you go to buy a pair of boots, a can of peas or a kitchen cabinet, do you know exactly what you want—or do you "shop around" and take pot luck?

You can save many an hour's time—and many a good hard dollar—by knowing beforehand what you want, where to get it, and approximately how much it will cost.

You can always know this much before you enter a store.

If it's clothing, you know how well it should wear and what the style should be. If it's a musical instrument, you know what to expect in tone and workmanship. If it's a carpet sweeper, you know what kind of service it should give.
