DENY PUNISHMENT AND PROTECTION TO "DEAD" BY LAW

CHICAGO, Ill., August 3.—A man legally executed, pronounced dead, and then revived by means of a pulmotor, could commit any crime known to law, and not be liable to prosecution and legal punishment.

The law couldn't recognize his existence. He might walk into the court room of the judge who sentenced him and kill the judge who pronounced his fate, and no hand could be laid on him.

On the other hand, he would have no protection under the law, no matter what offense might be committed against him.

This is one of the phases of the legal question that has been brought up since the attempts to resuscitate into life the bodies of Sam Cardinella and Nick Viana, murderers hung here recently. The law is taking no chances now, and bodies are being held several hours by the authorities after hanging an hour before they are turned over to the dead man's family.

Chicago jurists are divided over the status of a person who might be thus revived.

Judge Hugo Friend and Judge David Brothers take the stand outlined above.

Assistant State Attorney Lloyd Heth declared such a complication would free the man. "He could walk out of the morgue, and the law couldn't touch him. But he couldn't marry and couldn't vote. If he were beaten up by a citizen, the citizen couldn't be punished for anything more serious than cruelty to animals."

"There was an old theory that if the rope broke, the law was fulfilled and the man couldn't be hung again," said Judge Harry Fisher. "That idea is not according to modern law. Either he's dead or alive."

NEW STENCILED DRESS POPULAR ENGLISH STYLE

LONDON, August 3.—The stenciled dress has come to town for a long visit. So far there are only two stencilers, and they are besieged with orders.

Carlo Norway, a London artist, experimented for a long time with stenciled designs in oils and applied

The two combined, and in Norway's studio conceived the designs, cut them in thin brass and put them onto samples of dress material—everything from silk to velvet. All sorts of designs were tried—birds, animals, ordinary geometric designs.

Success came immediately. Wholesale buyers gave orders at sight. Two sample frocks submitted a few days ago have brought fifty "repeat" orders.

Stenciled frocks may be folded or washed without damage to the paint; the paint, in fact, penetrates the material better when washed and the greatest feature is the non-duplicatable designs can be furnished on request.

THE U. S. NOBBY TREAD

Where the going is specially heavy with snow, mud or sand, in hilly country where maximum traction on the road is a factor, no other tire tread yet devised is quite so effective, or so wholly approved by motoring opinion, as the U. S. Nobby Tread.

Its very simplicity—three rows of diagonal knobs, gripping the road—is the result of all the years of U. S. Rubber experience with every type of road the world over.

If every one listened to experience, how much they'd save

STOP and talk to the next man you see with U. S. Tires on his car. Ask him why.

Most likely you'll hear an interesting story about his tire experiments—before the answer was found. Money wasted. Promises unkept. Trouble on the road—humorous to every one except the man who went through it.

Finally U. S. Tires. And U. S. Tires ever since.

Perhaps it's the experience of U. S. Tire buyers that makes them more emphatic in their preference than ever this year.

When these men have tried most everything by the way of "staggering bargains," "hurrah discounts," "discontinued lines at less" and so forth they know what not to get.

They want a fresh, live tire. With a good reputation. That's everything it says it is. With the people behind it who back it up.

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Your local U. S. Dealer is drawing upon them continually to keep his stocks sized up, complete—to give you service. Whenever he gets one or a hundred tires from a U. S. Factory Branch, they are newly made this season's tires.

$34 to you at a net price. Full values. Square-dealing. A reputable maker. A reputable dealer. (The whole transaction as befits the leadership of the oldest and largest rubber organization in the world.)
