Young Men and Women Who Seek Success Should Read this Letter. Behnke-Walker Typewriter Company. June 30, 1921. Dear Mr. Walker: This letter confirms my telegram of Tuesday in which I advised you that Miss Marian Rhoades and Miss Anabelle Wells had qualified in the accountancy contest held in our Portland Office on June 16. Mr. Mattice's report does not tell us whether Miss Rhoades and Miss Wells are at the present time students in your school. Please advise us on this point. In any event, your school can not claim the most successful showing of having made the best test of any school in the United States. Four of your students, all graduates, have now been winners. It is needless for me to tell you, Mr. Walker, how proud we are of this record. We congratulate you, Mr. Floss and each of these winners. When our accountancy map is revised showing four Behnke-Walker faces in Oregon it is going to look mighty good to us, and, we know, it is going to look even better to you. Will you please be good enough to have Miss Rhoades and Miss Wells send me a brief biography of their training and experience, if any; also photographs which may be used in revising our map? With very best wishes and anticipating a line from you at an early date, I am Very truly yours, Harry C. Spillman, School Department.

Why Behnke-Walker makes the best showing of any Business College in the United States. BECAUSE IT HAS developed one of the finest teaching staffs in the country, and has built up PROVED methods of instruction that make for high-grade, efficient graduates.
