What Constitutes Advertising?
In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.

Justice, when equal scales she holds, is blind;
Nor cruelty nor mercy change her mind;
When some escape for that which others die,
Mercy to those, to these is cruelty.—Denham.

The Princess Fatima of Afghanistan is in this country to have her two sons educated. She wears a fortune of jewels, one large one being in her nose, and is telling officials just how the country ought to be run. People with rings in their noses are not as a rule calculated to know much about science of economics and government, but the fact that this dark brunette lady says all thieves, including profiteers, should be put to an ignominious death, or mutilation or boiling in oil, would indicate that she has a pretty clear idea as to what constitutes justice.—Exchange.

COMMON SENSE WILL PREVAIL.

The U. S. National bank, of Portland, has this common sense view in its business digest just issued: "We are now paying prosperity's debts. It was human nature to run up bills during good times, and we did it. Now we are paying our bills under pressure. We borrowed 50-cent dollars, so to speak—now we are repaying them with 85-cent dollars, and as prices continue to come down, it will be necessary to repay additional dollars, obtained in boom times, with dollars which will be twice as hard to earn. Of course it is hard, and the worst is not over. Though prices have fallen greatly, there is still further deflation to be accomplished. We are paying the penalty for violating economic laws, and all are guilty from the federal government down. Extravagance, perhaps justifiable under the necessity of winning the war, was the order of the day. For several years, figuratively speaking, we were borrowing ourselves rich. Now we suffer because we must pay back. "But our people are looking facts in the face. The country is not broke—it is merely bent. Common sense and hard work—honest work—thrift and economy will pull us out of the hole. It is time to take off our coats, go to work, take our medicine no matter how bitter, suffer our losses and benefit from our experience. There have been times before when financial conditions seemed almost hopeless, but always common sense has prevailed, and thus it will be again."

PUBLIC FORUM

PLAYGROUND COMMITTEE PARENT-TEACHER ASSOC. THANK DONOR OF BOND

By MRS. GORDON MacCRACKEN
The playground committee of the Parent-Teacher association wishes to thank the "friend of the kiddies" who sent them the $50 liberty bond. It was a beautiful thing to do and very encouraging to the group of women who have charge of this work. It is hoped that there may be others in our community whose hearts will prompt them to do likewise. The playground is one of the attractions of Ashland and should contain many more appliances than it does, for the children's pleasure. Besides the gift spoken of the park board has contributed this season, $50; the Parent-Teacher association, $25; the Ladies Auxiliary club, $15, and an Ashland mother, $10.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

OVER THE TOP
Misses Ethel Kelleher, Morelle Kelleher and Winnifred Spencer, students from the summer school, and Ed Spencer, taken along as dog, left Ashland at 6 a. m. on Sunday, headed for the Rim at Crater Lake. As soon as they were well clear of the city's streets, Winnifred Spencer took the wheel and held a true course for the entire trip. At Prospect where the first stop was made to view the wonders of the C. & O. plant, a look was had at Rogue River canyon and Mill Creek falls. A stop of about thirty minutes was made at entrance to the park to get our $2.50 o. k. stamp and have a look at the wonders of the gorge in front of the station.

At 2 p. m. the party arrived at The Rim, at the Lodge, and had their first look at the wonders. Four different views were had at once, there being four in the party. The girls, then, for a nominal fee, secured a tent house for the night, then drove a few hundred yards to a snow drift at the edge of the already large camp, and melted snow to make coffee and wash up, after which the lake was again given the "once over," and the descent made to the boat landing, where in spite of the late hour, the girls were soon able to secure the services of a guide and motor boat for a trip around the island. It will be useless to try to tell of the wonders seen, for those who have seen them will only smile at the weakness of description, and those who have not will think it is too highly colored. But go and see them for yourself. The roads are good, but dusty. Many cars go as far as Government camp two miles from the Rim before going into low. Miles of the road are sprinkled daily by government sprinkler trucks, and there are road camps putting macadam at quite a reasonable speed. Going out over the Crater Lake highway from Medford through Eagle Point is the best, though the road down Rogue river past Rogue Elk is well worth the trip, striking the pavement at Central Point and only a few minutes run to Medford and Ashland.

The camp at Prospect post office is not to be passed up. Mr. Grieve is a most genial host, and both the camp and hotel accommodations are first class. There are also pet deer and deer in a park, and at night singing and dancing if you like. Our party enjoyed a hunter's stew and a marshmallow roast and danced there. We also met Misses York, Davis and Estes on their hike to the lake. The party was some foot-sore but going strong. They were on the road at 6 a. m. Tuesday.

Stops along the road are all worth the extra effort. Natural Bridge, the Rogue River Gorge and the Garden of the Gods in particular. Our party reached Ashland at 2 p. m. Tuesday ready for a big feed of roasting ears and fixings at Mrs. A. Spencer's on Palm avenue. The only mishap on the trip was running out of gas coming up the hill from Bybee's Bridge, but were able to turn and coast back to the Table Rock store and gas. Gas can be had along the road, and at Anna Springs is only 50 cents per gallon. See it yourself, and then go again as we are soon. EDW. P. SPENCER.

Christian Jew to Speak Tonight at Pres. Church

Mr. Elias Zimmerman, the Christian Jew, who is to speak in this city tonight at 8 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, was talking recently about the attitude of the modern Jew towards the Christian church. "Most of the Jews in this country," he said, "come, as I come, from Russia. In that country it is considered an act of service to Christ to torture and kill the Jews. I can recall vividly many horrible scenes of Russian massacres of Jews. Jewish mothers have been cruelly butchered, their children torn from them, their homes pillaged. All these things were done, and even now are still being done, to Jews by those who call themselves Christians. The result is that the poor Jews actually believe that all Christians want to kill Jews. But, whenever the Jew realizes that this is not true of real Christians in America, it becomes at once easier to bring the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ to these Jews. There are literally thousands of Jewish conversions in these days, just because many Christians are now turning to the Jew with a message of love and sympathy." Mr. Zimmerman speaks at the Presbyterian church. Admission is entirely free, and the public is cordially urged to come. This is a rare opportunity to hear a Christian Jew tell of his own people.

STATE OF OREGON IS A HAVEN FOR 29,800 DEFECTIVES

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, August 4.—(Special.)—Five and eight-tenths per cent of the population of the state is responsible for practically all tax expenditures in maintaining all state, county and city institutions, homes, jails and other instruments for the administration of justice and order, according to a summary of the Oregon state survey of mental defects, delinquency and dependency conducted by Dr. Chester L. Carlisle of the United States public health service through the extension division of the University of Oregon. The summary was printed in the last number of the Extension Monitor.

A total of 65,422 individuals who were either potential or actual social liabilities was found by the survey. This represented approximately seven per cent of the population of the state. Many Petty Offenders Excluding one-half of the delinquents as unimportant petty offenders, and further excluding one-half of the dependents as being probably remedial cases, the total was cut down to about 45,000 persons, or 5.8 per cent of the general population. These 45,000 individuals are responsible for practically all expenditures of public funds for maintaining police, etc., stated the report.

A total of approximately 29,800 individuals in the state are actual delinquents and dependents at large in the commonwealth who have shown themselves by their subnormal, inefficient, non-constructive conduct to be actual social liabilities, the report went on to say. These people are a constant drain upon the public purse and are a constant menace to the orderly and successful progress of the state, it stated. It was recommended by the survey that as fast as these social types appear on public records an accurate mental, physical and economic diagnosis be made, and the case legally disposed of upon the basis of what the actual fundamental causes of the delinquency or dependency may be. Remedial Measures Proposed Segregation of the unfit, treatment of the sick, rehabilitation of the handicapped, and education and training for the neglected and ignorant were also advised. Special attention was given to dependency due to physical handicap. The blind and the deaf form a special group in all problems relating to dependency, said the summary. Scarlet fever was given as the first disease which is likely to cause dependency.

In 1921 there were 561 tuberculosis patients being cared for in the state, according to the report of the Oregon Anti-Tuberculosis association, to which Dr. Carlisle referred in discussing dependency and tuberculosis. Of these 216 were in institutions of some kind and 232 were 100 per cent dependent upon the funds of relatives, agencies, or of the public treasury. In 1919 there were 661 deaths, and in the first six months of 1920 there were 263 deaths from tuberculosis. Burglars Are Expensive In discussing other dependents, Dr. Carlisle wrote as follows: "These old soldiers, all of whom have in previous years formed a part of the great bulwark for national defense, may rightly claim the consideration of the state for their past sacrifices. But, is it not a pertinent commentary on our social system that the state today is expending more per capita for the maintenance of burglars than it is for its own soldiers? To be exact, each burglar is costing the taxpayers $1.3 per year more than the old soldier."

FARM BUREAU MANAGER RESIGNS; R. W. ELDEN IN TEMPORARY CHARGE The board of directors of the Jackson county Farm Bureau exchange met last Saturday to consider changes in management rendered necessary by the resignation on the preceding Wednesday of Roland Flaherty, who has been manager of the concern from its beginning. Pending securing a permanent manager in Mr. Flaherty's place, the board has induced Ralph Waldo Elden to investigate the condition of the business with a view to suggesting desirable changes in policy and also to act as temporary manager. We quote Mr. Elden as follows: "You are correct in stating that I have been asked to investigate the affairs of the Farm Bureau exchange and assist the board if possible in modifying the business policies of the concern for its benefit. I shall report to the board on such matters as in my opinion need attention very shortly. "On account of my residence in the county and my duties in connection with my home and ranch, I am not at this time a candidate for the permanent management of the exchange." Mr. Flaherty is said to be spending his vacation at Dead Indian springs.
